Re: Referral of Rules Issues

Dear Chip:

The Supreme Court requests the Advisory Committee to study and make recommendations on the following matters.

New Rule on Lawyer Access to Juror Social Media Activity. The attached article by David J. Beck and Jacqueline M. Furlow calls for the promulgation of a rule addressing whether and under what circumstances a lawyer may view or request access to a juror's social media activity. Please draft a rule for the Court's consideration.

Guidelines for Social Media Use by Judges. Please draft amendments to the Code of Judicial Conduct that give guidance on permissible social media use by judges.

Proposed Amendments to the Code of Judicial Conduct and Policies on Assistance to Court Patrons by Court and Library Staff. The Texas Access to Justice Commission has submitted to the Court (1) an amendment to Canon 3(B)(8) of the Code of Judicial Conduct that authorizes a judge to make reasonable accommodations to afford litigants the right to be heard; (2) a policy on assistance to court patrons by clerks and their staff; and (3) a policy on assistance to court patrons by court staff, law librarians, and court volunteers. The proposed amendments and policies are attached to this letter.

Proposed Amendments to the Protective Order Kit Forms. In 2003, the Court established the Protective Order Task Force to draft forms for obtaining a protective order from family violence. The Court approved the protective order kit in 2005 and amendments to the kit in 2012. The Protective Order Task Force has submitted proposed amendments to the kit that reflect statutory changes made by the 83rd and 84th Texas Legislatures. The proposal is attached to this letter.

Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 145. Since the 2016 amendments to Rule 145, commenters have raised the following questions: (1) Should the rule prohibit a litigant who is represented by counsel under a contingency-fee agreement from filing a Statement of Inability to Afford Payment of Court Costs? (2) Should the rule be amended to more clearly address a trial court's authority to hold a hearing and to issue an order on a declarant's ability to afford court costs after the judgment has been signed? (3) Should the rule mandate that an order requiring the declarant to pay costs state the deadline for seeking review of the decision in the court of appeals? Please draft appropriate amendments for the Court's consideration and make other suggestions to clarify and improve the rule and the form Statement.

As always, the Court is grateful for the Committee's counsel and your leadership.

Sincerely,

Nathan L. Hecht Chief Justice

Re: Texas Supreme Court Advisory Committee

Dear Chip:

As a follow up to our recent conversation, attached is a copy of an article published in the State Bar Litigation Section's publication, The Advocate, entitled "The Ethical Boundaries of Reviewing Jurors' Internet Presence: The Need for a Rule in Texas." There is an issue whether the ethical boundaries of a Texas attorney's obligation should be set forth by a new Texas disciplinary rule, or new rule of civil procedure. I submit this to the Advisory Committee for its consideration.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely

David J. Beck

THE ETHICAL BOUNDARIES OF REVIEWING JURORS' INTERNET PRESENCE: THE NEED FOR A RULE IN TEXAS

DAVID J. BECK & JACQUELINE M. FURLOW

HE PERCENTAGE OF THE POPULATION UTILIZING electronic social media ("ESM")¹ is significant and continues to grow.² As a result of this significant growth, lawyers now have "a digital treasure trove of information right at their fingertips," for nearly instantaneous research on prospective jurors.³ This fact makes increasingly relevant the question of whether trial lawyers may ethically investigate and monitor juror Internet activity, and if so, to what extent.

ESM poses an ethical concern for lawyers because it can be a form of direct communication, and lawyers are ethically prohibited from conducting ex parte communications with jurors or potential jurors, unless authorized by law or court order.⁴ This prohibition also extends to anyone acting on a lawyer's behalf.⁵ About two years ago, these ethical concerns spawned a question to the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Ethics and Professional Responsibility (the "ABA Committee"): "whether a lawyer who represents a client in a matter that will be tried to a jury may review the jurors' or potential jurors' presence on the Internet leading up to and during trial, and, if so, what ethical obligations the lawyer might have regarding information discovered during the review."⁶

The ABA Opinion

On April 24, 2014, the ABA Committee issued Formal Opinion 466, which concludes that review of a juror's public Internet activity is permissible, but requesting access to review a juror's nonpublic information is not. In so concluding, ABA Opinion 466 seeks to strike a balance between the "strong public interest in identifying jurors who might be tainted by improper bias or prejudice" and the "equally strong public policy in preventing jurors from being approached ex parte by the parties to the case or their agents." The Opinion specifically addresses "three levels of lawyer review of juror Internet presence":

- Passive lawyer review of a juror's website or ESM that is available without making an access request where the juror is unaware that a website or ESM has been reviewed;
- 2. Active lawyer review where the lawyer requests access to the juror's ESM; and
- Passive lawyer review where the juror becomes aware through a website or ESM feature of the identity of the viewer.⁹

The question of whether a particular review of juror Internet activity is permissible depends on whether the "review" constitutes or becomes a prohibited ex parte communication. This determination is influenced by the fact that ESM sites typically provide for varying degrees of privacy settings. Privacy settings "allow the ESM subscriber to establish different degrees of protection for different categories of information, each of which can require specific permission to access." In turn, many ESM sites require a person seeking access to a user's information to request permission to view private, nonpublic information, by becoming, for instance, a Facebook "friend" or Twitter "follower."

Additionally, there is a risk that even if a lawyer searches for a juror's public information, that search will cause a network-generated message to be sent to the juror informing the juror that his or her profile has been viewed. For example, members of LinkedIn searched by fellow members of LinkedIn can see that their profile has been viewed. Depending on the privacy settings of the searching member and the searched member, the notification might state the name of the member running the search, or it might state that the searching member wishes to be "anonymous." Similarly, certain web analytics software can allow website or blog creators to track information about who has visited their sites or blogs. These features could create a risk that a lawyer inadvertently "communicates" with a juror simply by searching for a juror's public information.

The ABA Committee suggested that judges consider issuing local rules, standing orders, or case management orders to define appropriate limits on review of juror ESM, depending on factors such as the likelihood that jurors or potential jurors would receive notifications that their

ESM is being viewed.

