2	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: We have a full agenda
3	this month, so we will be meeting tomorrow morning, and
4	with that, we will hear as usual from Justice Hecht.
5	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: We have a new
6	justice at our court, Eva Guzman of Houston, appointed by
7	the Governor, and she'll be running for a full term next
8	year to replace Justice Brister, proving once again the
9	importance of this committee as a steppingstone to
10	greatness. And the Court has issued the Texas
11	Disciplinary Rules for the Bar, and they are out for
12	public comment. This represents an enormous amount of
13	work by two lawyer groups who have been working at it for
14	years literally, based upon work done by the American Bar
15	Association and the American Law Institute for years
16	preceding that, and trying to adapt those ideas to the
17	Texas situation and traditions. So that's an enormous
18	project that is out for comment and will be voted on by
19	the Bar at a referendum to be determined later.
20	MS. PETERSON: And we've discussed potential
21	dates with some State Bar committee representatives, and
22	it sounds like the referendum may begin on the first day
23	of the annual meeting, which would be June 10th, and then
24	it would be a 30-day voting period.
25	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: And many of the

ſ

1	changes are just updates, but some of them are new and
2	some may be controversial, so we look forward to getting
3	comments on that. Kennon spearheaded that effort through
4	the Court, and it just took an enormous amount of time,
5	just hundreds of hours to do all of that, and the Court
6	itself spent a lot of time discussing those rules. So
7	they are very difficult, it's a very difficult area, so
8	anyway, that's done, and as I say, we look forward to the
9	comments on those rules.
10	And then the only other thing I have is that
11	we had the swearing in of new lawyers last week, or
12	earlier this week I guess, and I thought I saw the name
13	Tipps on the list of 2,300 new lawyers.
14	MR. TIPPS: One more Tipps around.
15	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: So we congratulate
16	his family for that. That's all I have.
17	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Great. Thank you,
18	Justice Hecht. We will turn to the third item on our
19	agenda, which is the Senate Bill 1448 and the proposed
20	Texas Rule of Civil Procedures 737.1 through .16. Judge
21	Lawrence.
22	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Could I say
23	something to start this?
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah.
25	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: This is a bill by Senator West and Representative Thompson, and it requires 1 2 the Supreme Court to adopt rules by January the 1st, this 3 coming January the 1st. This is a procedure that really has to be built from the ground up, and so we appointed a 4 5 task force right away to look at this, and I really don't 6 know what we would do without Tom Lawrence. He's just --7 he's done an enormous amount of work on this and so many 8 other projects in the past. So we're indebted to him as 9 well as Justice Keith Baker of Bexar County. I'm just 10 going to call the names because they did so much work. Robert Doggett of the Texas RioGrande Legal Aid; David 11 12 Fritsche in San Antonio; Fred Fuchs here in Austin, Legal Aid here in Austin; Tom Morgan at the Realtors 13 14 Association; Justice Connie Mayfield of Navarro County; 15 Wendy Wilson, who is getting to be a regular here at our meetings, from the Apartment Association; and Justice 16 17 James Woltz of the -- of Galveston County; and also Tom 18 pointed out that the Bar and the law library and the 19 Center for the Judiciary were good enough to provide space 20 for the committee members to meet, and some other people 21 pitched in as well. So for all of those people and all of 22 that work we are deeply grateful, and the Court will 23 promulgate rules next month to be effective January the 24 1st.

And as we have done in the past when we've had this quick deadline set by the Legislature, we'll 1 honor the deadline and get comments after the rules become 2 3 effective and may make changes in response to the comments, which is different from the procedure that we 4 5 usually use and different from the Rules Authority Act, but we had this situation come up several instances in 6 7 House Bill 4 and other times, and we take the position 8 that when the Legislature has specified a deadline, that 9 that trumps the comment period, so we'll go ahead and make 10 them effective, get comments, make any changes that we need to and use that procedure rather than the usual. 11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Great. Judge Lawrence. 13 Thank you. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. And let me 15 also mention Kennon Peterson was a big help. She attended most of the meetings and a lot of comments and will be the 16 17 person that's going to have to put all of this together 18 after we finish, too. 19 MS. PETERSON: Can't wait. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, Senate Bill 20 21 1448, as Justice Hecht said, you would think it's a really 22 simple project because it's only 10 lines in the bill. 23 You think, well, this isn't going to take much, but it is 24 actually pretty complicated. There is a section of the 25 Texas Property Code that deals with repairs. When a tenant feels the landlord should have repaired something 1 2 and didn't then the tenant can actually go to court and 3 get an order ordering the landlord to repair something and ordering that the rent be reduced, getting a judge to 4 5 order the rent be reduced; and to award actual damages, 6 for example, if they have to move out and move into a 7 hotel; statutory damages, which is one month's rent, plus 8 $500, plus attorney's fees and court costs.

Now, the section of the bill dealing with an 9 10 order to repair and an order reducing rent is rarely used. 11 I don't know that -- I think maybe somebody on the task 12 force had seen it used maybe in Austin once or twice. Ι talked to county court at law judges in Houston that had 13 14 never seen it in over 10 years, and one reason is that the 15 order to repair could not be filed in justice court. Ιt 16 was excluded. It had to be filed in county and district 17 court. So what this bill did is it took away that 18 exemption from JPs to hear these types of suits. So now 19 you can file a suit in JP court to get the JP to order the 20 landlord to repair something and order the rent to be 21 reduced, as well as the other things. So that's probably 22 going to result in more of these types of suits, but the 23 bill also put a kicker in there that you have to hold these hearings within 6 to 10 days. 24 25

the -- the judgment at $10,000, and it also says that 1 2 included in that is the order to repair, and that's kind 3 of significant. We'll talk more about that later, but that is what these rules are all about, and the rules have 4 5 to be somewhat complicated because you've got all of these 6 issues to deal with of the parties coming in, there are a 7 lot of defenses to the landlord's ability to repair, and 8 this 6 to 10 days requires everything to be expedited, so we've built in a lot of provisions for safeguards in the 9 10 rules, and we'll get into all of this. We have modeled 11 this for the most part after the eviction rules and after the rules for justice court suits and to a limited extent 12 13 after the small claims court rules, so we borrowed heavily 14 from all those existing JP court rules in order to do 15 this.

16 Now, most of what you have in this packet -and there is the 29-page packet and then there is a 17 18 four-page handout that I brought today, some thoughts I 19 had late yesterday afternoon as I was reading over this 20 again. The first 17 pages of this deal with statutes and 21 laws that I have provided to form the background that 22 we're going to need, sections of the Property Code, the 23 Government Code, some Rules of Civil Procedure, and a number of other things that we'll be referring back to, 24 25 but let's go ahead and get started. Page 18, if you

2	We suggest that this be put in Rule 737.
3	Now, Rule 737 was I think repealed a number of years back,
4	so it's vacant right now, and it is in the special
5	proceedings section, which I think this would logically
6	be, so we think this is a good place so we're going to
7	suggest 737.1, 737.2, and so forth in order to fit it
8	within there. We're going to call this "A tenant's suit
9	in justice court to enforce landlord's duty to repair."
10	Kind of a cumbersome title, but these suits are only going
11	to be for enforcing this narrow provision of the Texas
12	Property Code, which is found in 92.0563 of the Texas
13	Property Code, which you have in your materials. We
14	suggest putting a comment after the title to try to help
15	people understand what this is all about, and the comment
16	would be that "Rule 737.1 through .16 are promulgated to
17	provide procedures for a tenant's request for relief in a
18	justice court pursuant to Section 92.0563(a) of the
19	Property Code. The procedures in Rules 523 through 574b
20	also apply to the extent they're not inconsistent with the
21	procedures in Rules 737.1 through .16." That's in there
22	because we didn't want to reprint all of these provisions,
23	particularly the service of process and a lot of other
24	things. We tried to make these rules as free-standing as
25	possible, but in order not to have to reprint everything,

1 where there is no inconsistency and these rules are silent
2 then you would refer back to the justice court rules for 3 guidance.

4 "Except where otherwise specifically 5 provided, the terms in Rules 737.1 through .16 are defined consistent with Section 92.001 of the Property Code," 6 7 which as you can imagine is where they -- is a section on 8 definitions that talk about lease and landlord and tenant 9 and dwelling and premises and all the things that we're "All suits must be filed in 10 going to be referring to. 11 accordance with the venue provisions of Chapter 15 of the 12 Civil Practice and Remedies Code," which are the specific venue provisions for JP court. "A suit seeking an order 13 14 to repair or to reduce rent may only be filed in justice 15 court under Rule 737 or in county or district court."

16 Now, you might wonder, well, isn't that the point of these rules? Well, there are two different types 17 18 of lawsuits you can file in a JP court. One are under --19 one set are under the Government Code, Chapter 28, which 20 are referred to as small claims court, and the other is 21 what we refer to as justice court rules, which are under 22 the 523 through 574. Now, you can't really file a suit 23 for an order to repair in a small claims court proceeding because small claims court is only for money judgment. 24 25 You can only recover a money judgment in small claims court, so while you could file the suit for the statutory 1 damages, civil penalty, and attorney's fees and court 2 3 costs under this section of the Property Code, you couldn't file the other. So if somebody just wants to 4 5 file for statutory damages, they can file under the small claims court, but we're trying to let people know that if 6 7 you want to sue for order to repair or to reduce rent, 8 then that has to be filed in a justice court suit. So 9 that's the comment. Simple, isn't it? 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: I'm just sitting here 11 thinking about this. The tenant who wants to get their 12 toilet fixed --13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Uh-huh. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: -- is going to have to 15 navigate some fairly rocky harbor to the --16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it's not that 17 we tried to make it complicated on purpose. 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No, there's nothing you 19 could do about it. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We really tried to 21 make it as simple and straightforward as we possibly 22 could, but this section of the Property Code, this 23 habitability section of the Property Code is not a simple 24 set of statutes, and there are all sorts of -- when we get 25 to Rule 2 there are all of these things that have to be listed in the petition, and that's because of various 1 2 provisions in the Property Code that set up defenses for 3 the landlord and hurdles that the tenant has to overcome, so we're trying to cover all of these things. 4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But, you know, we 7 spent a lot of time trying to -- we recognize that it's 8 going to be pro se tenants that are going to be filing 90 9 percent of these, and believe it or not, we tried to make 10 it as simple as we could. 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No, I wasn't being 12 critical. 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, it's a valid 14 Yeah. concern. Okay. 15 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Elaine. 16 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Judge Lawrence, are the conditions in 92.056 implicated, meaning a tenant can only 17 18 seek this order to repair or remedy in damages if the 19 repair materially affects the physical health or safety? 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's correct. 21 The standard -- in other words, a tenant can't -- if your 22 cabinet -- I had an eviction case Tuesday, and the tenant 23 said he wasn't paying rent because the cabinets weren't fitting properly. Well, that's not the kind of thing that 24 25 you could come into court on because that doesn't materially affect the health or safety of an ordinary 1 That's the standard by which a landlord has to 2 tenant. 3 fix something. A landlord doesn't have to fix everything. There are also conditions that notices be given, that 4 5 reasonable time to repair, let's see, what else, various 6 other defenses that are all covered in here, but, yeah, 7 that's the standard, and that's -- you know, we'll get to that a little bit later, but that is the standard, yes. 8 9 Okay. 737.1, "A tenant may file a suit in 10 justice court to seek judicial remedies under subchapter 11 (b) of Chapter 2 of the Texas Property Code." 737.2, 12 "Requisites of petition. The petition must be in writing and must include the following." Now, here there was a 13 difference of opinion on the task force about the 14 15 Some felt that the petition -- or the majority, petition. 16 I guess it's fair to say, and Wendy and Kennon, correct me 17 if I misstate something, but I believe the majority felt 18 that the petition does not need to be sworn to, and the 19 logic was that this is an unliquidated claim that would 20 have to be proven up in court with sworn testimony and 21 evidence, so it should not be sworn to. The minority 22 opinion said that it should be sworn to because you're 23 going to have some provisions later that deal with 24 alternate service, putting it different locations that the 25 landlord may be served and, you know, that's something that should be required to be sworn to. 1 Now, as an aside, suits in eviction suits 2 3 have to be sworn to, small claims suits have to be sworn to, but suits in justice court do not have to be sworn to, 4 5 so we've got kind of a mix there, but that was the opinion 6 of the task force that it not be sworn to. Okay. And 7 then in (a) --8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Hang on for a second. 9 Carl, you got a comment about that? MR. HAMILTON: On the requisites of the 10 petition, shouldn't the petition have to state how the 11 repair -- the lack of repairs is affecting the physical 12 13 health or safety? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We're going to get 15 to that a little bit later. Let me see if that's --16 MR. MUNZINGER: Subsection (f), .2(f) talks about the condition of the premises the tenant seeks to 17 18 have repaired or remedied. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, I don't think we -- we did not require them to specifically state that 20 21 it affected their health or safety, but I don't think the 22 task force would have any problem with putting that in if 23 the committee wanted it. 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 25 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I know y'all have done a lot of work on this, and while I think it's 1 2 great that a petition would have all of these things in 3 it, if we're talking about mostly pro se people why are we making it so difficult for them to file something versus 4 5 filing a regular lawsuit? I mean, when you put "must," you know, "must" be in there, if they miss one of them, 6 7 does the landlord get to come in and say, "Didn't include 8 that, can't have the hearing"? Are we going to have 9 endless redrafting of a petition by a pro se? I mean, 10 when I look at, you know, claims for relief under Rule 47, 11 it just it's so different from what has to be and what I would hope would be something -- since they have to come 12 13 down and present evidence anyway, you can sort of help 14 them along at that point, but if we have this very 15 detailed pleading requirement I just think it would be 16 very hard. So I wondered what was the thinking of the 17 task force on that.

18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the task 19 force I think had two primary concerns in mind. One is 20 that the requirement that this be 6 to 10 days is so fast 21 that we wanted, first of all, for the landlord to have sufficient notice as to what this is all about, because 22 23 the landlord is going to have to come in and give the 24 court some idea of what it's going to cost to repair this 25 condition, whatever it is, and the landlord needs some notice as to what the condition is. There also are a 1 number of defenses that are in the statute to the landlord 2 3 having to repair. For example, the notices, who caused the condition, all of these things need to be -- are going 4 5 to have to come out at the trial at some point, and the judges wanted some advance notice as to what was going on 6 7 with this, wanted this organized so that when the case is 8 presented 6 to 10 days after it's served that you can look 9 at the petition and have an understanding of what's going The landlord would have -- would be on notice as to 10 on. 11 the dates the notices were given, the exact condition, 12 what happened, because the landlord may not have a clue. 13 The landlord may not know that any of this has occurred, 14 and that happens frequently.