ABA Opinion 466 draws the line at requesting access to nonpublic information. The Opinion provides that (1) passive review ("without making an access request") of which the juror is not aware does not violate Model Rule 3.5; (2) active review (by making an access request) amounts to an ex parte communication prohibited by Model Rule 3.5; and (3) passive review through which a juror becomes aware of the review by "ESM-generated notice" is not a "communication" from lawyer to juror and thus does not violate Model Rule 3.5.14

The ABA Committee summarized its conclusions as follows:

Unless limited by law or court order, a lawyer may review a juror's or potential juror's Internet presence, which may include postings by the juror or potential juror in advance of and during a trial, but a lawyer may not communicate directly or through another with a juror or potential juror. A lawyer may not, either personally or through another, send an access request to a juror's electronic social media. An access request is a communication to a juror asking the juror for information that the juror has not made public and that would be the type of ex parte communication prohibited by Model Rule 3.5(b).¹⁵

Suggestions for Trial Judges and Lawyers

The ABA Committee also offered guidance to trial judges and lawyers on the procedure for reviewing juror Internet activity. Regarding management of juror expectations, the Committee suggested that judges discuss the "likely practice of trial lawyers reviewing juror ESM during the jury orientation process" to "dispel juror misperception" of impropriety, especially when jurors might receive electronic notifications from ESM networks that lawyers have passively reviewed jurors' public Internet activity. In the same vein, the ABA Committee suggested that judges consider issuing local rules, standing orders, or case management orders to define appropriate limits on review of juror ESM, depending on factors such as the likelihood that jurors or potential jurors would receive notifications that their ESM is being viewed. In

The ABA Committee's advice to lawyers was twofold. First, the ABA Committee recommended that lawyers "be aware of...automatic, subscriber-notification features." The ABA Committee emphasized that by reading the terms and conditions associated with such networks, lawyers could better ensure that they are complying with Model Rule 1.1's requirement that lawyers stay up to date on benefits and risks associated with using technology. 19 The ABA Committee cautioned that "[b]y accepting the terms of use, the subscribernotification feature is not secret," and "[w]hile many people simply click their agreement to the terms and conditions for use of an ESM network, a lawyer who uses an ESM network in his practice should review the terms and conditions, including privacy features - which change frequently - prior to using such a network."20 The ABA Committee's second suggestion was that lawyers reviewing juror Internet activity "ensure that their review is purposeful and not crasted to embarrass, delay, or burden the juror or the proceeding" in violation of Model Rule 4.4(a).

The Need for a Rule in Texas

Notably, Texas has not yet squarely addressed these issues. It is time to do so. As the ABA Committee acknowledged in Formal Opinion 466: "[J] urisdictions differ on issues that arise when a lawyer uses social medial in his practice."²¹

A few state bar associations, including West Virginia, Colorado and Oregon have followed and, in the case of the Oregon State Bar, expanded upon, Formal Opinion 466. In September 2015, the Lawyer Disciplinary Board of West Virginia issued new guidelines for lawyers' use of social media. The opinion concluded, in relevant part, that lawyers may review public sections of a juror's social networking websites, but "are prohibited from attempting to access the private sections of a juror's social media page, as doing so would violate Rule 3.5 of the Rules of Professional Conduct."²² The Lawyer Disciplinary Board also concluded that lawyers may not utilize third parties to contact jurors through social media or social networking websites to gain access to private information, as doing so would constitute an ex parte communication in violation of Rule 3.5.²³

The Colorado Bar Association Ethics Committee also issued an opinion in September 2015, which similarly concluded that lawyers may "always view the public portion of a person's social media profile and any public posts made by a person through social media," but may not "request permission to view a restricted portion of a social media profile or website of a prospective or sitting juror."²⁴ The opinion also reiterated that "[a] lawyer must never use any form of deception to gain access to a restricted portion of a social media profile or website."²⁵

The Oregon State Bar has gone a step further than West Virginia and Colorado. In Formal Opinion 2013-189, the Oregon State Bar concluded that a lawyer may affirmatively request access to private information on a juror's or prospective juror's social media websites as long as the lawyer accurately represents his or her role in a case if and when asked by the juror.²⁶

In addition, the U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho has instituted a comprehensive local rule regarding investigation of juror social media. District Local Rule 47.2 provides:

- (a) Attorneys may use websites available to the public, including social media websites, for juror or prospective juror research, so long as:
- (1) The website or information is available and accessible to the public;
- (2) The attorney does not send an access request to a juror's electronic social media;
- (3) No direct communication or contact occurs between the attorney and a juror or prospective juror as a result of the research, including, but not limited to Facebook "friend" requests, Twitter or Instagram "follow" requests, LinkedIn "connection" requests, or other forms of internet and social media contact;
- (4) Social media research is done anonymously. For example, a search on a social media site must not disclose to the juror who is making the inquiry, and it must only seek information available and accessible to the public and not the result of an attorney's account on said social media site; and
- (5) Deception is not used to gain access to any website or to obtain any information.
- (b) Third parties working for the benefit of or on behalf of any attorney must comply with all the same restrictions as set forth above for attorneys.
- (c) If an attorney becomes aware of a juror's or prospective juror's conduct that is criminal or fraudulent, IRPC 3.3(b) requires the attorney to take remedial measures including, if necessary, reporting the matter to the court.

(d) If an attorney becomes aware of a juror's posting on the internet about the case in which she or he is serving, the attorney shall report the posting to the court.²⁷

Notes to Rule 47.2 from the Advisory Committee on the Idaho District Court Local Rules require that jurors be advised during orientation that their backgrounds will be of interest and lawyers may investigate their backgrounds on internet and social media websites, and that if there is no method of conducting internet research that will prevent a juror or prospective juror from discovering the identity of the person doing the research, then the research may not be done because it would constitute an improper communication. ²⁸ The Advisory Committee notes also emphasize that lawyers must maintain their familiarity with internet tools they use to run searches, and the impact of using those tools. ²⁹

Unlike West Virginia, Colorado, Oregon and Idaho, a few New York bar associations have taken a position contrary to that of the ABA on the issue of network-generated notices. While ABA Opinion 466 concluded that network-generated notices informing jurors that their ESM has been viewed by a lawyer do not constitute prohibited ex parte communications between lawyer and juror, New York ethics opinions have contrastingly concluded that under certain circumstances they do.30 In ABA Opinion 466, the ABA Committee considered two prior New York ethics opinions. The first opinion, Formal Opinion 2012-2 from the Association of the Bar of the City of New York Committee on Professional Ethics ("ABCNY"), concluded that a network-generated notice constituted a "communication" with the juror when the lawyer knew the notification would be sent.31 The ABCNY did not opine on whether an inadvertent communication would violate the ethical rules. The second opinion, Formal Opinion 743 from the New York County Lawyers' Association Committee on Professional Ethics, agreed with the ABCNY and further opined that if a juror became aware of a lawyer's efforts to review the juror's Internet activity through ESM, "the contact may well consist of an impermissible communication, as it might tend to influence the juror's conduct with respect to the trial."32 Disagreeing with the two New York opinions, the ABA Committee instead concluded that it is the ESM service that is "communicating" with the juror, not the lawyer, and the communication does not constitute an improper ex parte communication between lawyer and juror.33

Since publication of ABA Opinion 466, the New York State Bar has reiterated the position of its fellow New York bar associations. In June of 2015, the New York State Bar Association ("NYSBA") published its "Social Media Ethics Guidelines," in which the NYSBA concluded that "a lawyer in New York when reviewing social media to perform juror research needs to perform such research in a way that does not leave any 'footprint' or notify the juror that the lawyer or her agent has been viewing the juror's social media profile."³⁴ In so concluding, the NYSBA noted that "[t]he American Bar Association's view has been criticized on the basis of the possible impact such communication might have on a juror's state of mind…"³⁵

In addition to certain New York bar associations, a few courts, including the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, have preemptively prohibited juror internet research before trial. In the high-profile copyright case of Oracle Am., Inc. v. Google, Inc., Judge William Alsup urged, and the parties ultimately consented to, a complete ban against Internet research on the venire persons and the empaneled jury until trial was over. ³⁶ Emphasizing that the area of researching jurors' social media presents "an emerging and developing concern," Judge Alsup identified three reasons why researching jurors was problematic. First, if jurors learned that they had been searched while being prohibited from conducting research themselves, it would decrease the likelihood that the jurors would heed the court's admonition and continue to refrain from doing their own Internet research.³⁷ Second, permitting such research would facilitate the lawyers appealing improperly to particular jurors in their arguments and witness examinations.³⁸ And third, permitting such research risked violating the privacy of the venire persons.³⁹

Importantly, Judge Alsup acknowledged that Formal Opinion 466 sanctioned "passive" Internet searches on prospective jurors, but concluded that, despite the ABA's opinion, the fact "[t]hat such searches are not unethical does not translate into an inalienable right to conduct them." In reaching this conclusion, the court emphasized that while the ABA determined that certain activities are "permitted without violating a professional duty," the ABA also "cautioned that judges may limit the scope of the searches that counsel could perform regarding the juror's social media '[i]f a judge believes it to be necessary, under the circumstances of a particular matter...". "1 Judge Alsup ultimately decided that the circumstances of the Oracle case warranted a complete ban on Internet research of prospective and empaneled jurors. The divergence in opinion regarding Formal Opinion 466 leaves lawyers with muddled guidance in this rapidly developing area. At the very least, this inconsistency among different jurisdictions' ethics opinions, underscores the need for a Texas rule on these issues.

The desirability of a Texas-specific rule is particularly warranted in light of the fact that Rule 3.06 of the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct, which addresses ex parte communications with jurors, differs in some respects from the Model Rules. Rule 3.06 prohibits a lawyer from (1) conducting harassing investigations of veniremen; (2) seeking to influence veniremen by means prohibited by law or applicable rules; (3) communicating or causing another to communicate ex parte with veniremen or jurors; or (4) asking jurors post-trial questions that are merely calculated to harass or influence future service.⁴⁴

The comments to Rule 3.06 emphasize that the purpose of the rule is to safeguard impartiality of the judicial process by protecting veniremen and jurors from "extraneous influences.³⁴⁵ Moreover, Rule 3.06(e) and (f) extend the Rules, protections to family members of jurors. The Model Rules, at least on their face, do not. Rule 3.06(e) and (f) constitute the most significant difference between the Texas Rules and the Model Rules, and could justify a rule scheme different than that of the Model Rules.

Conclusion

ABA Formal Opinion 466 has elicited mixed reactions from state and local bar associations and courts across the country. Given this divergence in opinion regarding Formal Opinion 466, and the differences between the Texas Rules and Model Rules, a new Texas rule or a formal ethics opinion on this issue would be helpful for Texas trial lawyers.

For Texas practitioners, Formal Opinion 466 presently provides some helpful ethical guidance. However, until Texas promulgates a rule or formal opinion on the matter, practitioners should exercise caution in reviewing juror Internet activity. In the meantime, trial judges should facilitate transparency by communicating their expectations to the lawyers, advise jurors during orientation of the potential for their ESM to be reviewed by lawyers, and actively monitor and regulate lawyer review of juror ESM through local rules, standing orders, or case management orders.

Goldsmith rejected defendants' argument that they needed jurors' information to monitor the jurors' social media accounts during trial to ensure compliance with the court's instruction not to discuss the case. Judge Alsup noted Judge Goldsmith's reasoning that banning monitoring was important to both protecting the jury from intimidation in the context of a criminal case and avoiding the likely effect of "unnecessarily chill[ing] the willingness of jurors summoned from [the] community to serve as participants in our democratic system of justice." Id. at 12 (citing Norwood, 2014 WL 1796644, at *4) (internal citations omitted).

Jurisdictions also have issued inconsistent opinions regarding the proper scope of review of an unrepresented non-party's ESM. Compare Phila. Bar Ass'n Prof'l Guidance Comm. Op. 2009-02 (opining that, in the context of a lawyer inquiring whether the lawyer could ask a third person to "friend" an unrepresented non-party witness, such a request would be deceptive and impermissible) with Ass'n of the Bar of the City of N.Y. Comm. on Prof'l Ethics, Formal Op. 2010-2 (opining that, in the context of a lawyer's agent sending a "friend" request to unrepresented non-party without revealing affiliation with a lawyer, a lawyer or his or her agent could permissibly send a request, as long as the lawyer or agent identified him or herself by his or her real name and profile). On the other hand, the opinions on lawyers' review of an opposing party's ESM have more consistently limited such review to public information only, similar to the ABA Committee's Formal Opinion 466. See e.g., N.Y. State Bar Ass'n Comm. on Prof'l Ethics Op. 843 (2010).

Proposed Amendment to Canon 3.B(8) of the Texas Code of Judicial Conduct August 15, 2016

Background

People representing themselves in court has become commonplace. Recent data from the Office of Court Administration indicates that number of pro se filers is growing in comparison to overall filings. In the past five years from FY 2011 through FY 2015, the total number of family law filings decreased by 14.3% but the number of pro se litigant family law case filings increased by 27.4%. During the same time frame, the total number of probate filings was up by 1.7%, yet the number of pro se probate filings increased by almost 12%. The percentage of pro se filings is also significant. Today, at least one in five family law cases is filed by a person representing themselves.

The influx of self-represented litigants places an increasing burden on courts that are set up to interface with lawyers rather than pro se litigants. Judges are often unclear on how much, if any, guidance they can provide to self-represented litigants, which leads to a disparity from court to court about how self-represented litigants are treated when interacting with the judicial system.