15 So that was the reason, and, you know, help 16 me out if I'm overlooking something, but that was the 17 reason that we thought we needed to get everything we 18 could up front in the petition so it's all there, that 19 everybody knows what this suit is about; and, you know, 20 tenants should understand that just because they think the 21 landlord didn't fix the cabinet or shampoo the carpet that 22 that's not necessarily something that they can come into 23 court and get relief on, that they need to understand that 24 they have to jump over all of these hurdles before they 25 can get any relief. That was the thinking of the task

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Gray, then Jeff,and then Lonny.

4 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Was there any thought 5 given to a promulgated form to accompany the rule for the 6 petition? Once upon a time I had the opportunity to file 7 a case in small claims court. The JP handed me a petition 8 form, and it worked very well for that circumstance, 9 although it was quite a bit broader than this, and it 10 would seem that by a form with a number of boxes to check 11 or slots to write information in it would greatly 12 facilitate this process.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Was it proposed that --I7 I know you just said these were in what you were thinking about last night. Were these something that y'all were thinking about doing as an attachment to the rules? HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. The task

21 force, no, we were not thinking about promulgating any 22 forms as a part of the rule, but what I anticipate 23 happening is this petition -- the task force never looked 24 at this. This is something I did this week just to try to 25 get a handle on how everything was going to flow, but I would anticipate the JP training center is going to 1 promulgate some forms that will be used, and I would think 2 3 probably -- I don't see anybody from RioGrande Legal Aid, but typically the legal aid groups also have some petition 4 5 forms that they give out. So I think there are going to be forms that are going to be promulgated that are going 6 7 to help the tenant fill all of this out, but everything 8 that is in the petition, this draft petition I have, would 9 be information they would need, and you just go through 10 and fill in the blanks basically. 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Jeff, did you have --12 Well, yeah. I kind of wanted to MR. BOYD: 13 say the same things Tracy and -- that have already been 14 said, but --15 Well, say it again. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 16 MR. BOYD: I'll say it again. She doesn't have anything else to do today. But maybe hone it in a 17 18 little bit more, is if 90 percent of them are pro se how 19 will they even know that they have to include these things 20 in their petition? That's the problem. I mean, as a

21 lawyer, somebody called me about it, I would have to 22 research to find the rules to even know it, but if they're 23 pro se I'm not sure they would even find it, and what 24 Tracy said, my concern is, well, if they file it's almost 25 setting them up to fail because they're going to file the

1 lawsuit, they're not going to have listed everything in 2 it. The landlord who does this all the time potentially 3 is going to know that, you know, we just come in and 4 "Judge, move to dismiss. They haven't met the 5 requirements of the rule."

6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, of course, a 7 high percentage of landlords are pro se, too. You have 8 apartment managers for the most part. Every once in a 9 while you get attorneys, but a lot are pro ses. This is 10 based on the statutes. We're not setting any hurdles up 11 that are not already existing in the law in the Property Code. We're just trying to put everything up front so 12 that everybody understands to begin with what they're 13 14 going to have to prove up in order to get relief. If we 15 don't do this then in six days when I've got the parties 16 before me for the hearing nobody is going to have this 17 information. Everything is going to have to be reset. 18 The landlord is not going to know what the condition is. 19 They're going to say, "Judge, I need a continuance, I had 20 no idea that they had a leaky toilet. They've never said 21 anything. I need to get a plumber out and find out what's involved in this. I need a reset," and the tenant is 22 23 going to say, "Yeah, I gave notices. No, I left those at I need a reset to go back and get them." But if 24 home. 25 all of this stuff is in the petition and they know about

1 this then the likelihood is high that we're going to be 2 able to dispose of this thing without having to reset and 3 go back again.

4 MR. BOYD: But unless you either give them a 5 form -- when they come in and say, "I want to file a lawsuit against my landlord, " you either give them a form 6 7 to fill out or give them a copy of the rule, you're going 8 to be doing that in 90 percent of the cases anyway because 9 they're going to file an insufficient petition. The 10 landlord is going to come in. Six days later you'll have 11 the hearing. The justice will look at it and say, "Well, your petition doesn't say what it has to say. You're 12 13 going to have to replead it."

14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know 15 that it will have to be repled. I think most -- and I 16 don't want to speak for all the JPs in Texas. Most JPs would just say, "You need to amend this." They're not 17 18 going to make them refile the case. I think you're giving 19 maybe landlords a little bit too much credit for knowing 20 the law also, because most landlords that come in are pro 21 They may know a little bit more about the law, but se. 22 they're not going to have all of this in-depth knowledge. 23 And, Wendy, correct me if you think I'm misstating it. 24 And Robert Doggett, who is also on the task force, with 25 RioGrande Legal Aid just walked in also.

1	Most JP courts have forms for everything.
2	We have forms for small claims court, for justice court,
3	for evictions, for writs of re-entry. Most courts have
4	these forms available. I won't tell you that every court
5	is going to have these forms, but most JP courts and
6	clerks are pretty good about helping both sides fill out
7	whatever paperwork needs to be filled out. So I think
8	these forms are going to be promulgated out there. I
9	think legal aid, the various offices, are going to
10	probably have forms of this type to file. Wouldn't you
11	say?
12	MR. DOGGETT: Yes, sir.
13	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Lonny, and Richard
14	Munzinger.
15	PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: I want to continue
16	building on the same topic. So, I mean, I'm strongly
17	inclined to agree that of the following. There should
18	be in the rule a specific reference to a form. If you
19	if you fill out form 2.5, whatever the number is, it
20	complies with this rule, and that form promulgated
21	pursuant to these rules would be made available will be
22	available in the JP court so that we don't rely on good
23	intentions or the vagaries that one JP has it or another
24	reminds me even more extreme of the conversation we had
25	last time about some courts are open sometimes and others are gone -- you know, 3:00 o'clock gone fishing, and I 1 mean, you know, so for here what we're dealing with is 2 3 we're dealing with a very specific issue, how do you get into court on this, and so you have the problem that -- a 4 5 priori that people won't know where the rule is to even look for it. 6 7 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Or Latin either. 8 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: What? 9 MR. ORSINGER: She was mocking you. 10 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: Then the other point I 11 want to make is about the contents of the -- that you've got here in 737.2. So you said before that, you know, 12 13 these are the things that have to be in there to give 14 notice to the other side, to give the landlord, so they 15 won't have to restart this thing all over because they're going to show up and say, "We don't know what this thing 16 is about." If you look at these provisions here, some of 17 18 them are easy, and that makes sense and that matches, but 19 others I don't follow. So look at (e). "The date any 20 notice was given." Well, I mean, there may be a fight about that. There may be disagreement, but it's not clear 21 to me why that's some essential condition to have in the 22 23 pleading, one that you would throw out. 24 Look at (q). "The statement that the 25 landlord had a reasonable time to repair." Well, I mean, heck, I mean, if you have a sentient tenant they're going 1 to check the first box, and if they either check -- but if 2 3 they check neither box, what difference does it make? Т mean, the landlord is going to contest that if they're 4 5 going to contest it. It's not like the landlord is going to show up and say, "Hang on, I've got some more 6 7 information I want to provide on that point." 8 Look at (h). "A statement of how the 9 condition occurred." Does the landlord need to know that detail in order to defend? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 11 Yes. 12 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: They need to know that it's about the toilet that doesn't work to defend, but 13 14 they don't need to know that it happened because -- you 15 know, let's leave the rest out, but -- and then (j), why is it essential that the tenant properly plead the amount 16 in controversy? Again, yeah, I get that it's legally 17 18 required, but why isn't that a thing, as Tracy said a few 19 minutes ago, we can nudge them through. 20 So, again, if the basic issue for why we're 21 going to require a such detailed fact pleading of pro se plaintiffs is because we want to make it efficient so we 22 23 don't have to adjourn when we have this time clock that's running, it seems like we should limit it to the absolute 24 25 bare bones to make that possible. But the primary point I want to make, again, though, is I don't see why if we're 1 2 going to promulgate anything it wouldn't be with a form 3 that would make everything easier. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't think 4 5 the task force would have any problem with the Court 6 promulgating a form. I mean, that's easier to promulgate 7 and amend than a rule is, I think, if I recall. To take 8 your points, (e) is required because the landlord doesn't 9 have to fix anything unless the proper notice has been 10 given, so that's why we need that information in (e). 11 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: But just to be clear, 12 Tom, why do they have to plead it? So, in other words, 13 obviously we're not having a fight about the substantive 14 The question is why are you making that a specific law. 15 factual averment that has to be -- well, otherwise the 16 landlord gets to come in and say, "This thing is 17 deficient, throw it out." 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the notice is 19 integral to whether or not -- the date the notice is given 20 and how the notice is given is very important to the 21 outcome of the suit. The reduction of the rent goes back 22 to the date the notice was given, the proper notice was 23 given. So you need the date that notice was given in situations, so you need to know if it was written or oral. 1 The landlord is -- needs to be on notice as to when these 2 3 notices are given and who they were given to and the date they were given. (f), the condition of the -- well, I 4 5 think it was (g) you asked about. PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: 6 Yeah. 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's 8 another element that's in the Property Code, is that the 9 landlord has a reasonable time to repair something. You can't give the landlord a notice today that you want it 10 11 repaired and then file a lawsuit Monday because he didn't 12 repair it. So he's got to be given a reasonable time, and there's some -- there's a whole section of the Property 13 Code that talks about the reasonableness and the actions 14 15 that can be taken. 16 (h), how the condition occurred, that needs 17 to be in there because there are defenses. Depending on 18 who caused the damage, the landlord may or may not have an 19 obligation to repair that, and the landlord needs to know 20 all of these things in order to be able to present any 21 kind of defense, because the appearance date is the trial 22 date. I mean, we're going to trial 6 to 10 days after 23 this notice is filed, so the more information you have 24 available to everybody, the smoother the process is going 25 to be.

24 order to calculate when the rent is reduced from, what

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger, and 1 2 then Sarah had her hand up, and then Orsinger. 3 MR. MUNZINGER: I agree with what the professor said. On the point of the advisability of a 4 5 form, we ought to make the courts open to those who need 6 If a form is adopted as part of the rule, it relief. 7 satisfies all the prerequisites to the suit if properly 8 completed. It leaves nothing to chance. It doesn't have 9 a pro se litigant thrown out because of some technicality, 10 which we all know is not justice or shouldn't be justice, so we ought to adopt the form or a form and make it part 11 of the rules so that if a form is completed then people 12 come to court and address the issue. 13 14 The only other comment I would make is that 15 I think the phraseology in the second line of subsection 16 (e), "who specifically the notice was given to" seems to be clumsy and might be better stated, with my apologies to 17 18 the member of the committee who wrote it. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Sarah. 20 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: To press Lonny's 21 point and ask a question, I understand all those things, 22 Tom, are subject matters of proof and that when appearance 23 day and trial day comes it's all going to have to get 24 proved up or it's not going to get granted. Is there 25 anything that prevents the landlord from just calling or 1 going by and asking the tenant "How did this happen? Who 2 do you think you gave notice to, because I didn't get it?" 3 I mean, why does it all -- certainly matters of proof. 4 That's fine. You're statutorily required, but why do they 5 all have to be in the petition?

6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I mean, I 7 don't know how to articulate it any differently. Another 8 aspect was that a tenant comes in and they pay their $92 9 or whatever it is to file the lawsuit. Wouldn't you want that tenant to have some idea that there are all these 10 hurdles you have to jump over, and if you haven't crossed 11 12 all these T's and dotted all these I's then your suit doesn't have a chance? So by putting all this out front 13 14 it may show the tenant that, "Oh, well, we need to go back 15 and do this. We've got to go give a notice then. We didn't know that." Robert. 16

17 MR. DOGGETT: Can I respond briefly? One 18 thing is if you have a general pleading -- and, of course, 19 my advocacy is on behalf of tenants, you understand. We were concerned about the level of detail as well. 20 These 21 are statutorily required. The other thing is if we have 22 this general, you know, plead a cause of action, we're 23 going to have special exceptions, and it's going to happen 24 where somebody goes back into court and says, "Judge, I 25 can't the defend this. I'm not ready. I need to know more information." Well, if it's right in the code, if 1 it's right in the pleading, you know, there it is, and so 2 3 we can move this case quicker. And the whole idea, and the Legislature tried to give us guidance there, is we 4 5 need to do these quickly, and so that's what's going to help move this case along under the -- you know, under the 6 7 rules that we've been given, and so from a tenant 8 perspective we certainly like the idea of just saying, you 9 know, plead a cause of action. That's the rule. But we're going to have landlords understandably not knowing 10 what they're up against, requesting a special exception, 11 and now we have more judge time spent on whether or not --12 you know, what's the level of detail required in order to 13 14 defend this case. Instead we're going to have a rule that 15 says exactly what we should plead so you'll know.

16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Orsinger, and 17 then Harvey Brown.

18 MR. ORSINGER: In the context of knowing 19 that pro ses are going to be bringing this lawsuit, it 20 reminds me of when we were grappling with how to handle 21 the parental bypasses, which we were expecting to be 22 initiated by single mothers who didn't have any legal 23 assistance or otherwise, and we promulgated forms, and we put them on the Supreme Court's website, and we spread 24 25 them around everywhere, and they became available to the

1 pro ses I think pretty successfully, and it would seem to 2 me that once we have a form we should do the same thing. 3 We should put it on an official website, and we should 4 have signs everywhere telling people where they can go on 5 the worldwide web to get this form.

The other thing that occurs to me is that 6 7 while I do understand the feeling that we don't want to 8 throw people out because their pleadings don't comply, 9 these pro ses are not going to know what's in the Property Code unless we tell them, and if we tell them what's in 10 11 the Property Code in the pleading and they see the pleading online, then for purposes of their pretrial 12 activity, like whether they give notice or proper notice 13 14 or how much notice, if the pleading is like a checklist of 15 what they have to do to get the lawsuit off the ground, 16 they'll use the pleading as a checklist for their pretrial 17 Then when they show up for trial, if the behavior. 18 pleading has basically laid out everything they have to 19 prove to win then the pleading is a checklist of what they 20 testify to when they're pleading their case. 21 So I know that -- I know that it's bad that

22 people might not even get to court successfully because 23 they don't plead it correctly, but I think it's worse if 24 we don't give them a guideline on what they have to do 25 before trial and during trial to win, and so as between

1 the two I think a detailed form that step-by-step tells 2 them what they have to do and prove in order to win the 3 lawsuit actually works to the benefit of the pro ses more 4 so than saying we are making it too complicated for them 5 to plead their way into court.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Harvey.