Methodology

We sought guidance from the Conference of Chief Judges, which passed a resolution¹ in 2012 to give judges additional guidance regarding their role in cases involving self-represented litigants. The Resolution recommends amending the ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct Rule 2.2 to expressly allow a judge to make reasonable efforts to facilitate the ability of self-representing litigants to be fairly heard. It also suggests modifying the rule's comments to outline specific actions that judges can take to exercise their discretion in cases involving self-represented litigants.

We also reviewed case law and other states judicial codes regarding specific actions a judge may or may not take when interacting with a self-represented litigant.

Recommendation

The Texas Access to Justice Commission recommends that the Canon 3.B(8)² of the Texas Code of Judicial Conduct be amended to expressly state that judges may make reasonable accommodations to afford all litigants, including self-represented litigants, the right to be heard. We also propose adding a clarifying comment to Canon 3.B(8) with 12 specific examples of appropriate actions a judge may take directly or through court personnel who are subject to the judge's discretion and control.

¹ Resolution 2 "In Support of Expanding Rule 2.2 of the ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct to Reference Cases Involving Self-Represented Litigants"

² The Texas Code of Judicial Conduct is not parallel with the Model Code, but Canon 3.B(8) is the closest equivalent.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CODE OF JUDICIAL CONDUCT

Current Canon 3.B(8)

- (8) A judge shall accord to every person who has a legal interest in a proceeding, or that person's lawyer, the right to be heard according to law. A judge shall not initiate, permit, or consider ex parte communications or other communications made to the judge outside the presence of the parties between the judge and a party, an attorney, a guardian or attorney ad litem, an alternative dispute resolution neutral, or any other court appointee concerning the merits of a pending or impending judicial proceeding. A judge shall require compliance with this subsection by court personnel subject to the judge's direction and control. This subsection does not prohibit:
 - (a) communications concerning uncontested administrative or uncontested procedural matters;
 - (b) conferring separately with the parties and/or their lawyers in an effort to mediate or settle matters, provided, however, that the judge shall first give notice to all parties and not thereafter hear any contested matters between the parties except with the consent of all parties;
 - (c) obtaining the advice of a disinterested expert on the law applicable to a proceeding before the judge if the judge gives notice to the parties of the person consulted and the substance of the advice, and affords the parties reasonable opportunity to respond;
 - (d) consulting with other judges or with court personnel;
 - (e) considering an ex parte communication expressly authorized by law.

Proposed Amendments to Canon 3.B(8)

- (8) A judge shall accord to every person who has a legal interest in a proceeding, or that person's lawyer, the right to be heard according to law and may make reasonable accommodations to afford litigants, including self-represented litigants, that right. A judge shall not initiate, permit, or consider ex parte communications or other communications made to the judge outside the presence of the parties between the judge and a party, an attorney, a guardian or attorney ad litem, an alternative dispute resolution neutral, or any other court appointee concerning the merits of a pending or impending judicial proceeding. A judge shall require compliance with this subsection by court personnel subject to the judge's direction and control. This subsection does not prohibit:
 - (a) communications concerning uncontested administrative or uncontested procedural matters;

FINAL DRAFT: MAY 2, 2016

- (b) conferring separately with the parties and/or their lawyers in an effort to mediate or settle matters, provided, however, that the judge shall first give notice to all parties and not thereafter hear any contested matters between the parties except with the consent of all parties;
- (c) obtaining the advice of a disinterested expert on the law applicable to a proceeding before the judge if the judge gives notice to the parties of the person consulted and the substance of the advice, and affords the parties reasonable opportunity to respond;
- (d) consulting with other judges or with court personnel;
- (e) considering an ex parte communication expressly authorized by law.

COMMENT

When pro se litigants appear in court, they should comply with the rules and orders of the court and should be held to the same standards as litigants with counsel. See Wheeler v. Green, 157 S.W.3d 439, 444 (Tex. 2005). It is not a violation of a judge's duty to remain impartial for a judge to make reasonable accommodations to ensure all litigants the opportunity to have their matters fairly heard. By way of illustration, a judge may (either directly or through court personnel subject to the judge's discretion and control): (1) construe pleadings to facilitate consideration of the issues raised; (2) provide information about the proceeding and evidentiary and foundational requirements; (3) attempt to make legal concepts understandable; (4) ask neutral questions to elicit or clarify information; (5) modify the traditional manner of taking evidence; (6) permit narrative testimony; (7) allow litigants to adopt their pleadings as their sworn testimony; (8) refrain from using legal jargon by explaining legal concepts in everyday language; (9) explain the basis for a ruling; (10) make referrals to any resources, such as legal services or interpretation and translation services, available to assist the litigant in the preparation of the case; (11) invite or appoint an amicus curiae to present a particular issue; 11 and/or (12) inform litigants what will be happening next in the case and what is expected of them. 12

A Proposed Texas Supreme Court Policy on Assistance to Court Patrons by Clerks And A Proposed Texas Supreme Court Policy on Assistance to Court Patrons by Court Personnel September 7, 2016

Background

People representing themselves in court has become commonplace. Recent data from the Office of Court Administration indicates that number of pro se filers is growing in comparison to overall filings. In the past five years from FY 2011 through FY 2015, the total number of family law filings decreased by 14.3% but the number of pro se litigant family law case filings increased by 27.4%. During the same time frame, the total number of probate filings was up by 1.7%, yet the number of pro se probate filings increased by almost 12%. The percentage of pro se filings is also significant. Today, at least one in five family law cases is filed by a person representing themselves.

The influx of self-represented litigants puts an increasing burden on courts that are set up to interface with lawyers rather than pro se litigants. Clerks and court staff are usually the first people any court patron encounters when they go to the courthouse. While clerks and staff should and must not engage in the unauthorized practice of law, they may provide basic legal information to any court patron, including self-represented litigants. Not surprisingly, clerks and staff are unclear on what type of information or assistance they can provide. They often err on the side of giving no information at all, which creates frustrations for all involved and ultimately ends up causing the courts to operate inefficiently.

Methodology

The Texas Access to Justice Commission reviewed policies governing interaction between court patrons and court staff that exist in state Codes of Ethics promulgated by judicial councils (California), by circuit court administrative order (Florida), for municipal court clerks (Georgia), through proposed Supreme Court rule amendments (Wisconsin), in model codes of conduct for court/judicial employees (Michigan, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio), and in Codes of Judicial Conduct (Illinois, Maine).

The Illinois Supreme Court Policy on Assistance to Court Patrons by Circuit Clerks, Court Staff, Law Librarians, and Court Volunteers served as the template for our proposed policies. We maintained many of the permitted and prohibited services but augmented it with more precise definitions and eliminated redundancies.