7 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: I think there is a 8 real advantage to having a checklist for the pro ses, but 9 I want to go back to the word "must." Why do we have to say "must"? What if they just missed one? 10 Why not say That way it functions as a checklist. 11 they "should"? Ιt tells them what they have to do, but if they miss one but 12 prove it in court, which is all they're really required to 13 14 do is to prove in court, they can still get their remedy 15 that day, but if they just skip one inadvertently or they don't have an explanation good enough, while some judges 16 might be fairly liberal on that, they wouldn't have to be. 17 18 They could technically just knock it out on a 19 technicality. It seems like to me the word "should" takes 20 care of the efficiency concerns, Judge Lawrence, that you 21 want but gives a little flexibility if the pro se makes 22 the mistake like a pro se might do. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger. 24 MR. MUNZINGER: Remember that this is only effect on health and safety of a tenant so that a rigid 1 2 requirement for a pleading actually helps meet the 3 requirement of a prompt resolution of a health or safety issue, and I think that's probably what the committee had 4 5 in mind as well. It's not an ordinary lawsuit. There are 6 considerations here that we all love to plead generally 7 because we can't be tied down with judicial admissions and 8 what have you, but this has a societal interest of health 9 and safety, and to put the onus on the tenant but give him 10 a form that allows him to meet the law satisfies that societal interest and gets the matter before a judge who 11 can cure the matter promptly and does so fairly to the 12 13 tenant.

14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 15 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I had the same 16 comment about "must." I was surprised to see in the 17 Government Code that "must" creates or recognizes a 18 condition precedent, so I think "must" would be a bad word 19 to use there. "Shall" I think would be better or 20 "should." Plus, although I understand -- I understand 21 that the idea behind these requirements is to meet the 22 legal standard, it doesn't tell the tenant what the legal 23 standard is. So, for example, the date of any notice given to the landlord, there's not a statement that says, 24 25 "You must have given notice to the landlord before filing this suit." So, I mean, if we're trying to make it easy 1 and try to avoid the $92 for no good reason in terms of 2 3 filing the lawsuit then we need to tell them you had to have given notice, you had to have waited a certain amount 4 5 of time to let them fix the condition, this condition must affect health and safety, how does this condition affect 6 7 health and safety. I mean, the way you've written it here 8 it doesn't provide enough information, while at the same 9 time making it very difficult to plead. I think. 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Elaine. 11 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Maybe a fix for that would be to add a sentence after Rule 737.1 that's 12 parallel to our Rule 22 that says, "The suit is commenced 13 by filing a written petition," maybe "in substantial 14 15 compliance with 737.2," and I agree with Judge 16 Christopher, the conditions, if this is a checklist then 17 we do need to include the conditions materially affecting 18 the physical health or safety and the tenant is not 19 delinquent, which 92.056 subsection (6) requires. 20 My second comment is on the sworn versus 21 This is, in effect, an injunction? unsworn. 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we're going 23 to have a long and spirited discussion about that later in 24 the morning, but --25 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay. Okay. I'll wait

1 for that then. 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You predict. 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It's sort of an 4 injunction, maybe. 5 Well, you know, the PROFESSOR CARLSON: 6 injunction rules are -- of course, the TRO rules can be ex 7 parte, and I assume this can never be ex parte. You have 8 to get some kind of service? 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Uh-huh. PROFESSOR CARLSON: Even if it's the 10 11 substitute service of leaving with someone over 16. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Right. 13 PROFESSOR CARLSON: There's a lot of 14 protections built into the injunction rules on sworn 15 pleadings and bonds and all kinds of things, which I 16 understand JP courts lack jurisdiction to order, but apparently now they do to this extent. 17 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, JP courts do 19 not have injunctive powers, it's true, but yet the JP 20 courts have been given quasi-injunctive powers, for want 21 of a better term, in writs of re-entry and writs of 22 restoration. For example, in a writ of re-entry, if a 23 landlord doesn't readmit a tenant then we can put the landlord in jail until the landlord readmits them, which 24 25 would seem to be counterintuitive, but that's the way the

So we have broad powers that are not specifically 1 law is. 2 called injunctions, and this is yet a -- this is the third 3 in a series of statutory provisions that the Legislature has given to JP courts that one would think is an 4 5 injunction but is not called an injunction. It just says, 6 "Do it or go to jail," but it's not an injunction per se. 7 PROFESSOR CARLSON: It's a super injunction. 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, a super 9 injunction. It's a threat, legal threat. 10 MR. ORSINGER: 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You're skipping the injunction part and going right to the contempt. 12 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's right. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Justice Gray, and 15 then Buddy. 16 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Whether you go with the "must" or "shall" with regard to the nature of the 17 18 pleadings, we've been following that language in some 19 circumstances and statutes with language like "substantially comply," "must substantially comply," 20 21 "shall substantially comply." That way if they deviate 22 from a promulgated form, which I do think is a good idea, 23 and use their own form, it doesn't matter, as long as they 24 substantially comply with that requirement. 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Buddy.

1	MR. LOW: Chip, we have several rules which
2	do have forms. For instance, home equity loan
3	foreclosure, it says, "The notice shall be sufficient if
4	it substantially follows the form." And then we have a
5	justice rule on that says, "and an affidavit which
6	substantially complies to the evidence rules for this
7	provision shall suffice." In other words, it doesn't say
8	"must," but "substantially complies," and that gets around
9	"must" and "shall."
10	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Very good. Lonny.
11	PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: Yeah, so just to kind of
12	build on that, that's a great reference. So to be
13	precise, my specific suggestion is and following on
14	what Elaine was saying, I would my suggestion would be,
15	is to drop 737.2, to replace it instead with effectively
16	22, a civil suit, you know, seeking relief under
17	subsection "a suit to repair," whatever the section
18	number is, "shall be commenced by filing a petition," and
19	then track off the language that the petition will be
20	sufficient if it's substantially in the following form and
21	then literally have that form thereafter follow with very
22	and, again, while I think, Tom, you know, you've done
23	tons of work, and obviously you just threw this together,
24	to tweak this to include, as Tracy was suggesting, the
25	specific.

So, for instance, the form you have here 1 2 under the tenant suit, the draft you have, doesn't say 3 anything about the health or safety being a necessary condition. Put that in there. Instead of having this 4 5 check box, they had a reasonable time, I would say, you know, they were given notice on blank day, which is at 6 7 least, you know, whatever the minimum is that you need for that to be considered reasonable under the substantive 8 9 law.

10 So, again, just to be precise, I'm 11 suggesting that there are costs, collateral costs, that tenants -- apparently not all tenants -- should be 12 13 concerned about, but -- or are concerned about, by having 14 a heightened pleading standard; and even if there are efficiencies to be gained, those collateral costs are 15 16 sufficiently great, we can achieve the same result you want by having it generalized; and by saying the form 17 18 complies, everyone will go there, particularly if we give 19 clear notice to where one should go.

20 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other 21 comments? All right. Great. Why don't we move right 22 along?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. You want me to go through each condition of .2?
CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: I don't know if we need to go through each condition of .2. I don't think so. 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. 3 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Well, if you're not going to go through each one, I would comment on (c), is 4 5 that in the first -- "the address of the landlord or the address of the landlord's agent," and then in (d) we say 6 7 "the telephone numbers of the landlord and landlord's 8 agent," which seems to be -- we probably only need one 9 phone number in (d). I can tell Tom had a specific reason for the "or" in one and "and" in the other. 10 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. This is 12 really kind of a problem area of landlord-tenant law because you've got a specific provision of the Property 13 14 Code, 92.003, that says that if the landlord has given the 15 tenant written notice of the management company and their 16 address, then that becomes the -- in essence the 17 registered agent, so to speak, and the communications be 18 through them, but that's not always clear if that notice 19 has been given, and we've tried to keep that in mind 20 throughout these rules when we get to the service of 21 process section. But what we're trying to do here, 22 because of this 6 to 10 days is so expedited, the more 23 phone numbers we have, the better off, because a lot of 24 these things may have to be reset, something may come up, 25 and if we have the phone numbers to get in touch with people, that's why we're requiring the tenant's phone 1 number, and we want the landlord's phone number if they 2 3 have it so we'll be able to get in touch with these people. So that's why we need all of that. 4 5 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Would it be better to have in (c) the address of the landlord and the address of 6 7 the agent of service of process? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, if the 9 landlord has given that written notice then the person 10 that is the management company becomes the agent, so that's why it's "or" and not "and." 11 12 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okay. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So there. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: And believe it or 14 15 not, we talked at length about that. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: We have no doubt. Let's 17 go to .3. 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: .3, citation. 19 "When the tenant files a written petition with the justice 20 court, the justice shall immediately issue citation 21 directed to the landlord commanding the landlord to appear 22 before such justice at the time and place named in the 23 The appearance date must be not earlier than citation. 24 the 6th day and not later than the 10th day after the date 25 of service of citation." This is very similar to rule -- to the eviction rules and the rule in 520 something or 1 2 other, the JP's rule. 3 "The citation shall inform the landlord that upon timely request and payment of a jury fee, no later 4 5 than five days after the landlord is served with citation, the case shall be heard by a jury." And that parallels 6 7 the eviction rules. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, Carl. 9 MR. HAMILTON: Two questions. It says "to 10 appear." Should it be "appear or answer," or do they have 11 to actually appear? 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we're going 13 to talk about that in a later rule, in Rule 737.7. In essence the appearance date is the trial date. 14 15 MR. HAMILTON: Okay. And the next question I have is how do you fix a date for trial that's dependent 16 upon the date of service when you don't know when the 17 18 service is? 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We do this in evictions all the time, and stuff has to be sent back and 20 21 redated all the time, but we set eviction dates and we set the date, send the citation to the constable, and the 22 23 constable, we try to give them enough lead time to get it 24 served, but if they can't get it served then they return 25 it to court and we redate it and they go out and do it again. So that's the way it works in eviction cases. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 3 about .3? Justice Hecht. HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: If it's similar to 4 5 other citation provisions, is there a reason to have it 6 restated here as opposed to just referring to the citation 7 in evictions? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it's similar, 9 but it's not exactly the same as what we have in the 10 eviction rule and the justice court rule. 11 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: And what's the reason for the difference? I mean, does the statute 12 13 specifically refer to citation here? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the statute 15 referred -- no, the bill refers to 6 to 10 days. HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: So it's the time 16 17 period that's --18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, but that time 19 period is the same as we have in the eviction rules. 20 Let's see, it may be -- let me check the eviction rules 21 real quick, because it may be that this is almost identical to 742 -- or 740, I think it is. I guess that 22 23 we were trying to make these rules as free-standing as possible without reprinting everything, and this seemed to 24 25 be a -- this seemed to be a basic thing that ought to be

1 in the rule so that a tenant and a landlord could for the 2 most part look at these rules and not have to go anywhere 3 else. I think that was the idea behind it, so there may 4 be some similar language, and this may be, in fact, almost 5 exactly like 730, but it's not -- it's modeled on 739, but 6 it's not identical to it. We think we improved 739 a 7 little bit, frankly, so --

8 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Okay.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Buddy.

10 MR. LOW: Chip?

11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah.

MR. LOW: Judge, when you say in the second line "directed to the landlord," and other places you've talked about "or the designated agent" because they have -- do the definitions include the designated agent so you wouldn't have to state that here? Because a landlord may be a conglomerate of five or six people that own a building, and property managers are the agents.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the landlord is the person responsible. You may serve the management company, but it's the landlord that's on the hook for all of this.

23 MR. LOW: Well, but there are people that 24 manage multi properties, and different people own them, 25 and this person is not truly the landlord unless the

1 property management company, so --2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, "landlord" is 3 defined in the Property Code. 4 MR. LOW: Well, yeah, it's defined here, but 5 the definitions might not -- well, maybe it includes it. 6 That's all. If you're satisfied with it, I'm pleased. 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: On the task force, 8 just to give you an idea, we had the general counsel of 9 the Texas Apartment Association, general counsel of Texas 10 Association of Realtors, two JPs that are attorneys that practice law also, and we had two lawyers with RioGrande 11 Legal Aid, both of whom have extensive experience in 12 landlord-tenant, and three of the people on the task force 13 14 were involved in the statute, involved in the bill. 15 MR. LOW: For instance, "Landlord means an 16 owner, lessor, sublessor of a dwelling, but does not 17 include a manager or agent of the landlord, " and property 18 management companies are the ones that come down and 19 handle that. The owner of the property usually doesn't. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's right. 21 And there's a rule that allows them, both in evictions and 22 in these types of suits, that's going to allow an agent to 23 represent them, but it's still the landlord that's the 24 person responsible. 25 MR. LOW: Okay.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: They can have their 1 That's 2 management company come down if they want to. 3 permitted in evictions, just like the tenant can have an 4 agent come down. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. MR. HAMILTON: But who do you serve? 6 Do you 7 serve the landlord or the agent? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we're --9 yeah, 92.003 talks about the landlord's agent for service 10 of process if they have designated someone. If they have not then you would serve the landlord, and the landlord 11 may be the owner of the apartment complex. The landlord 12 may be the owner of the house. We talked about a number 13 of different scenarios, but the term "landlord" would 14 15 be -- that's how the statute refers to the person 16 responsible for this. That's how the Property Code 17 defines them. 18 MR. HAMILTON: Shouldn't the citation, 19 though, be directed at whoever is going to be served? 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the service 21 of citation in .4 -- in Rule 4 and Rule 5 we're going to talk about the service of that, but the citation itself is 22 23 going to direct the landlord to appear, not the -- you 24 know, the agent for service of process could be the 25 management company, it could be a real estate agent that

1 is handling for an absentee owner. It could be just a
2 rent collector that's a relative of somebody that's living
3 out of state.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger.

5 MR. MUNZINGER: Judge, agent for service of 6 process in my mind means the person so designated with the 7 Secretary of State. Is that what is included here? 8 Because, my goodness, if the property is owned by Buddy 9 Low Properties in Beaumont, and he names Skip as his agent 10 for service in Austin, and the apartment house is in El 11 Paso, how can a tenant get relief? I mean, I would be 12 We're talking about something that's six days stunned. because it's a matter of health and safety, and that's the 13 14 problem that Buddy has been talking about. If you're 15 going to have to serve the agent for service of process designated by the Secretary of State, for god sakes, and 16 you're a pro se tenant with 92 bucks struggling to pay to 17 18 get into court to have your toilet fixed so your children 19 don't get sick, you've got a real problem.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, most -- for the most part for people living in apartments the agent is going to be the management company that manages the apartment complex, and that's going to be a high percentage of the time. You're going to have a smaller number that are going to be rent houses where you've got a real estate company or some individual or maybe the owner 1 2 that's collecting the rent, but the landlord is the person 3 that is the defendant, so to speak, in the suit that is on the hook for this, and it's the landlord that you want to 4 5 have notice of this to appear in court to defend it. The management company or the rent collector is just somebody 6 7 that may be collecting the rent. They may or may not have 8 authority to even fix these things.