Recommendation

Because no single entity has control over court staff, the Commission drafted two identical policies to give guidance on assisting court patrons. One policy is exclusively directed at district and county clerks and personnel subject to their direction and control. The other gives guidance to court personnel subject to a judge or judicial administrator's direction and control, such as court staff, bailiffs, law librarians and staff, and court volunteers. We recommend that the proposed Texas Supreme Court Policies on Assistance to Court Patrons be adopted to provide much needed clarity in these interactions.

PROPOSED TEXAS SUPREME COURT POLICY ON ASSISTANCE TO COURT PATRONS BY DISTRICT AND COUNTY CLERKS AND THEIR STAFF

(a) Purpose and Scope.

The purpose of this policy is to provide guidance to district and county clerks and personnel subject to their direction and control as to what services may and may not be offered to assist court patrons to achieve fair and efficient resolution of their cases.

- (8) Informing court patrons if no approved form exists to accomplish the request and directing the court patron to other legal resources;
- (9) Recording on forms verbatim information provided by the self-represented litigant if that person is unable to complete the forms due to language, disability or literacy barriers;

- (7) Tell a court patron anything he or she would not repeat in the presence of any other party involved in the case;
- (8) Refer a court patron to a specific lawyer or law firm, except for as provided by section (c)(2); or
- (9) Otherwise engage in the unauthorized practice of law.
- (e) Unauthorized Practice of Law and Privilege. Services provided in accordance with section (c) of this policy do not constitute the unauthorized practice of law and do not create an attorney-client relationship. Re: Report to the Supreme Court of Texas, Protective Order Kit

Dear Justices of the Supreme Court of Texas:

Due to legislative changes made during the 83rd and 84th Texas Legislature, the Supreme Court Protective Order Task Force updated the instructions and pleadings in the Protective Order Kit to comport with current law.

Members of the Task Force include: Co-Chair Stewart W. Gagnon (Houston); Co-Chair Jeana A. Lungwitz (Austin); Rhonda Gerson (Houston); Tracey Grinstead-Everly (Austin); Sue McCoy Hall (San Antonio); Marilea Whatley Lewis (Dallas); Erin Davis Martinson (Austin); Amy Wright (Austin).

Enclose please find a summary of the revisions made and the final revised Protective Order Kit. All changes are highlighted in yellow for ease of review. Unless otherwise indicated, all relevant changes are reflected in both the "sample" forms and forms intended for submission to the court.

The Task Force will distribute the Kit in electronic format via TexasLawHelp and links on other websites to TexasLawHelp to minimize cost and maximize statewide availability. Additionally, the Task Force hopes that these forms will be developed as fillable forms with the Tyler Technology's Guide and File website.

On behalf of the Task Force, I wish to thank the Court for its continued support of this project.

Jealleste

Sincerely,

Patricia E. McAllister Executive Director

Summary of Changes to Protective Order Kit

Revisions in response to the 83rd Legislative Changes

1) Tx. Fam. Code §82.003(3):

§82.003(3) now allows an additional venue for filing a protective order application. In addition to filing in the county where the applicant or respondent resides under §82.003(1) & (2), or in the county where a divorce or SAPCR is pending under §85.062(a)(1), the applicant may file in the county where the violence occurred.

This information has been added to the "Where do I file the forms?" portion on the page 1 of the instructions. A new item 2 on both the "Affidavit" and "Declaration" forms has been added to read: "In which county did this happen?"

2) Tx. Fam. Code §82.004(5)

§82.004(5) adds to the list of things that must be in an application for a Protective Order. The applicant must now state whether they are receiving services from a Title IV-D agency, and, if known, the agency case number.

This question was added under item 4 of the "Application for Protective Order".

3) Tx. Fam. Code §85.021(1)(C) and §85.022(b)(7)

Additions to §85.021 and §85.022 expand the definition of "possession" to mean actual or constructive care of an animal. Under §85.021(1)(C), in a protective order, a court may prohibit any party from "removing a pet, companion animal, or assistance animal... from the possession or actual or constructive care of a person named in the order."

Under §85.022(b)(7), in a protective order, the court may prohibit the person found to have committed family violence from "harming, threatening, or interfering with the care, custody, or control of a pet, companion animal, or assistance animal, ... that is possessed by or is in the actual or constructive care of a person protected by an order or by a member of the family or household of a person protected by an order."

These statutory changes are reflected in item 6(k) of the "Application of Protective Order," item 3(l) of the "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order," and item 4(i) of the "Protective Order."

4) Tx. Fam. Code §§85.042 (a)(3) and (a-1)

§§85.042(a)(3) and (a-1) extends the list of people to whom a court clerk must deliver the Protective Order. §85.042 (a)(3) to the Title IV-D agency, if applicable, and a staff judge advocate or provost marshal, if applicable.

These new requirements are reflected in item 13 of the "Protective Order."

Other: The Task Force made minor changes to page four of the kit which provides contact information for important resources.

Revisions in response to the 84th Legislative Changes

1) Tx. Fam. Code §81.0015

§81.0015 adds a presumption that family violence occurred and is likely to occur again if certain conditions are true. A presumption now exists, if a respondent has been convicted or received deferred adjudication for particular offenses under Title 5 and 6 of the Penal Code and also meets other criteria under the statute.

This new presumption is reflected in the "Application of Protective Order" under new item "4b." Additionally, an instruction bubble is included on the sample "Application for Protective Order" explaining that a judge will assume family violence has occurred if any box is checked. The change is also seen in the "Findings" section of the "Final Protective Order" under "Statutory Grounds for the Protective Order have been established." A list of the relevant offenses under Title 5 and 6 of the Penal Code is included on the last page of the Protective Order Kit.

2) Tx. Fam. Code §81.011

§81.011 now allows an applicant to use a digitized signatures to sign the application for a protective order.

The ability to use a digitized signature is explained in an instruction bubble on page 4 of the sample "Application."

3) Tx. Fam. Code §85.025(c)(1)-(2)

§85.025 extends the expiration date of a protective order if the person who is the subject of the protective order is confined or imprisoned and the protective order would expire not later than the first anniversary of the date the person is released. The statute sets out the expiration date for a protective order in such cases.

A clause explaining the expiration standards in such cases is included on page 6 under item 14 of the "Final Protective Order."

Other:

a. The Task Force receive feedback from a county clerk about some potential problems with an applicant's contact information remaining confidential. There was a concern that if an applicant marks the "keep information confidential" box on page 4 of the "Application for a Protective Order," they will not realize the confidentiality only pertains to the "Final Protective Order." An applicant's information provided on the "Application for a Protective Order and the "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order" will not be kept confidential

The Task Force added warning language above the item 12 on page 4 of the "Application for a Protective Order" to address this issue.

b. Minor grammatical and spelling errors were corrected throughout the document.