9 So you've got a lot of different types of 10 landlord-tenant relationships, all of which are taken into 11 consideration in the definition in chapter -- in 92.003 of the Property Code that talks about landlords -- well, I 12 think 90.001 is the definitions, but all of this is 13 governed by the Property Code, which is a well-established 14 15 body of law that defines who a landlord is and who the registered agent for service of process is. 16

And, fellow task force members, consider yourselves codefendants in this process today, so feel free to --

20 MR. DOGGETT: I would be happy to respond. 21 Also, remember, if there's somebody collecting the rent on 22 behalf of this shell of an organization and often as might 23 be in court requesting an eviction, so, remember, it works 24 both ways. The agents that are involved in collecting the 25 rent and enforcing the rules are also those same individuals that may be subject to service of process. 1 So we understand -- as a tenant advocate understand that 2 3 difficulty, but it's not something insurmountable and that the justice of the peace courts do a lion's share of the 4 5 work trying to, not assist, but at least try to imply that 6 you don't need to be suing the management company or the 7 manager, you need to be suing the owner of the property, 8 who serves a different person. And, you know, it's a 9 difficult problem, but it's something that the Property 10 Code has had for a long time and we've managed to deal 11 with for a long time, and, remember, it works both ways. You know, there's people that are trying to collect rent 12 and file suits for evictions, so those same people are 13 involved on the other side. 14

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.

16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We were trying not to have a situation where a tenant is trying to sue, for 17 18 example, a homeowner, and the homeowner may be out of 19 state, but they may have a rent collector or a management 20 company, so we don't want them to try to send the citation 21 to Massachusetts and them ducking service and it never 22 getting served and nothing ever happens. So there needs 23 to be a way to serve an authorized agent to move this process forward. So it is the landlord that has to 24 25 ultimately be on the hook for this and be responsible,

1 given the notice to appear, although he may be served 2 through his rent collector or management company, may be 3 served directly, but it's most of the time going to be the 4 apartment manager that's going to be involved in this. 5 MR. MUNZINGER: Because of the definition in 6 92.003. I understand, and I appreciate it. I'm sorry I

7 took your time.

8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No problem. Let's go to 9 .4, service.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Service of 10 11 We have, for want of a better word, adopted a citation. convention to try to comply with Rule 103. "The sheriff, 12 13 constable, or other person authorized by law," meaning a private process server, "who receives the citation shall 14 15 serve the citation by delivering a copy of it, along with a copy of the petition, including any exhibits, to the 16 landlord at least six days before the appearance 17 18 date." This was something that the tenants' lawyers felt 19 strongly about, that they wanted a copy of the -- not only 20 a copy of the petition to go with the citation but any 21 exhibits. So a tenant, if a tenant wants exhibits, like 22 the notices, for example, or maybe other things, but if 23 the tenant wants an exhibit then the tenant would have to give the court copies of these exhibits that would be 24 25 attached to the petition and the citation and delivered

1 that way.

Bear in mind that just like in eviction these may ultimately end up being tacked to the door so that we're going to get to that in the next rule about alternate service, but oftentimes these are going to be -sometimes hand-delivered and sometimes slid under the door or sometimes attached to the door or put through a mail slot.

9 There was a difference of opinion on the 10 task force as to whether or not exhibits needed to be 11 attached, but I think, if I remember the philosophy, it 12 was that -- it was that they wanted the landlords to have 13 copies of these notices to see the written notices that 14 were given. I guess, Robert, is that correct?

15 MR. DOGGETT: Absolutely. Because we feel 16 like whatever the tenant files with the court, the 17 landlord has to get the same thing that the court has, and 18 that's just a matter of fairness. So far I feel awkward, 19 but we want to make sure that the process is fair, so that 20 landlords, you know, have everything they should have so 21 when they walk into court they can't say, "I didn't get 22 that, Judge. You got that, I didn't get that. I didn't 23 have time to investigate it." We want this process to be as fair as possible, and, frankly, it goes back to 24 25 evictions when landlords file things with the court. We think it ought to be the same rule that if a landlord 1 2 files notices and things with the court, the tenant should 3 get a copy of those. So, in other words, what's good for the goose is good for the gander. 4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 6 MR. HAMILTON: Are you talking about serving 7 exhibits that are not attached to the petition? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, I think these 9 would have to be -- I think what is anticipated is that a 10 tenant comes in with his petition and a copy of his notice to -- of the condition, notice to the landlord, and that 11 he would have an original and then he would have to 12 13 provide a copy of any of these attachments or exhibits 14 that would have to be served. The court is not going to 15 make copies. He's going to have to bring in the copies that he wants attached to the petition to be served. 16 17 MR. HAMILTON: But they are going to be 18 attached as exhibits to the petition, though. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. 20 MR. DOGGETT: And those are optional. The 21 exhibits are optional. Some people just want to file 22 things, and that's great, but we want to make sure if they 23 file something, that all parties have to get a copy of it. 24 If they say, "Oh, if I don't want to make copies of this, 25 then forget it," they can pull it back and say, "No, I just want to file this petition." So exhibits are 1 2 optional, but whatever is filed with the court we want to 3 make sure the defendants get it, too. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Anything else on 5 that? Yeah, Elaine. 6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Judge Lawrence, what is 7 different about 737.4 and service and return under 536 and 8 537? Are they -- is all of that applicable? HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well --9 10 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Except for attaching 11 exhibits. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, one thing that's different is that we want the citation returned at 13 14 least one day prior to the day assigned for trial, and that's a problem with evictions, because the constables 15 16 can return these citations on the day of trial, so if the docket is at 9:00 o'clock, we can't proceed until we get 17 18 the citation back, so -- and we have to reset. So we want 19 these things at least one day before so we know that we 20 have the citation before we go to trial. That's one thing 21 that's different. I don't know that it's exactly like 536. We looked at 536 and 537. We also looked at 739, 22 23 740 and 742 and 742a in these next two rules. I don't know that they're identical, but they were modeled on 24 25 those rules, if that's what you're asking.

1	PROFESSOR CARLSON: Well, I guess what I'm
2	asking is I see, for example, in 536a, for example, if an
3	authorized person accomplishes service of citation they
4	file a verified return. Are you incorporating that here,
5	or is this different?
6	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the last
7	sentence we were trying not to reprint everything in
8	536.
9	PROFESSOR CARLSON: Right.
10	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: So we put the
11	basics in there, and then the last sentence we intended,
12	"The person serving process shall return and serve it in
13	accordance with the justice court rules in part five of
14	the Rules of Civil Procedure."
15	PROFESSOR CARLSON: So that's an additional
16	requirement, whatever is in 536 and 536a that's not
17	different than what's in 737.4 is supposed to be complied
18	with?
19	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes.
20	PROFESSOR CARLSON: Because I got confused
21	on what the officer is supposed to be doing.
22	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we were
23	trying to avoid reprinting that entire text of what's in
24	536.
25	PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay.

1	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But we can do that
2	if that troubles anybody. But we thought that we hit the
3	highlights of that and then referred to the rule. I don't
4	think there's anything that's inconsistent, other than the
5	requirement that it be returned one day prior, and that
6	really is more an eviction rule type of problem, not
7	necessarily a justice court rule problem.
8	PROFESSOR CARLSON: So if the citation can't
9	be served then the officer would need to comply with 536a
10	and set forth the diligence used and
11	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: And that's in
12	alternate service that we get to. The serving someone
13	over the age of 16 and attaching it to the door is going
14	to be the next rule that we get to.
15	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Speaking of that,
16	let's go to that.
17	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay.
18	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: .5. Yeah, Justice
19	Gaultney. Sorry.
20	HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: Maybe I'm missing
21	something, but if there are no exhibits attached to the
22	petition, can any exhibits be offered at trial?
23	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Certainly. It's
24	not
25	HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: This says

"including any exhibits." That just means anything that 1 2 is voluntarily attached? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Anything that Yes. the plaintiff brings, the tenant brings in, and says, "I 4 5 want this attached to the petition," then under this 6 proposal they would be attached to the petition served. 7 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: So this is not a 8 strict notice requirement of any exhibits you're going to 9 intend to offer at trial? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, you don't have 11 to attach anything if you don't want to, but you can 12 attach whatever you want to attach, if you choose to; and 13 what Robert's saying is that some tenants just feel the 14 need to attach all sorts of things, letters, notices. Not 15 all on the task force thought that exhibits ought to be attached, but that was the majority view. 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Anything else? 18 Okay, .5. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: This is alternate 20 service. We ran all of these citation rules by a couple 21 of deputy constables, both of whom have served on another 22 task force that are familiar with this process, and they 23 didn't have any problems with the way we're doing it, but 24 what we're trying to do is overcome the problem with

1 be found or the agent that can't be found for whatever 2 reason. So if you don't get them served then nothing is 3 ever going to happen, so you've got to have some mechanism 4 in order to serve them. So we borrowed heavily from the 5 eviction rules, Rule 742a, which is the eviction alternate 6 service rule.

7 We borrowed heavily from that, but it's a little bit different because the problem with landlords, 8 9 unlike with tenants, is that in tenants, the tenant is in 10 the precinct. In other words, the suit has to be filed in the same precinct that the property is located in, so you 11 have one constable or sheriff or whoever that's serving 12 13 that's going to be serving that tenant. So they go out 14 and they can't get the tenant to answer the door, they 15 come back, they get a Rule 742a alternate, and they attach 16 it to the door. So that's not really a problem, but with 17 landlords it's a little bit different because there's no 18 guarantee that all of these people that are going to be 19 listed as possible -- as possible for service are going to 20 be in the same precinct. They may be in different precincts. What that means is if you send the citation to 21 22 the constable in precinct one, who tries to serve 23 somebody, he can't do it, the next address is in precinct 24 It has to go to that constable, who tries to serve two. 25 it, or it may be out of state, depending on where the

1 owner lives.

2 So it's a little more cumbersome for alternate service, so we've modified Rule 742a a little 3 bit, and just to give you the highlight, is that the 4 5 service addresses that are listed in the complaint -- and That's another reason we wanted that 6 that's part two. 7 information in part two. That's all the places that you 8 can serve the tenant, or serve the landlord, excuse me. 9 So you go out and you make two attempts at service to 10 personally serve them, and if you can't personally serve 11 them, you come back and you get an authorization from the 12 court to make alternate service. 13 The court then goes out and makes one

14 attempt at each location to serve somebody over the age of 15 16, and if they are unsuccessful in that then they can 16 simply slide it under the door, through a mail slot, or 17 attach it to the door at one of those locations. This was 18 the most streamlined procedure we could come up with that 19 would make sure that they were trying to serve everybody, 20 consistent with what we do on evictions, but yet ensure 21 that someone could be served so the suit could go forward. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Justice Gray. 23 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Just two comments. Ιf 24 there is a form promulgated, it would have to have the 25 option of some items that are available but not necessary, and this would be one of them because it appears to be 1 optional to list all these addresses and then include the 2 3 statement that these are all the addresses, that the person knows of no other addresses at which the landlord 4 5 could be served. So that seems to be an option available to the tenant in the event that they choose to file the 6 7 petition, and I notice that right in the middle of the 8 second paragraph of 735.5 you use the term "complaint." Is that something different than a petition? 9 It's the 10 seventh line down right in the middle of the page. Ι 11 think that's probably just one of those instances where a 12 different word was used, but it looks like it --13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I think it's fair to state that I missed that one. For some reason I 14 15 thought I caught everything, but that should be "petition," you're right. 16 17 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okav. 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The reason that 19 it's -- that it's optional to list these addresses is that 20 it may be that the landlord is the owner and the rent is 21 paid to the owner, and that's the person that would be served, there are no alternative addresses. Or it may be 22 23 that the landlord has provided the tenant with the name of the landlord's management company in writing, and that's 24 25 the person that would be served. So you may only have one

I would think you would very rarely have more 1 person. 2 than two. You're going to have the owner maybe and 3 whoever collects the rent would probably be the maximum, so normally you're going to have one, you may have two in 4 5 many cases, but that's usually all you're going to have. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Anybody else 7 on .5? Yeah, Carl. 8 MR. HAMILTON: In the paragraph above the 9 (a) you say that if the justice can authorize service, 10 anyone over 16, but if the sheriff is unsuccessful -- I assume that means in serving someone over 16 -- then he 11 can do the following. Then again, we're going to serve 12 someone over 16. 13 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, I think 15 you're right. I think maybe we need to -- in the second paragraph we probably need to cut out part of that 16 language, because it is repetitive, isn't it? Well, or 17 18 what we need to do probably is cut it out in (a) maybe. 19 MR. HAMILTON: Cut it out in (a), yes. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I think you're 21 right. That's a good point. We -- the task force met 22 three times, and we had flurries of e-mails, but we were 23 still trying to correct language on the deadline date. 24 And, by the way, we got this in on time and under budget, 25 too.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: A rarity these days. 1 2 There may be HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. 3 a few things like that that we probably overlooked, and 4 that was probably because we changed something and I just 5 didn't catch it, but I think you're right. I think (a) probably needs to be -- we need to take some of that out. 6 7 Good point. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Anything else on .5? 9 Okay, why don't we go to .6? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right, .6 is 11 representation by agents, and this is similar to -- I think it's rule 747 and also 24.007 or 009 of the Property 12 Code that allows -- in an eviction case allows a landlord 13 14 or a tenant to be represented by an agent, and typically 15 it's the landlord having the management company come in, apartment manager come in, but sometimes we get tenants 16 17 that have someone come in because the tenant has to work 18 and they get their relative to come in and represent them. 19 So this is just really a continuation of that. It's a 20 fair thing to do in these types of cases. 21 Now, the second sentence is added because I 22 have a lot of people that decide that they are -- they are tenant attorneys, and they come in wanting to represent 23 24 tenants. They're not lawyers, and the tenant is there, 25 but they want to act like their lawyer, which we believe to be unauthorized practice of law, so what we're trying 1 to say here is that "Nothing in this rule shall authorize 2 3 a person who is not an attorney licensed to practice law in this state to represent a party before the court if the 4 5 party is present." Now, it would be permissible under the 6 rules if the tenant were not there or the landlord were 7 not there for that person to speak for them and to 8 represent them, but if they're there, we don't think they 9 ought to act like an attorney and represent them in court. 10 So that's the purpose of that sentence.

11 But what if the person is going to MR. LOW: be a witness, the landlord, I mean, they're going to claim 12 13 "I told you at a party," but this management company, they handle all of it, and they could go down just because the 14 15 person -- the owner is going to be there, then the management company can't represent him as they could just 16 because he might be a witness, they brought him in as a 17 18 witness, and he's going to have to do it himself or stay 19 away.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that sentence is -- well, now, the first sentence of Rule 6 is almost identical to Rule 747 that we have now and also a specific provision in the Texas Property Code. That first sentence is not a change. I mean, that's been the law for a long, long time.

1	MR. LOW: No, I'm not questioning that. I'm
2	just questioning under this rule, would that be say
3	Richard, somebody he owns some houses and one of
4	them and so he's he might be called as a witness
5	because they may say that they told him about this defect
6	at a party. He doesn't want to handle it. He doesn't do
7	that, so he's got a management company that handles
8	they do all of that, and they can do that. Just because
9	Richard's going to be there then the management company
10	can't do it, and Richard would have to do it himself, be
11	his lawyer.
12	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think that
13	that's the law now. I think if the party is there then
14	the party is supposed to be you know, the party before
15	the court being the responsible party who can call
16	whatever other witnesses they want to call and can call
17	themselves as a witness, but correct me if I'm wrong, but
18	I think that's exactly what the law is now.
19	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: What if the landlord
20	doesn't isn't there at the beginning? He just comes in
21	later
22	MR. LOW: Yeah.
23	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: as a witness. Is that
24	okay, or does the management company then have to stop and
25	turn it over to the landlord who's there?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know 1 2 that I've ever been faced with that, but I think if the 3 landlord got there, that at that point I would insist that the landlord be --4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Take over. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: -- take up the 7 proceeding, because I believe that's what the law requires 8 now. 9 MR. LOW: So you're suggesting landlords 10 stay away? 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, no, not at 12 all. 13 MR. LOW: No, I'm kidding. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Only this committee could 15 have thought of that hypothetical. Richard Munzinger, and 16 then Frank. 17 MR. MUNZINGER: I'm just curious if the word 18 "appear" were substituted for the word "representation" 19 would it clear some of that up a little bit? I don't 20 know. And also, you just answered my question about the 21 disjunctive "or be represented." You couldn't have both 22 present. That's what the judge just said, but if you said 23 "appear by," "appear in person or by agent" that may remove the concern that somebody is acting as a lawyer 24 25 that shouldn't be.

HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Is that 1 consistent with the statute, Judge Lawrence? 2 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I believe that we tracked the statute. The statute says, "Parties 4 5 may represent themselves or be represented by authorized 6 agent." Parties -- no, we tracked the statute. We 7 tracked the rule and the statute. I mean, this is both in 8 the Property Code and in the Rules of Procedure. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Frank Gilstrap. 10 MR. GILSTRAP: I understand that you're 11 adding the second sentence to proposed Rule 737.6 to keep 12 unauthorized people from practicing law for tenants in 13 these proceedings, but it -- you know, you don't have it 14 in Rule 747(a), and it seemed -- even though this suit 15 involves -- contemplates a suit by the tenant against the 16 landlord and eviction contemplates a suit by landlord 17 against tenant, it would seem to me there is no difference 18 in this situation. If it's in one, it ought to be in the 19 other. In fact, I think if you put it in 747(a) and don't 20 put it in -- excuse me, if you put it in this rule, 737.6, 21 and don't put it in 747(a) I think the unauthorized 22 attorney could come in and say, you know, "I'm not 23 excluded," you know. "They excluded me here, but they didn't exclude me in eviction, so I've got a right to be 24 25 here."

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: If that's a motion 1 2 to amend 747(a), I second it. 3 MR. GILSTRAP: And second, I mean, this doesn't -- none of this prevents an unauthorized attorney 4 5 as an unlicensed attorney from representing landlords as 6 long as the landlord is not present. 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's right. 8 MR. GILSTRAP: It permits it, in fact. So 9 someone could set up a practice. "I'm not a lawyer, but 10 I'm good at it, and you're a bunch of apartment owners, and I'm going to represent you and cut you a good deal, 11 and I'm not a lawyer." Okay. 12 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's what the 14 Legislature has provided and the Court. 15 MR. GILSTRAP: All right. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Anything more on .6? .7. 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. "Docketing, appearance, and trial." (a) is "The case 18 19 shall be docketed and tried as other cases; (b), the 20 appearance date on citation shall constitute the trial 21 date," because that's what we believe the statute says, is 22 that it be handled -- I forget the exact language, but 23 within 6 to 10 days. 24 (c), "Any party shall have the right to 25 trial by jury by making a request to the court within five

1 days after the date the landlord is served with citation
2 by paying a jury fee. If either party demands a jury, the 3 jury shall be empanelled as soon as practicable. If 4 neither party demands a jury, the justice shall try the 5 case.

(d), "The justice may continue the trial for 6 7 good cause shown. Continuances should be limited, and the 8 case should be reset for trial on an expedited basis." We 9 know that the Legislature says you need to handle these 10 within 6 to 10 days, but there are things that are going to come up that are going to dictate a continuance, both 11 12 from the tenant's side and the landlord's side, and we need to have some mechanism to do that, but we're trying 13 14 to get across that it should be limited and for good 15 cause.

16 (e), "If the tenant appears at trial and the landlord has been duly served and fails to appear at the 17 18 trial, justice may proceed to hear evidence. If the 19 tenant establishes that the tenant is entitled to recover, 20 the justice shall render judgment against the landlord in accordance with the evidence." That's the default 21 22 judgment provision, and then (f), "If the tenant fails to 23 appear for trial the justice on motion of the landlord may dismiss the suit," and that's the DWOP provision. 24 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Comments? Justice

2	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Under (c), while I
3	always prefer shorter as opposed to longer, you use the
4	word "the justice shall try the case." I would wonder if
5	"the justice shall decide the case" would not be better in
6	that circumstance, and in (f) I don't know why the justice
7	should have to wait for the landlord to make the motion to
8	dismiss the suit. They ought to be able to do it sua
9	sponte, on their own motion.
10	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, my opinion on

11 that is that the -- is that the judge should not advocate 12 rights for a party by on his own motion dismissing in a 13 situation like this, that the motion needs to come from 14 the party and the judge act on it as opposed to the judge 15 deciding that he'll enforce some rights for a party on his 16 own motion.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Then don't make it on his own motion. Just "the judge shall dismiss the case." If the petitioner doesn't show up, the tenant doesn't show up, the justice shall dismiss the suit. Then he's not making a motion.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we just thought it was cleaner that there be a motion. We're going to have a motion on a default judgment.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: You have a pro se landlord. He doesn't know he needs to move to dismiss if 1 2 the tenant doesn't show up. What happens? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, he gets hints. 4 5 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: "If you move to 6 dismiss, I will?" 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: "Do I hear a motion to 8 dismiss? I thought so." Ralph had his hand up. MR. DUGGINS: Under (c), the jury request, 9 10 you've also got similar language in 737.3. I'd like to 11 suggest you delete the language in 737.3, the second paragraph, since you have it here and ask whether or not 12 13 this request, you ought to have the word "written" in 14 front of "request." I just don't feel strongly about it, 15 I just ask that question. 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We know that there is also a provision in 3, and I guess we thought it would 17 18 be better to, I quess, provide a lot of notice on this and 19 have it in two places. Yeah, it is duplicative, but we 20 thought it needed to be in 3, and we thought it needed to be here in 7. 21 22 MR. DUGGINS: But where do you advise the 23 plaintiff that the plaintiff can do it like you advise the defendant in citation? 24 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, right here.

I think 3 also tells them that, but I think 7 certainly 1 2 tells them that. It says, "Any party shall have the right 3 to trial by jury." MR. DUGGINS: I know, but in the citation 4 5 you're specifically admonishing a defendant that he or she 6 or it pursue a jury trial by doing -- making the request 7 and paying a fee. We don't have a similar admonition to 8 the plaintiff. 9 MR. DOGGETT: Maybe the form could say, "Do 10 you want a jury?" 11 MR. DUGGINS: That's fine, but I think it ought to be both ways if you're going to tell people that. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know 13 14 how you -- other than putting it in the rule how would 15 you -- how would you tell the tenant? Because it's the 16 landlord that's getting served the citation that we get 17 that notice. 18 MR. DUGGINS: Put it in the form that you 19 may try the case to a jury, check this box, and pay 20 whatever the fee is. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, Jeff. 22 MR. BOYD: Yeah, related to that, the 23 language of 737.7(c) as written sounds like if you're 24 going to request a jury you can't do it until after the 25 landlord has been served, and I assume the intent is that

1	the plaintiff could request the jury in the written
2	petition.
3	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well
4	MR. BOYD: It certainly has to be no later
5	than five days after the landlord is served, but as
6	written to say "within five days," you have to make the
7	request within five days, it's unclear. It sounds like
8	they can't do it until service has occurred.
9	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's the
10	way Rule 744 is for evictions, and we just parroted that,
11	but you're right. The tenant would have to know when he
12	was served and come in within that five days. We don't
13	mean to preclude a landlord or, I mean, a tenant from
14	requesting a jury trial when they file it. We don't mean
15	to preclude that.
16	MR. BOYD: So you might just change the word
17	"within" to "no later than."
18	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. Right.
19	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: "No later than."
20	Okay.
21	HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Chip?
22	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Yelenosky.
23	HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Why do we even
24	need (d), (e), and (f)? I don't think we say those things
25	with respect to any other appearance or failure to appear or continuance, do we? 1 I mean --2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. 3 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: I mean, I don't know of anything in the Texas Rules of Civil 4 5 Procedure for district or -- for district courts where it tells you what you do if somebody doesn't appear for 6 7 trial. 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, there is in JP court in the 500 series. 9 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Oh, there is? 10 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. Yeah. That's why we put this in there, because it's currently 12 existing. You need to have some mechanism to explain how 13 14 these cases are handled. I mean, if you don't put 15 anything, you're just sort of leaving it up to everyone to interpret what they ought to do, so here you're setting 16 17 forth that if the landlord doesn't -- if the landlord 18 doesn't show up, the tenant can move for default; tenant 19 doesn't show up, the landlord can move for dismissal. Ι 20 mean, you're setting it all out so everybody understands 21 the process. 22 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Okay. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Elaine, then Harvey. 24 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Yeah, 737.7(f), I like 25 the fact that it's on motion of the landlord, because in a Rule 165a dealing with DWOPs, when it's on the court's on 1 2 motion, has a lot of procedural protections that aren't 3 incorporated here, and maybe they don't need to be because I quess if the tenant's case gets dismissed it's without 4 5 If it's still not repaired, I guess you have a prejudice. new cause of action. 6 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. Right. 8 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: But that's 9 different when somebody doesn't show up for trial. Ι 10 mean, it's not a dismissal. It's just if they don't show up for trial, how are they ever going to meet their 11 burden. You just render a take-nothing judgment. Why do 12 13 you need --HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 14 Well, this is 15 consistent with Rule 538, Rule -- oh, let's see --16 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: I mean, it's not as if you have a DWOP, a motion to dismiss, where the 17 18 parties are acting outside the context of a setting on the 19 merits. You have a setting on the merits, one side 20 doesn't show. We all sort of know -- well, we, judges, 21 should know what to do in that instance, who has the burden, who's there. 22 23 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: This is standard practice in justice court under Rule 538, and we tried to 24 25 keep these consistent with the eviction rules and the justice court rules as much as possible. This spells it 1 2 out. I don't think it hurts anything by being in there, 3 and it provides some clarity to the litigants and the 4 court as to how they proceed. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Harvey. 6 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: On subpart (d) I 7 wondered, Judge, why you use the verb "should be reset." "Should be" rather than "must" or "shall" there. 8 That 9 seems to give a little more discretion, and in light of 10 the legislative mandate of 6 to 10 days, I was curious 11 about that. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Just giving the 13 trial judge some discretion. 14 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: Over and above the 15 discretion the expedited basis already gives them? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know that there is a lot of conscious thought to that 17 18 particular word. I don't know. I don't have a strong 19 feeling one way or the other about it. I think "should" 20 was there just to provide guidance more than specifics. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: It's pretty hard to say it's limited, but it "shall be limited." It's either 22 23 limited or it isn't. 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, "should be reset on an expedited basis," "shall be reset," what is 25 the real practical difference of that? What does 1 "expedited basis" mean? I mean, it's kind of a nebulous 2 3 term, so I don't know that the modifier makes much difference with that ultimately. 4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Hecht, did you 6 have something? 7 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Yes. What is the 8 jury practice in these kinds of cases? 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I knew somebody was 10 going to ask me about that. Here's the problem. You 11 can't always get a case to jury trial within 6 to 10 days. 12 It's just not possible. If somebody comes in on the fifth 13 day after service and says they want a jury trial, you're 14 in all likelihood not going to get that jury trial within 15 6 to 10 days after the date of service, because that only gives you, what, 2 to 5 days to get it in. So what 16 happens is that you try to get it as quickly as possible. 17 18 You try to set it on the next jury docket. 19 Those of us in the urban counties typically 20 get our jurors from the central jury pool. We have to 21 give them our jury dates a month in advance. If I call 22 down to the jury pool and say, "I need a jury out here on 23 next Tuesday," they might not laugh at me, but I'm not 24 going to get it, you know, and --25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: They respectfully

1 decline.