Protective Order Kit Final Draft with changes marked in yellow

PROTECTIVE ORDERS

What is a Protective Order?

It is a court order that protects you from someone who has been violent or threatened to be violent. Violence can include sexual assault.

How can a Protective Order help me?

It can order the other person to:

- Not hurt you or threaten to hurt you
- Not contact you or go near you, your children, other family relatives, your pets, your home, where you work, or your children's schools
- Not have a gun or a license to carry a gun

The police can arrest the other person for violating any of these orders.

Can I get a Protective Order?

You can get a Protective Order if:

- · Someone has hurt you, or threatened to hurt you, and
- You are afraid that person may hurt you again, and
- Either you, or your spouse or dating partner has a close relationship with the person who hurt you (a close relationship includes: marriage, close relatives, dating or living together, or having a child together).

You can also get a Protective Order if you have had a Protective Order against the other person before and the other person violated the parts of the Protective Order designed to protect you.

You can also get a Protective Order if you have been sexually assaulted or stalked, even if you do not have a close relationship with the person who sexually assaulted or stalked you. To get more information about this kind of Protective Order, contact the Texas Advocacy Project, Inc. at 800/374-HOPE(4673) or the Texas Association Against Sexual Assault at 512-474-7190.

How much does it cost?

It is free for you.

How do I ask for a Protective Order?

Fill out the forms in this kit:

- Application for Protective Order
- Either an Affidavit or Declaration
- Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order
- · Protective Order
- Respondent Information

Do I use the Affidavit or the Declaration form?

An Application for Protective Order needs to include either a completed Affidavit or Declaration form. You only need to complete one of these forms. Do NOT complete both forms.

- Complete the Affidavit form if you want your Date of Birth and Address kept confidential. An Affidavit must be signed in front of a notary.
- Complete the Declaration form if you want your Date of Birth and Address to be public information (not confidential). A Declaration does NOT have to be signed in front of a notary.

Where do I file the forms?

After you fill out the forms, take the forms with 2 copies to the courthouse. You may file the forms in one of three places: the county where you live, the county in which the other person lives, or any Texas county in which the violence occurred. If you have a divorce or custody case pending against the other person, however, you should file the forms in that same county or the county where you live.

What if the other person and I live together or have children together?

The judge can make orders about who gets to use the house, apartment, or car.

The judge can also make other orders, like child custody, child support, visitation, and spousal support. The judge can also make an order to protect pets.

Can I get protection right away?

The judge may give you a temporary order that protects you until your court hearing. This order is called a "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order". Please note: if you do not receive a court document entitled "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order" that is signed by the judge after you apply, you do NOT have a protective order yet. You must go to a hearing and ask the judge for a Protective Order.

In some cases, the judge orders the other person to leave the home right away. If you want this, you should ask the judge. Be ready to testify at a hearing when you file your Application.

Do I have to go to court?

Yes. Even if you get a Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order, you must go to the next hearing. It should be in about 2 weeks. The judge will decide if you should have protection and for how long. If you do not go, the Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order may end.

Read Get Ready for Court in this kit. Or get it from the court clerk or from: www.texaslawhelp.org/protectiveorderkit

How will the other person know about the Protective Order?

You must have the other person "served" before the court hearing. This means someone—not you—will serve (give) the other person a copy of your application for a protective order. Please note: when the other person receives your application for a Protective Order, they will also receive a copy of your signed Affidavit or Declaration. Also, if the other person is in the military, a copy of the application for protective order and Affidavit or Declaration will be sent to the officials on base.

The clerk can arrange for law enforcement to serve the other person the court papers for FREE (for you).

How long will the Protective Order be in place?

In most cases, a Protective Order will last up to two years. There are some situations where a court can issue a Protective Order that lasts longer than two years.

Need help?

There is an instruction sheet for each form. But, if you need more help, contact: Family Violence Legal Line: 800-374-HOPE (4673) Or, go to:

www.texaslawhelp.org/protectiveorderkit

Although you may file these forms without having a lawyer, you are encouraged to get a lawyer to help you in this process. Your county or district attorney or legal aid office may be able to help for free. The State Bar of Texas may also be able to refer you to a lawyer if you call 800-252-9690.

Get Ready for Court

Don't miss your hearing!

If you miss it, your Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order may end and you will have to start from the beginning.

Get ready.

- Fill out a Protective Order before you go to court and bring it with you.
- Bring any evidence you have, like photographs, medical records, torn clothing. Also bring witnesses who know about the violence, like a neighbor, relative, or police. The judge may ask them to testify.
- If you had a Protective Order in the past, bring a copy of it.
- Bring proof of your and the other person's income and expenses, like bills, paycheck stubs, bank accounts, tax returns.
- If the Proof of Service was returned to you, file it with the clerk and bring a copy to court. Proof of Service is a document that shows when and where the other person was given a copy of the Application for Protective Order.

Get there 30 minutes early.

- Find the courtroom.
- When the courtroom opens, go in and tell the clerk or officer that you are present.
- Watch the other cases so you will know what to do.
- When your name is called, go to the front of the courtroom.

What if I don't speak English?

When you file your papers, tell the clerk you will need an interpreter. Ask the court clerk if you qualify for any free interpretation services.

If a court interpreter is not available, bring someone to interpret for you. Do not ask a child, a protected person, or a witness to interpret for you.

What if I am deaf?

When you file your papers, ask for an interpreter or other accommodation.

What if I need child support or visitation orders?

Call the Family Violence Legal Line before you go to court: 800-374-HOPE (4673)

What if I am afraid?

If you don't feel safe, call your local family crisis center or the National Domestic Violence Hotline: 800-799-SAFE (7233)

Practice what you want to say.

Make a list of the orders you want and practice saying them. Do not take more than 3 minutes to say what you want.

If you get nervous at the hearing, just read from your list. Use that list to see if the judge has made every order you asked for.

The judge may ask questions.

The other person or his or her lawyer may also ask you questions. Tell the truth. Speak slowly. Give complete answers. If you don't understand, say, "I don't understand the question."

Speak only to the judge unless it is your turn to ask questions. When people are talking to the judge, wait for them to finish. Then you can ask questions about what they said.

What happens after the hearing?

If the judge agrees you need protection, the judge will sign your Protective Order.

Take your signed order to the court clerk. Ask for copies of your order (or make extra copies) and keep one with you at all times.

Make sure copies of your order are sent to your children's daycare, babysitter, school, and to the other person's military superior, if they have one. If the other person violates the order, call the police and show them your order.

Need help?

If you are in danger, call the police: 911

Make A Safety Plan

A safety plan can help keep you and your children safe. Ask a domestic violence counselor to help you with your plan.