2	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, they would
3	respectfully decline, so that's why it's as soon as
4	practicable because it's just not going to happen within 6
5	to 10 days. Now, you might hit it lucky, and that happens
6	from time to time that you've got a jury docket set within
7	that time period and you can add it to it or you can get
8	it quickly after, but that's why we say "as soon as
9	practical" because you can't always do it within 6 to 10
10	days.
11	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: So why should there
12	be juries in these cases? It looks like it's just a
13	built-in delay.
14	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I guess
15	that's kind of a policy matter for the Court as to whether
16	they would want to deny a jury trial on these. We didn't
17	even talk about the possibility of not having one. It was
18	just kind of understood.
19	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Damages can be up
20	to 10,000?
21	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes, capped at
22	10,000.
23	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: But I suppose a lot
24	of cases are about broken things and sort of repairs
25	that

ſ
1	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I would say leaky
2	water pipes, toilets, would be a high percentage of the
3	types of cases you get, but leaky roofs. You know, in
4	Hurricane Ike you had a lot of roofs and things of that
5	type. Maybe power off. Robert probably has a better feel
6	for the types of causes of action, but I would say
7	plumbing is going to be at the top of the list.
8	MR. DOGGETT: Electrical, there's all kinds
9	of damages or issues that weren't repaired that landlords
10	don't want to spend the money on repairs.
11	Air-conditioning, especially in South Texas, is a major
12	problem, but your question is a good one. It wasn't
13	discussed heavily. Evictions, of course, there is that
14	right. There is a de novo appeal from a JP court, of
15	course, to the county court, and so it can be a whole new
16	jury trial. It's a reasonable question.
17	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: How often are juries
18	demanded?
19	MR. DOGGETT: I would tell you rarely, but I
20	think Judge Lawrence would have a
21	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Lawrence, how often
22	are juries demanded?
23	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: In evictions?
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No, no, no. In these
25	repair situations.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Who knows. 1 Never 2 had one. I've never talked to anybody that's ever seen 3 one, a repair case, filed under this particular section. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. 4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The only county court at law judge that I was able to get a response back 6 7 from has been there 10 years and never heard of one. 8 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: But how many in 9 eviction cases? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, gosh. I do probably 2,500 evictions a year, and I probably have 11 12 eviction jury trials maybe 10, and of those 10 I might 13 have four or five actually go, so very few. 14 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Wendy, what's your 15 view of a jury in these cases? 16 MS. WILSON: Well, your Honor, we really didn't talk about this, and, you know, I mean, again, I'd 17 reiterate what Robert said earlier in that they are 18 19 allowed in evictions, and we tried to -- the idea was to 20 have these proceedings be similar to those in evictions, 21 but again, because of the expedited nature of them, you 22 know, I think probably the reality is they won't -- there 23 won't be juries requested. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: In a writ of 24 25 re-entry, which is -- it's similar in that it's expedited

1	and there's a possibility of going to jail for contempt,
2	but there's no money judgment for damages, but it's sort
3	of similar. There's no jury trial in that, and the order
4	of restoration, I don't think there's a jury trial in
5	that. So there are some somewhat similar things the
6	Legislature has done that has not provided for jury
7	trials. The only difference is that you do have you
8	will end up with a judgment that
9	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: That you can appeal
10	de novo?
11	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: that you can
12	appeal de novo without posting an appeal bond, so there is
13	that protection.
14	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher, you
15	had your hand up a minute ago?
16	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Oh, this was
17	just on the continuances. In the other JP rules, "for 18	good cause shown supported by affidavit of either party,"
19	y'all have dropped that out of this on purpose?
20	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, on purpose.
21	We thought that was kind of cumbersome to do that,
22	particularly with this 6- to 10-day requirement, that you
23	require somebody to in a short period of time to come down
24	with an affidavit, and so we relaxed that a little bit.
25	It's up to the court to decide to grant it or not, so

1	there's you know, there's a stop there, but we thought
2	the affidavit was just a little cumbersome.
3	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Frank.
4	MR. GILSTRAP: I want to go back to the
5	question of the parallelism between this proposal, which
6	is going to be section two of the special proceedings, and
7	forcible entry, which is going to be which is section
8	three. It looks to me like this is covering the same
9	material that's covered in Rule 743 through 747 and also
10	748 in the forcible entry rules. What can you tell me
11	if there are any differences and are those differences
12	significant, or is it basically going to be more or less
13	the same in both type proceedings?
14	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think that,
15	you know, the base for these, for these set of rules, was
16	the eviction rules, the small claims court rules, and the
17	justice court rules. I don't know that we except with 18	a few exceptions, we didn't reprint things exactly. We
19	changed things to make it work for these rules, and I
20	think in some cases we improved it.
21	MR. GILSTRAP: I understand. I'm saying I
22	guess, you know, but a lot of these changes then could be
23	also made in the forcible rules.
24	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: If that's a motion,
25	I'll second it.

MR. GILSTRAP: I'm just concerned about --1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You're getting a lot done 3 today. 4 MR. GILSTRAP: I'm just concerned about 5 clever lawyers scrutinizing these things and saying, "A-ha, it's in the rules for landlord repair, but not in 6 7 the eviction rules, and there's some significance to 8 that." 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Completely different causes of action, different parts of the rule, I 10 11 wouldn't think that would be much of an argument that would be successful, but, yeah, I guess it could be made. 12 13 MR. DOGGETT: And it's about ready to be 14 made in a few minutes when we get to the contempt issue. 15 No offense. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: I knew there was some clever lawyers here. Buddy. 17 18 MR. LOW: Yeah, you were asked about the 19 continuance, and you dealt specifically with that, but Rule 566 provides default or dismissal and motions for new 20 21 trial. I know you can't meet within the six-day deadline. 22 Did y'all -- is there anything in there that says that 566 23 doesn't apply to this proceeding? 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. We get to that 25 later.

Okay. All right. 1 MR. LOW: That's in later 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 3 rules where we start talking about appeals and motions for new trial, but we'll deal with that a little bit later. 4 5 MR. LOW: You had dealt with it up here and 6 Tracy asked about --7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We're on pretrial 8 right now. 9 MR. LOW: Okay. 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Let's take our morning 11 break. 15 minutes. 12 (Recess from 10:45 a.m. to 11:13 a.m.) 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Judge Lawrence, 14 let's get the firing squad back in place and start 15 shooting. .8. 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We were on 16; is that right? 17 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, we were on .16. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. 8, 20 judgment. "A justice may enter a judgment against a 21 landlord for failure to repair or remedy condition at the 22 leased premises. If the total judgment including the 23 order directing the landlord to repair or remedy a condition does not exceed 10,000, excluding interest and 24 25 costs of court." This 10,000 is an absolute cap.

Normally I can render judgment for more than 10,000 if the 1 2 amount in controversy goes up solely because of the 3 passage of time, but not with this. This is absolutely capped by the statute at 10,000, and this becomes a 4 5 problem, as we're going to see a little bit later, because you're going to have a landlord saying that, "Yeah, I can 6 7 repair this for $6,000." Then they may come back five 8 days later and say, "I just got my contractor out there, 9 it's going to take 11,000," and all the sudden you've got 10 a jurisdiction problem. So this 10,000 is an important 11 number because it can never exceed 10,000 exclusive of 12 costs and interest.

13 "The judgment may, (a), order the landlord 14 to take reasonable action to repair or remedy the 15 (b), order the landlord to reduce the tenant's condition. 16 rent." Now, this reduction of rent, keep in mind, what you're saying is -- is that, all right, I got a notice to 17 18 repair. The landlord got a notice to repair November the 19 1st, and I decide that, yeah, this condition materially 20 affects your health or safety. I'm going to order the 21 rent to be reduced. It relates back to the date of the 22 notice. So ultimately, if you look at the judgment that 23 I've got attached on this other handout, the judgment is going to be that the rent is reduced from 800 a month to 24 25 600 a month from November 1st, and then that goes on until

1 the condition is remedied or repaired.

2 So there are two ways that could happen. 3 One way that could happen is if the judge enters an order to repair at the same time the order to reduce rent 4 5 occurs, then the order to reduce rent is going to terminate and revert back to the market rent on the 6 7 completion date of the order to repair. That's a 8 relatively clean concept and works out well without the 9 necessity of an additional hearing. But if the landlord 10 does -- if the judge does not order the landlord to repair 11 something, for example, just says -- well, it may have already been repaired, and they come in and they say, "I'm 12 13 not going to order it to be repaired or remedied, but I'm 14 going to reduce the rent and I'm going to grant these 15 other damages." 16

So if the rent is reduced, let's say that there's no order to repair and the rent is reduced 17 conditioned upon this problem with the leasehold, then 18 19 you've got to have some way to determine when that order 20 to repair goes out of effect and it reverts back to market 21 rent, and that's going to require another hearing. So when you read 8 and then you read 11 later, that's all 22 23 going to be about the reduction of the rent. It's going to be cumbersome if you don't have an order to repair. 24 25 I'm hoping that most of these will have orders to repair, and it's going to be clean, and you're not going to have to have another hearing, but there may be some, because there are five separate things you can sue for, the tenant may not ask for the order to repair, the court may not grant the order to repair but may grant the other four, and so we've got to have some mechanism in the rules to account for that.

8 So that gets us to where we are in (b). 9 "Order the landlord to reduce the tenant's rent from the 10 date of the first repair notice in proportion to the 11 reduced rental value resulting from the condition until 12 the condition is repaired or remedied, as long as the order reducing the rent states the amount of the rent to 13 14 be paid by the tenant, if any, the frequency with which 15 the rent is to be paid, the condition justifying the 16 reduction of the rent, the effective date of the rent reduction, and the termination date of the order reducing 17 18 rent.

"On the date the rent reduction terminates the rent will revert to the rent specified in the lease agreement. If an order to repair or remedy is issued in addition to an order to reduce the tenant's rent then the reduction in rent automatically terminates on the completion date set in the order to repair or remedy, after which the rent returns to the rent amount in the 1 lease. 2 "(2), if the justice did not issue an order 3 to remedy" -- "to repair or remedy in addition to the order to reduce the tenant's rent then the court must hold 4 5 a hearing to determine when the condition has been repaired or remedied and may modify the rent reduction 6 7 based on that determination." 8 Then (c), (d), and (e) are just the other 9 aspects of 92.0563, the civil penalty, actual damages, and 10 court costs and attorney's fees. But the hard part, the part in this that's the tricky part, is (b), the reduction 11 12 of rent. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any comments? 14 Yeah, Ralph. 15 MR. DUGGINS: Why wouldn't you just take 16 what's in the first paragraph and insert that in (a)? 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, (a) deals 18 with the order to repair or remedy. That's separate from 19 the order to reduce rent. 20 MR. DUGGINS: No, I'm talking about the 21 first paragraph says that "the order directing a landlord 22 to repair or remedy does not exceed $10,000." Why 23 wouldn't you take out -- take that language out of that and add it in (a)? "Order the landlord to take reasonable 24 25 action to repair or remedy the condition, provided that it may not exceed $10,000." 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Because you're 3 talking about the total judgment. It's not just the order 4 to repair. 5 MR. DUGGINS: Oh, okay. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It's everything 7 can't be more than 10,000. 8 MR. DUGGINS: I think that could probably 9 stand some clarification then. I mean, make that clear 10 that the total judgment may not under any circumstances 11 exceed. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we say that I think about three times in the rules. I mean, I don't 13 14 know how else we could do it. We tried to repeat that on 15 a number of different occasions, but I -- I mean, we can try to redo that. 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 18 MR. HAMILTON: Do I understand that you can 19 order a rent reduction if there is a repair that needs to 20 be made, but let's say it costs over $10,000, so you can't 21 order it done, but you just order the rent reduced? 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, you know, 23 that's a jurisdiction question that's going to come up. 24 You know, I guess the -- like any other jurisdiction issue 25 like that where you've got an amount in controversy problem, I think that the tenant could choose to abandon 1 2 the order to repair and not sue for that and get within 3 the court's jurisdictional limit, and you could order the rest of that. Because you've got five separate things to 4 5 sue for, and somebody may correct my analysis here, but I believe when you've got five separate things that you 6 7 could choose to abandon any part of that and just sue for 8 the other parts to get within the jurisdictional limit of 9 10,000, but if you say, "No, I want it repaired" and the 10 repairs are 8,000 and the value of the reduction of rent 11 is a thousand and then you've got these actual and statutory damages that get you over 10,000, then I'm going 12 to dismiss that for want of jurisdiction at that point if 13 14 the tenant insists on proceeding with all of that and I 15 believe that the repairs are really going to cost 8,000. 16 I mean, there is an element that the 17 landlord is going to have to prove what those repairs 18 cost. 19 MR. HAMILTON: Why would you not always 20 enter an order requiring repairs? Why leave that open to 21 have a hearing later on? 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's not my 23 choice. I mean, the tenant may not ask for an order to 24 repair, or there may be -- and don't ask me what 25 circumstance it would be, but there may be some circumstance that I would not order the landlord to repair 1 2 for whatever reason. I mean, it's one of five different 3 causes of action. It's possible it either won't be pled or won't be granted, and you have to take that into 4 5 consideration if it's possible. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Pam. 7 MS. BARON: Yeah, I think, on amount in 8 controversy, I think the cases are pretty clear that you 9 can drop certain elements of damages to stay within the 10 jurisdiction of the particular court. What's odd to me 11 about this is that normally you would not include an order 12 for somebody to go take an action as included within the 13 amount of the judgment, but it looks like the statute here 14 says the judgment including the order to repair can't 15 exceed $10,000, so it does look like you have to value that, which is an unusual way to calculate an amount in 16 controversy, but is that what you concluded, that the 17 18 statute --19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. 20 MS. BARON: -- required that? 21 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. And look at 22 the judgment form I dummied up. It's a funny-looking 23 judgment form because you've got part of the judgment that 24 is really -- that you can execute on and part of the 25 judgment that's part of the amount in controversy that you can't levy and execute on. 1 2 Right. MS. BARON: 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I've never seen a judgment like that, but that's exactly what the statute 4 5 seems to require. Yeah, it's funny, but --CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 6 Frank. 7 MR. GILSTRAP: If the landlord comes in and 8 proves that the repairs are going to cost $11,000, does he 9 get the suit dismissed? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Absolutely. If the 11 tenant wants to keep on with the order to repair, then, yeah, the suit's going to have to be dismissed. 12 13 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: But then he's going 14 to district court, right? 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: He can go to county or district court. 16 17 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Bound by his 18 $11,000. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. He doesn't 20 lose his cause of action. He just can't do it in JP 21 court. 22 MR. GILSTRAP: He has to come up with 23 another $92. 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it's a little 25 more than that.

I mean, is that right, is it 1 MR. JEFFERSON: 2 -- I mean, the statute just says that a justice court may 3 not award a judgment that exceeds $10,000. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. 4 5 MR. JEFFERSON: Okay. So, I mean, if you 6 prove repairs that are greater than $10,000, why wouldn't 7 the judgment just be $10,000? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, well, because I 9 think the law is, is if the amount in controversy is over 10 my jurisdictional limit I have to dismiss for want of jurisdiction. 11 12 I guess I'm questioning MR. JEFFERSON: whether this is really a jurisdictional limitation. 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think it 14 15 I mean, I have a limit -- I have a jurisdictional is. limit anyway of 10,000, and then this caps it at 10,000 in 16 addition to that, but even outside of that, I'm going to 17 18 have a -- I mean, there's case law that says that if the 19 amount in controversy is outside of my jurisdictional 20 limit I'm supposed to dismiss it. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Lamont's point is that this may not be an amount in controversy. 22 23 I mean, the statute doesn't MR. JEFFERSON: 24 seem to say that. It says you can't award a judgment more 25 than $10,000, but it doesn't say you can't take the case.

1	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But the Chapter 27
2	of the Government Code says that I have a limit of 10,000
3	on civil suits in my court, and if the amount in
4	controversy is over that there are two different things
5	that mandate a judgment of no more than 10,000. One is
6	this specific statute, and the other is Chapter 27 of the
7	Government Code that also says I can't render a judgment
8	over 10,000, but that at least has some latitude that
9	there's some circumstances I can go over it, but still, if
10	it's if the pleading is 10,000 or is more than 10,000
11	and it doesn't meet some of these exceptions then
12	typically I have to dismiss for want of jurisdiction.
13	MR. JEFFERSON: I mean, I hear what you're
14	saying as far as if the Government Code says you can't
15	take a case that has an amount in controversy over
16	$10,000. This seems to say you can't have an amount in
17	controversy in justice court that's over $10,000, and so
18	you could take you could take the case, but you just
19	can't award a judgment that's over that number. You know,
20	I think it probably requires some judicial interpretation,
21	but
22	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, see, I'm not
23	going to know at the time the suit is filed what the
24	amount in controversy is, other than the plea may be for
25	actual damages and the statutory damages, civil penalty of 500 plus a month's rent. I may know what those are, but 1 I'm not going to have any idea how much the repair is 2 3 going to be until the landlord comes in and tells me how much it's going to cost. That's when I'm going to realize 4 5 I may have a jurisdiction problem. It's probably not going to be when the suit is filed that that comes to my 6 7 attention. It's going to be after I get proof on the 8 amount to repair.

9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Roger had his hand up. 10 MR. HUGHES: No, I -- just echoing Mr. 11 Jefferson's comment, but it seems to me if you start off saying that you have a jurisdictional statute limiting the 12 amount in controversy to $10,000, if I remember the case 13 14 law, if the damages grow in the interim you can render a 15 judgment in excess, but it seems to me that what we've done -- what's going on here is the Government Code says 16 you have to start off with no more than 10,000, and then 17 18 you have a statute that says the most you can award is 19 10,000 at the end, so maybe that's the best of both worlds. 20 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, Judge 22 Yelenosky.

HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, the practical matter, I would think the tenant's coming in saying, for instance, "Water is coming through my roof. I don't know where it's coming from, but they won't repair 1 it," so that's the claim. Landlord comes in and says, 2 3 "Yep, it's a roof problem. It's going to cost us a hundred thousand dollars to fix it." The tenant does not 4 5 want a judgment for $10,000 worth of repairs on that roof because it's not going to stop the water from coming 6 7 They want an order to fix the roof. So surely through. the statute intended that if they have a good claim for 8 9 fixing the roof that they get into a court that can order 10 that, and so if we have the leeway here in interpreting 11 the statute in the rules, it seems to me we want to get them into the court that can order the only relief that 12 really is going to make any difference to them. And so if 13 14 we're saying, well, the JP court could then order the 15 landlord to do one-tenth of the roof work, that doesn't seem to me to be a real world solution. 16

17 MR. JEFFERSON: Yeah, but is the answer to 18 that to say you can't be in court at all? I mean, the 19 whole idea is so that, you know, aggrieved parties can easily and efficiently get into court and get a judge to 20 21 look at the situation, and, you know, this has a very expedited procedure to do that. Once it's in court then 22 23 you've got the landlord's attention, and there are ways 24 you can get either to the appropriate court or he can 25 order some nonmonetary relief or whatever, whatever is the equitable thing to do under the circumstances, but to say 1 2 that the court who's there for the people, you know, the 3 pro se folks, that if it's not pled right or if you have that technical problem of it's a remedy that would be more 4 5 than $10,000 you can't even be in court doesn't seem to me 6 to be the appropriate solution. 7 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: May I respond 8 to that? 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, sure. 10 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah. Well, yeah, I think we have the same objective, and I'm just 11 thinking out loud, but I guess if you got a judgment from 12 13 that in my scenario from the JP court that said, "I can't 14 order you to fix the roof because it's going to cost a 15 hundred thousand dollars, and this precludes me from doing that, but I can do what then, order 10,000 in rent 16 17 credit?" And if the JP court does that, can the tenant 18 still then go file in county court to get the actual 19 injunctive order to fix the roof? Can they do both? 20 Because if they can't do both then we certainly don't want 21 to give them something that doesn't solve the problem. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: We're in law school now, 23 right? Okay. 24 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, Judge 25 Lawrence would know the answer to that. What happens if you get a judgment from the JP court that says, "I give 1 you 10,000 worth of rent credit for the leaky roof, but I 2 3 cannot order them to fix the roof"? Can they then go to 4 county court to get that order? 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: If I'm Wendy Wilson 6 I'm going to argue that's collateral estoppel or res 7 judicata, and no. So I don't know the answer to that 8 question. I can tell you that neither the statute nor the 9 bill address that. PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: How could it be res 10 11 judicata if the court can't render a verdict above a 12 certain number? 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know. I'm speculating it could be one of those two because you 14 15 have a cause of action that you're bringing in the JP court for part of it, but you're going to go somewhere 16 17 else for the other part? Does that present a problem? Ι 18 mean, shouldn't you do it all at one time in one court? 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: The better res judicata 20 argument would be if the costs of the repairs are 11,000 21 and you say, "Look, I can only give you 10,000 under this 22 statute, but I can render a judgment up to 10,000, statute 23 says I can, and so I'll give you 10, but you're going to be leaving a thousand on the table." And the election is 24 25 made, "Yeah, I want the 10 now. I don't want to have to go to county court and get 11 later." 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: They just abandoned 3 part of their claim in essence, yeah. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Right. And if 5 they don't -- but they can't have it both ways. Anyway. 6 Roger. 7 MR. HUGHES: Well, I'm not sure of the 8 answers, but I pose the question. The JP courts are 9 usually not courts of record, and I thought res judicata, 10 collateral estoppel, only applied if you had a judgment 11 from a court of record, but I still think that, getting back to the original problem, that being aside, you know, 12 I understand the desire of a sympathetic justice of the 13 peace -- justice wanting to do what he can and it not 14 15 becoming a trap for unwary and somehow foreclosing them 16 from going to the court. I think, you know, I'm unsure -both courts would be very chagrinned to find out that the 17 18 justice court having done something for the aggrieved 19 tenant, the tenant loses the lion's share of his remedy. 20 So unless we put in some provision to either 21 transfer part of the case to the county court, I think the 22 only -- maybe the only safe thing to do is either build in 23 some kind of safeguard that this does not prejudice their right to seek the remaining relief in county court, or 24

whole thing so they can get complete relief from some 1 court that doesn't have these problems. 2 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't know the answer to that. The task force didn't address this, 4 5 because we were strictly concerned with the rules in JP court, not what might happen in county or district, so we 6 7 didn't even talk about this aspect. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Any other comments 9 about .8 other than the perhaps esoteric jurisdictional 10 issue? 11 MS. BARON: I object to jurisdiction being 12 called esoteric. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Jurisdiction, of course, 14 is fundamental --15 MS. BARON: Yes, thank you. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: -- but the discussion 16 could be esoteric. Okay. Anything else on .8? Okay. 17 18 .9. 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Counterclaims. 20 These things have to be tried within 6 to 10 days. The task force feels that counterclaims should not be 21 22 permitted. "Counterclaims and the joinder of suits 23 against third parties are not permitted in suits under these rules. Compulsory counterclaims may be brought in a 24 25 separate cause of action. Any potential causes of action, including compulsory counterclaim, that are not brought 1 because of this rule shall not be deemed to be waived. 2 3 Any landlord or tenant who prevails in a suit brought under these rules may recover the party's costs of court 4 5 and reasonable attorney's fees as allowed by law." 6 Now, taking the last sentence first, that 7 tracks 92.005 of the Property Code which says that the 8 prevailing party in a suit under this section is entitled to attorney's fees and costs. Now, the first part of that 9 is kind of similar to the eviction rules. The eviction 10 rules -- and there's a lot of case law on that -- talk 11 about the only part -- the only focus of the eviction 12 13 rules is for possession, rent, court costs, and attorney's 14 fees, and then the case law talks about any other cause of 15 action that may -- that the landlord may have or that the 16 tenant may have is a counterclaim or not waived and can be brought as a separate action. So we just kind of parroted 17 18 what was in the eviction rules in the interest of trying 19 to get this done in 6 to 10 days as the Legislature wants. 20 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, Harvey. 21 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: The issue on 22 attorney's fees seems to me like it's in the wrong place. 23 I mean, why only put that in the counterclaims section? 24 Why not have it as its own separate section because it 25 really applies more to the plaintiff's claims than it applies to the -- well, it applies to both, not just 1 2 counterclaims. 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. Elaine just said move it up to the judgment. I guess we felt --4 5 because when we started talking about counterclaims we talked about counterclaims for attorney's fees and it 6 7 seemed to be a logical place to put it because of that, but I don't think we would object to putting it somewhere 8 9 else. 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: It does seem -- since 11 it's going both ways, not just for the landlord defendant, that maybe it ought to go up in the part --12 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We can do it up in 8, in judgment, if that's what y'all want to do. 14 15 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Nina, did you have 16 something? 17 MS. CORTELL: I was just going to say we 18 could also play with the title. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: That's another way to do 20 it. Okay. What else on .9? Any other comments on .9? 21 Okay. This looks like this is going to be fun, .10. 22 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: Judge Lawrence? 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Oh, I'm sorry. Justice 24 Patterson. 25 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: In 8 we reference attorney's fees, in 9 we reference attorney's fees as 1 2 allowed by law, and I wonder whether "as allowed by law" 3 only adds confusion to that measurement. 4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we actually 5 were trying to narrow it down to 92.005. Maybe it would be better to say "92.005" --6 7 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: Yes. 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: -- and the task 9 force actually talked about that, and I don't remember 10 why, but rejected that in favor of "as allowed by law," but that wasn't a big issue. It could be changed. 11 12 MS. BARON: It's probably because 92.005 13 might get renumbered and then where are you at that point? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That may have been 15 it. I don't remember. That would be wise. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Richard Munzinger, 17 and then Frank. He beat you by a hair, Frank. 18 MR. MUNZINGER: The sentence says "any 19 potential causes of action," second sentence, "including a 20 compulsory counterclaim that are not brought because of 21 this rule shall not be deemed to be waived," and I just 22 ask those who know more about res judicata and claim 23 preclusion if the word "waived" is correct as distinct from saying "precluded." 24 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Or barred.

1	MR. MUNZINGER: Sir? Or barred.
2	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Or barred.
3	MR. MUNZINGER: Yeah, because waiver is a
4	specific concept, and I'm not sure that that is
5	sufficiently broad.
6	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, waiver is very
7	different than like other things like res judicata.
8	MR. MUNZINGER: It's esoteric, too.
9	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Could be esoteric.
10	Frank.
11	MR. ORSINGER: Not since you mentioned it,
12	putting it in the record.
13	MR. GILSTRAP: Judge Lawrence, is this
14	there's nothing limiting this just to residential tenants,
15	is there?
16	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes.
17	MR. GILSTRAP: It is? Okay. All right.
18	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. This section
19	only applies to residential tenants.
20	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Orsinger, did you
21	have something?
22	MR. ORSINGER: No, I was just saying that
23	once it's on the record in here it's no longer esoteric.
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Lamont.
25	MR. JEFFERSON: Back on the attorney fee thing for a second, the statute doesn't seem to require 1 that the prevailing -- or that any party -- well, the 2 3 statute says that the judgment may award fees. Is that I mean, it's not a -- I don't know exactly what right? 4 5 that means, if that means it's a prevailing party 6 requirement or reasonable and equitable, whatever the 7 standard is. 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the way I'm 9 reading it, it says, "A party who prevails in a suit 10 brought under this subchapter may recover the party's costs of court and reasonable attorney's fees in relation 11 to work reasonably expended." 12 13 MR. JEFFERSON: So that "may" -- are we 14 reading the "may" as an automatic winner gets their fees? 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think it 16 always has to be proven up. 17 Well, I know, but --MR. JEFFERSON: 18 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: But does the 19 judge have discretion? 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think he 21 does under that. Wendy, what do you -- have you dealt with that? 22 23 MS. WILSON: I have not, but I would think 24 that it is at the discretion of the court, but --25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I thought the court -- well, maybe I'm mistaken. I thought the court 1 always had discretion as to the attorney's fees. 2 3 MR. JEFFERSON: The amount, sure. As to the amount I think that's right, and maybe that's what the 4 5 "may" applies to, but my question was what -- does the 6 "may" in the statute give the court the discretion to not 7 award attorney's fees? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I would 9 assume so, but I don't know the answer to that. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: And how does 10 11 that dovetail into the Supreme Court line of cases that say you don't prevail unless you get money or some sort of 12 13 declaratory relief? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: To be honest --15 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I mean, to put 16 in "any landlord or tenant who prevails" strikes me as problematic because that presumes that a landlord could 17 18 prevail, and I don't see how a landlord can prevail here, 19 because the landlord will never get money or declaratory 20 relief because there's no counterclaim. So are you 21 arguing that if the landlord wins the suit they get 22 attorney's fees? I mean that's --23 That's my question. MR. JEFFERSON: 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Loser pay. 25 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I don't think that's what that statute means. I don't think it means to 1 2 change prevailing party law. 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we did not --I don't think we considered the Supreme Court cases. 4 We 5 looked at the statute the Legislature adopted, and we based this on the legislative statute. 6 7 MR. MUNZINGER: The statute itself says that 8 it's a tenant judicial remedy of attorney's fees in Section 92.0563(a)(5), court costs and attorney's fees, so 9 10 it's a remedy given to the tenant. 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, 92.005 is the section that we're talking about. 12 13 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: Tracy, are you 14 suggesting that -- I'm trying to follow what you're 15 saying, that maybe the way to read 92.005(a) is that only tenants can be prevailing parties, because they're the 16 only ones seeking relief? 17 18 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Yes. I mean, 19 that's what I'm suggesting. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't think that's the case in landlord-tenant law. I think that it's 21 22 typical that if a landlord -- if a tenant brings a suit 23 and the landlord hires an attorney and the landlord wins, 24 I think typically the landlord gets attorney's fees. 25 MS. WILSON: That's correct.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Correct me if I'm 1 wrong, Wendy. 2 3 MS. WILSON: That's my understanding. That's correct, and the way that provision has been 4 5 interpreted. Based on 92.005. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So this is the English 8 rule, the loser pays. 9 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Loser pays. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Remember when we 10 11 had the offer of settlement rule, which some people thought was shifting attorney's fees to the loser? 12 There 13 was an uproar of monumental proportions in this committee 14 about that, but I agree with you. I think that's probably 15 what this says, but Tracy's right, if you look at Supreme Court jurisprudence on prevailing. 16 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I know. Wendy. 18 MS. WILSON: And I think, too, that one of 19 the reasons that -- if I'm recalling, Judge Lawrence, that 20 we put this last sentence in the counterclaim rule was 21 because we wanted to make sure that this was not 22 considered -- or if it was considered a counterclaim, that 23 it didn't preclude in these cases a landlord who 24 prevailed; and, Judge Christopher, I think, you know, who 25 gets a -- the tenant gets a take-nothing judgment, that that's prevailing, would be able to recover attorney's 1 2 fees under 92.005, and that it didn't mean that you had to 3 bring a separate counterclaim. I think that was the line of the discussion that we had. 4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, that would make 6 sense. 7 MR. JEFFERSON: You thought a landlord would 8 automatically get fees if they prevailed? 9 MS. WILSON: Well, automatically, that they 10 would be able to do it without having asserted a separate 11 counterclaim for fees, but it would be based on 92.005. 12 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Well --CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: And there's never been 13 any controversy about 92.005(a) meaning that whoever wins 14 15 the lawsuit gets attorney's fees? Even in the absence of a counterclaim. 16 17 MS. WILSON: Not to my knowledge, and I would have to -- I'm not aware of that. 18 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Buddy. 20 MR. LOW: But, Chip, my question is that, 21 landlord or tenant, they can recover reasonable costs. 22 They act as their own attorney, they can't get reasonable 23 attorney's fees for --24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Oh, that's right. 25 MR. LOW: I mean, you know, they say, "I'm