During an Attack

When an attack starts, try to escape. Leave your home and take your children, no matter what time it is!

- Go to a friend's house or to a domestic violence shelter. Call 1-800-799-SAFE (7233) to find a shelter near you.
- Defend and protect yourself. Later, take photos of your injuries.
- Call for help. Scream as loud and as long as you can.
- Stay close to a door or window so you can get out if you need to.
- Stay away from the bathroom, kitchen, and weapons.

Be Ready to Leave

Leaving is the most dangerous time. Thinking about your safety plan before you leave will help you when the time comes.

- Practice your escape. Know which doors, windows, elevator, or stairs are best. Practice with your children if they are old enough.
- Have a safe place to go in an emergency. Memorize their phone number.
- Keep a cell phone or calling card with you always so you can call in an emergency.
- Ask a neighbor and a co-worker to call the police if they see or hear abuse.
- Get rid of guns and weapons in your house.
- Teach your children how to dial 911 to get help in an emergency.
- Have a safety plan for your children when you can't be with them. Teach them the plan.
- Have a "code word" to use with your children, family, friends, and neighbors. Ask them to call the police when you say that word.
- Keep a bag ready with clothes and extra keys for your house and car. Hide it in a place you can get to quickly. Or leave it at a friend's house.
- Get your own post office box so you can safely get checks and mail.
- Open your own checking or savings account and try to get a credit card in your name.

- Put important things in a safe place where you can get them easily, such as your:
 - o Medicines
 - o Driver's license, ID, social security card
 - o Cash, check book, credit cards
 - o Legal papers, important phone numbers.
- Make plans for your pets if you have them.
- Review your safety plan a lot and make changes to it if you need to.

Be Safe With Technology

- Get a new email address.
- Change your passwords and PIN numbers often.
- Search your name on the internet to see if your phone numbers or address are listed.
- If you have an online page, "de-friend" your partner or make a new page.
- Use a computer that your partner doesn't know about like at a library or friend's house.
- Get a cell phone that your partner doesn't know about. Call the domestic violence shelter and ask them if they can give you a donated cell phone. Call 1-800-799-SAFE (7233).
- Save emergency phone numbers with a made up name in your cell phone. For example, you can name the domestic violence shelter in your cell as "Angie."

Be Safe When You Live on Your Own

- Change the locks on your doors as soon as you can.
- Put locks on all your doors and windows.
- Ask your phone company for an unlisted number.
 Sometimes this is free. Don't call your partner from your phone. Screen all your calls.
- If you move, don't tell your partner where you live.
- Give your children's school or daycare a list of who is allowed to pick up your children.
- Tell your neighbors and landlord that your partner no longer lives with you. Ask them to call the police if they see your partner near your home.
- Take care of yourself by asking for what you need and going to a support group.
- If you have to see your partner, meet in a public place and bring someone with you.

- If you are thinking about going back to your partner talk to someone you trust first.
- Be safe at work by asking your co-workers to call the police if they see your partner at your job.
 Bring a picture of your partner to work.
- Take a different way home and to work. Go to different stores and places. Change your routine.
- If you drive, park where there is a lot of light.
- Have someone walk with you to your car or to the bus stop.

Be Safe With a Protective Order

- Always keep your Protective Order with you and call the police if your partner violates it.
- Give copies of your protective order to your family, friends, neighbors, school, and daycare.

Protective Order Kit Final Draft

PROTECTIVE ORDERS

What is a Protective Order?

It is a court order that protects you from someone who has been violent or threatened to be violent. Violence can include sexual assault.

How can a Protective Order help me?

It can order the other person to:

- Not hurt you or threaten to hurt you
- Not contact you or go near you, your children, other family relatives, your pets, your home, where you work, or your children's schools
- Not have a gun or a license to carry a gun

The police can arrest the other person for violating any of these orders.

Can I get a Protective Order?

You can get a Protective Order if:

- · Someone has hurt you, or threatened to hurt you, and
- You are afraid that person may hurt you again, and
- Either you, or your spouse or dating partner has a close relationship with the person who hurt you (a close relationship includes: marriage, close relatives, dating or living together, or having a child together).

You can also get a Protective Order if you have had a Protective Order against the other person before and the other person violated the parts of the Protective Order designed to protect you.

You can also get a Protective Order if you have been sexually assaulted or stalked, even if you do not have a close relationship with the person who sexually assaulted or stalked you. To get more information about this kind of Protective Order, contact the Texas Advocacy Project, Inc. at 800/374-HOPE(4673) or the Texas Association Against Sexual Assault at 512-474-7190.

How much does it cost?

It is free for you.

How do I ask for a Protective Order?

Fill out the forms in this kit:

- Application for Protective Order
- Either an Affidavit or Declaration
- Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order
- Protective Order
- Respondent Information

27

Do I use the Affidavit or the Declaration form?

An Application for Protective Order needs to include either a completed Affidavit or Declaration form. You only need to complete one of these forms. Do NOT complete both forms.

- Complete the Affidavit form if you want your Date of Birth and Address kept confidential. An Affidavit must be signed in front of a notary.
- Complete the Declaration form if you want your Date of Birth and Address to be public information (not confidential). A Declaration does NOT have to be signed in front of a notary.

Where do I file the forms?

After you fill out the forms, take the forms with 2 copies to the courthouse. You may file the forms in one of three places: the county where you live, the county in which the other person lives, or any Texas county in which the violence occurred. If you have a divorce or custody case pending against the other person, however, you should file the forms in that same county or the county where you live.

What if the other person and I live together or have children together?

The judge can make orders about who gets to use the house, apartment, or car.

The judge can also make other orders, like child custody, child support, visitation, and spousal support. The judge can also make an order to protect pets.

Can I get protection right away?

The judge may give you a temporary order that protects you until your court hearing. This order is called a "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order". Please note: if you do not receive a court document entitled "Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order" that is signed by the judge after you apply, you do NOT have a protective order yet. You must go to a hearing and ask the judge for a Protective Order.

In some cases, the judge orders the other person to leave the home right away. If you want this, you should ask the judge. Be ready to testify at a hearing when you file your Application.

Do I have to go to court?

Yes. Even if you get a Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order, you must go to the next hearing. It should be in about 2 weeks. The judge will decide if you should have protection and for how long. If you do not go, the Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order may end.

Read Get Ready for Court in this kit. Or get it from the court clerk or from: www.texaslawhelp.org/protectiveorderkit

How will the other person know about the Protective Order?

You must have the other person "served" before the court hearing. This means someone—not you—will serve (give) the other person a copy of your application for a protective order. Please note: when the other person receives your application for a Protective Order, they will also receive a copy of your signed Affidavit or Declaration. Also, if the other person is in the military, a copy of the application for protective order and Affidavit or Declaration will be sent to the officials on base.

The clerk can arrange for law enforcement to serve the other person the court papers for FREE (for you).

How long will the Protective Order be in place?

In most cases, a Protective Order will last up to two years. There are some situations where a court can issue a Protective Order that lasts longer than two years.

Need help?

There is an instruction sheet for each form. But, if you need more help, contact: Family Violence Legal Line: 800-374-HOPE (4673) Or, go to:

www.texaslawhelp.org/protectiveorderkit

Although you may file these forms without having a lawyer, you are encouraged to get a lawyer to help you in this process. Your county or district attorney or legal aid office may be able to help for free. The State Bar of Texas may also be able to refer you to a lawyer if you call 800-252-9690.

Get Ready for Court

Don't miss your hearing!

If you miss it, your Temporary Ex Parte Protective Order may end and you will have to start from the beginning.

Get ready.

- Fill out a Protective Order before you go to court and bring it with you.
- Bring any evidence you have, like photographs, medical records, torn clothing. Also bring witnesses who know about the violence, like a neighbor, relative, or police. The judge may ask them to testify.
- If you had a Protective Order in the past, bring a copy of it.
- Bring proof of your and the other person's income and expenses, like bills, paycheck stubs, bank accounts, tax returns.
- If the Proof of Service was returned to you, file it with the clerk and bring a copy to court. Proof of Service is a document that shows when and where the other person was given a copy of the Application for Protective Order.

Get there 30 minutes early.

- Find the courtroom.
- When the courtroom opens, go in and tell the clerk or officer that you are present.
- Watch the other cases so you will know what to do.
- When your name is called, go to the front of the courtroom.

What if I don't speak English?

When you file your papers, tell the clerk you will need an interpreter. Ask the court clerk if you qualify for any free interpretation services.

If a court interpreter is not available, bring someone to interpret for you. Do not ask a child, a protected person, or a witness to interpret for you.

What if I am deaf?

When you file your papers, ask for an interpreter or other accommodation.

What if I need child support or visitation orders?

Call the Family Violence Legal Line before you go to court: 800-374-HOPE (4673)

What if I am afraid?

If you don't feel safe, call your local family crisis center or the National Domestic Violence Hotline: 800-799-SAFE (7233)

Practice what you want to say.

Make a list of the orders you want and practice saying them. Do not take more than 3 minutes to say what you want.

If you get nervous at the hearing, just read from your list. Use that list to see if the judge has made every order you asked for.

The judge may ask questions.

The other person or his or her lawyer may also ask you questions. Tell the truth. Speak slowly. Give complete answers. If you don't understand, say, "I don't understand the question."

Speak only to the judge unless it is your turn to ask questions. When people are talking to the judge, wait for them to finish. Then you can ask questions about what they said.

What happens after the hearing?

If the judge agrees you need protection, the judge will sign your Protective Order.

Take your signed order to the court clerk. Ask for copies of your order (or make extra copies) and keep one with you at all times.

Make sure copies of your order are sent to your children's daycare, babysitter, school, and to the other person's military superior, if they have one. If the other person violates the order, call the police and show them your order.

Make A Safety Plan

A safety plan can help keep you and your children safe. Ask a domestic violence counselor to help you with your plan.

During an Attack

When an attack starts, try to escape. Leave your home and take your children, no matter what time it is!

- Go to a friend's house or to a domestic violence shelter. Call 1-800-799-SAFE (7233) to find a shelter near you.
- Defend and protect yourself. Later, take photos of your injuries.
- Call for help. Scream as loud and as long as you can.
- Stay close to a door or window so you can get out if you need to.
- Stay away from the bathroom, kitchen, and weapons.

Be Ready to Leave

Leaving is the most dangerous time. Thinking about your safety plan before you leave will help you when the time comes.

- Practice your escape. Know which doors, windows, elevator, or stairs are best. Practice with your children if they are old enough.
- Have a safe place to go in an emergency. Memorize their phone number.
- Keep a cell phone or calling card with you always so you can call in an emergency.
- Ask a neighbor and a co-worker to call the police if they see or hear abuse.
- Get rid of guns and weapons in your house.
- Teach your children how to dial 911 to get help in an emergency.
- Have a safety plan for your children when you can't be with them. Teach them the plan.
- Have a "code word" to use with your children, family, friends, and neighbors. Ask them to call the police when you say that word.
- Keep a bag ready with clothes and extra keys for your house and car. Hide it in a place you can get to quickly. Or leave it at a friend's house.
- Get your own post office box so you can safely get checks and mail.
- Open your own checking or savings account and try to get a credit card in your name.

- Put important things in a safe place where you can get them easily, such as your:
 - o Medicines
 - o Driver's license, ID, social security card
 - o Cash, check book, credit cards
 - o Legal papers, important phone numbers.
- Make plans for your pets if you have them.
- Review your safety plan a lot and make changes to it if you need to.

Be Safe With Technology

- Get a new email address.
- Change your passwords and PIN numbers often.
- Search your name on the internet to see if your phone numbers or address are listed.
- If you have an online page, "de-friend" your partner or make a new page.
- Use a computer that your partner doesn't know about like at a library or friend's house.
- Get a cell phone that your partner doesn't know about. Call the domestic violence shelter and ask them if they can give you a donated cell phone. Call 1-800-799-SAFE (7233).
- Save emergency phone numbers with a made up name in your cell phone. For example, you can name the domestic violence shelter in your cell as "Angie."

Be Safe When You Live on Your Own

- Change the locks on your doors as soon as you can.
- Put locks on all your doors and windows.
- Ask your phone company for an unlisted number.
 Sometimes this is free. Don't call your partner from your phone. Screen all your calls.
- If you move, don't tell your partner where you live.
- Give your children's school or daycare a list of who is allowed to pick up your children.
- Tell your neighbors and landlord that your partner no longer lives with you. Ask them to call the police if they see your partner near your home.
- Take care of yourself by asking for what you need and going to a support group.
- If you have to see your partner, meet in a public place and bring someone with you.

- If you are thinking about going back to your partner talk to someone you trust first.
- Be safe at work by asking your co-workers to call the police if they see your partner at your job.
 Bring a picture of your partner to work.
- Take a different way home and to work. Go to different stores and places. Change your routine.
- If you drive, park where there is a lot of light.
- Have someone walk with you to your car or to the bus stop.

Be Safe With a Protective Order

- Always keep your Protective Order with you and call the police if your partner violates it.
- Give copies of your protective order to your family, friends, neighbors, school, and daycare.