1 acting as my own attorney, I want a reasonable fee." Do you have to have incurred it or have an attorney, because 2 3 this could be read that I'm my own attorney, I want a reasonable fee? 4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't think that 6 one's going to fly, Buddy. 7 MR. LOW: Well, okay. If it won't fly, we 8 don't need to shoot it down. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: We don't need to get on 10 the runway if it won't fly. Judge Christopher. 11 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: May I suggest just a -- instead of saying "any landlord or tenant who 12 prevails" we just say "any party who prevails" leaving the 13 ambiguity that is already there, there, as to whether the 14 15 landlord could prevail? 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Makes sense. Pam. 17 Judge Christopher, I think in MS. BARON: 18 the Texas Supreme Court case that dealt with the 19 prevailing party issue, they only considered it from the 20 perspective of the party that was seeking affirmative 21 relief as the plaintiff and that the defendant in that case did not bring forward the issue about whether they 22 23 would be entitled as a prevailing party to attorney's fees if the plaintiff failed to obtain any relief at all, so I 24 25 think that's still an open question. Is that correct,

Judge Hecht? 1 2 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Yes. 3 MS. BARON: Thank you. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Carl. 5 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Under the 6 statute or a contract? 7 MR. HAMILTON: Can our rule --8 MS. BARON: Under a contract. 9 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Under a 10 contract, yeah, I agree with you under a contract. THE REPORTER: Wait. 11 12 (Multiple simultaneous speakers) 13 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: But it's clear 14 under our statute that you've got to get money or a 15 judgment of relief to prevail. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: I suppose we could. 17 Whether we should is another matter. Buddy. 18 MR. HAMILTON: Well, the Legislature didn't 19 do it. 20 There's a line of cases where you MR. LOW: 21 get one dollar in these cases and then that's not 22 prevailing, so if somebody recovers one dollar, and --23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Hey, Dee Dee, were 24 you able to get Carl's comment? 25 THE REPORTER: No, I didn't, actually.

19190 1 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Hey, Carl, you're going 2 to have to repeat it. 3 MR. HAMILTON: The question was can't we just define "prevail" in the rule? The Legislature didn't 4 5 define it, so --6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: And the question is -- I 7 said we could, but the question is should we, and I'm not 8 sure that the Senate Bill 1448 asked us to promulgate 9 rules that might or might not encompass 92.005. You could 10 argue that it doesn't. 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The task force did not even talk about the issue of prevail because you've 12 13 got a statute that says that, and prevail is kind of a 14 tricky issue that I think the individual courts are going 15 to have to deal with because you've got five separate things you can sue for, so can the -- does the landlord 16 prevail only if he gets a plaintiff take-nothing, or does 17 18 the landlord prevail if he wins on four of those but not 19 the fifth? I don't know. I think that's up to the 20 discretion of the court maybe, unless there is some case 21 law on this, but we didn't attempt to define what the 22 Legislature did not. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. 23 And I would say, 24 Carl, that there's a substantial policy issue embodied in 25 that statute, and I'm not sure by rule you should try to solve that policy debate. It seems more substantive to 1 2 me. Buddy. 3 MR. LOW: No, there is a lot of case law under the civil rights, you know, the prevailing party, 4 5 and there is a lot of case law on who prevails, but to 6 define it, I don't know you can do that. 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. What else? 8 Anything else on .9? All right. Let's go to .10. 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. This will be fun. 10 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Particularly since we have two options stretching over five pages. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. Here's 13 14 the problem: Contempt of court, what is the penalty if 15 you order a landlord to repair something and the landlord 16 doesn't repair something? 92.0563, which is the statute 17 on which all of this is based, does not have any 18 discussion as to what the penalty is. It's silent as to 19 that. All it says is that the court can order the 20 landlord to repair something with no discussion as to what 21 happens if he doesn't repair it. In the original bill, 22 for what this is worth, Senate Bill 1448, the original 23 bill which actually amended a section of the local 24 Government Code, not the Property Code that we're dealing 25 with today, they put in there that the court could issue an injunction against the landlord to order him to repair 1 2 something, which, of course, has all the powers and rights 3 under that to punish, but then they had a committee substitute; and the committee substitute, which is the 4 5 bill that was passed, didn't make any determination about the penalty and didn't change the underlying section, so 6 7 you can say that the statute itself is silent and the bill 8 is silent.

9 Now, looking at some similar -- the argument 10 for holding a landlord in contempt of court would be 21.001 of the Government Code and 21.002 of the Government 11 Code, which says basically -- and it's in the materials --12 13 it says a court has inherent power to enforce its orders, 14 and then it talks about contempt of court in 21.002. So 15 the argument is that it's an order of the court and you can -- you can enforce that through contempt. 16 It's an inherent power of the court. 17

18 The issue and why it's not quite as clear 19 maybe is that the Legislature has passed similar statutes 20 to this. One is what's called a writ of re-entry, where 21 the court orders a landlord to readmit a tenant that's 22 been illegally locked out, and that's an order of the 23 court, and the Legislature dictated that if the landlord doesn't let him back in, then the court can put the 24 25 tenant -- the landlord in jail until he lets him back in.

1 Not three days, not a hundred dollars, but in jail until 2 he lets him back in. In the writ of restoration of 3 utility services, which goes into effect January 1st, 4 there's a similar statute, that if the court orders the 5 landlord to restore utility services to the tenant and he 6 doesn't do it then the landlord can hold -- the court can 7 hold that landlord in contempt.

8 So you've got two similar provisions where 9 the Legislature has specifically said contempt if you 10 don't comply, but the Legislature didn't speak to this. 11 So what do you do in the rule? If you -- I think that the 12 Court could put something in the rule. The Court has a 13 number of places in the Rules of Procedure, all of which 14 are in here where the Court has said that you can hold 15 someone in contempt if they don't comply with this or obey that. So if the Court chose to do it then I think the 16 Court could put something in this rule that you can hold a 17 18 landlord in contempt under 21.002, three days and/or a 19 hundred dollars, or you could decide that the Legislature 20 did not intend for JPs to hold somebody in contempt because it was in the original bill, was left out of this. 21 22 It's in similar statutes, but not in this, and 21.001, 23 inherent power of the court, doesn't apply; therefore, you 24 shouldn't do it, and maybe you put something in the 25 comment that says you can't hold somebody in contempt.

We can write it round or we can write it 1 I'm only asking that we put something in there one 2 flat. 3 way or the other because -- let me finish. Because JPs are taught to be careful with contempt. We're taught in 4 5 the training schools and the desk book to use it 6 sparingly, don't do it unless it's clear that you can. 7 Some JPs are going to look at this statute and the bill 8 and they're going to say, "Well, there's no contempt in 9 here. I'm not holding a landlord in contempt." And if 10 you don't hold a landlord in contempt who fails to repair 11 something then there's no real remedy for the landlord not 12 doing it. I mean, you've got other remedies, the reduction of rent and other things, but as far as the 13 14 order to repair, there's no power to compel the landlord 15 to do it.

16 So if you don't put something in the rule one way or the other, either you can hold them in contempt 17 18 or not hold them in contempt, I believe that there is 19 going to be confusion in JP world. I think you're going to have some JPs that say "inherent power of the court" 20 21 and hold them in contempt, some that are going to be more 22 cautious and say, "It's not in the rule, it's not in the 23 statute, I'm reluctant to do that, and I'm not going to want to hold them in contempt." So that is the issue. 24 25 Now, Rule 10 is written in two ways. Option

1	one has a part (c) where you hold somebody in contempt,
2	and option two does not have a part (c), so that's the
3	difference between the two, and that's the some of
4	the the task force was split on this. Some felt it
5	ought to that it was obvious that contempt is
6	appropriate here, and it should be in the rule. Some felt
7	that contempt may be appropriate, but since the statute
8	doesn't say anything about it and the bill and the
9	underlying neither the bill nor the statute say
10	anything about it then the rule shouldn't say anything
11	about it. So that in essence is the debate.
12	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Why did the statute not
13	say anything about contempt, because it's an inherent
14	power of the court?
15	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I don't know.
16	I went back and listened to the tapes of the committee
17	hearings. I read the legislative history. There was no
18	discussion of that. All I know is that the original bill
19	had injunction and the substitute had nothing about it,
20	different sections, but Wendy was involved in that and
21	Robert. Maybe y'all have some but I don't know what
22	the legislative intent was, but it's not clear, some would
23	argue.
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well, is contempt an
25	inherent power, or does it always have to be spelled out?

1 I don't know. 2 MS. WILSON: Well, Government Code 21.001? 3 MS. PETERSON: 2. 1 and 2. 2 specifically. 4 MS. WILSON: 2, gives justice courts the 5 ability to impose contempt up to three days in jail or a hundred-dollar fine. 6 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, let me read 8 -- I'm sorry. 9 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, it also 10 says that they can impose coercive contempt. Coercive 11 contempt is not so limited. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 21 --13 MS. WILSON: I guess the point is the 14 statute provides for it. 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 21.001 and 21.002 16 aren't JP court. It says "a court." I mean, this is just the generic "a court." It's not specific to JP court. 17 18 MR. GILSTRAP: Yeah, but 02 has a provision 19 involving limiting the justice court power. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The range of 21 punishment, that's correct. 22 MR. GILSTRAP: So obviously it's inherent in 23 that the justice court can impose contempt. 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, and 21.001 is 25 styled "Inherent power of the courts." Justice Yelenosky.

1 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: You're going 2 to promote me. Judge. 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: What? HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: I think you 4 5 said "justice." 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, well, I promoted 7 you. You're doing good today. 8 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Or justice of 9 the peace. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Justice Hecht said 10 11 demoted, so --12 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah, I think it would -- I think it was Lincoln who said, "Law without 13 14 enforcement is just good advice," and so that's all this 15 would be, and I mean, the question of whether it's inherent power, I guess if you were talking about a 16 district court where you've got a constitutional basis you 17 18 might say it's inherent constitutionally, maybe not so 19 with JP courts, but this statute, whether you call it 20 inherent or not, there's statutory power of contempt for a 21 court under 21.002, and it's clear that a court includes 22 the justice court not only because of what's in there, but if you look at the structure of the statute it's in the 23 24 general provisions, which is then followed by appellate 25 courts, district courts, JP courts, municipal courts.

And the only limitation with respect to --1 2 or the only reference to justice court is to set the limit 3 for punitive contempt, criminal contempt, as it sets for district court and then down below it says "except as 4 5 provided in subsection (h), " which puts an outer limit I guess even on coercive contempt. "A court's" -- "a 6 7 court's power to confine or compel the contemptor to obey 8 a court order is not otherwise restricted." 9 I think your point, Judge Lawrence, about 10 being careful with contempt is a very good one, but it's a 11 big difference between -- there's a big difference between saying a court should not hold somebody in contempt 12 without considering all the circumstances in trying 13 14 perhaps a lesser coercion or maybe shouldn't confine until 15 considering lesser coercion. That is completely different 16 from saying the court doesn't have the power to do it, 17 because, again, if the court doesn't have the power then 18 it's just good advice.

19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Robert. 20 MR. DOGGETT: In terms of the legislation, 21 there was two different bills that were pending before the 22 They ended up running with the horse that Legislature. 23 made the least number of changes. In other words, there was a horse that had quite a lot of new law, if you will, 24 25 and used the word "injunction," and it was a change to the local Government Code, as I recall. And the change that 1 2 ultimately passed, the Legislature made the change in the 3 Property Code where all the rules were already in play and there was already an indication that the county and 4 5 district court had this authority, and there was an indication that a justice court does not have this 6 7 authority, and so ultimately what was done was a strike, 8 as you will see in your packet, a strike through that 9 language on the justice court.

10 So although the words "injunction" was never 11 used in the actual bill itself, nor is it ever stated in the Property Code where all this is originating from, I 12 don't think there's ever been any doubt about what a court 13 14 has or has not, and so what this bill ended up doing was 15 raise the justice court jurisdiction, if you will, or 16 abilities up to the level of a county and district court with regard to these particular matters and these 17 18 particular matters alone. And, frankly, the lawyers 19 for -- or the advocates for the landlords and tenants I 20 think looked at this and had no dispute about whether or 21 not a justice court has the right to hold somebody in It's found in the Government Code. 22 contempt. 23 The question for us is, frankly, do you want contempt, or do you want to keep it out of the rule and 1 leave it up to the individual justices to devise their own 2 3 method, and we as an advocate for the tenants thought it would be really preferable so the justice courts know what 4 5 they're supposed to do and how they're supposed to do it, 6 there's a road map, they know what to do, and we think 7 that would be very helpful for the justices, so that's 8 where we came out on it.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Wendy.

10 MS. WILSON: Yes, I just wanted to say our 11 -- my position is, our position is, that, you know, the contempt is certainly provided for in Chapter 21 of the 12 Government Code to enforce various types of orders, 13 14 including an order for repair. The question is whether it 15 should be included in the Rule of Procedure, and it's my 16 position that it shouldn't be, because it's not included 17 and referenced in all the other Rules of Procedure where 18 contempt is provided for for other failure to follow other 19 types of orders in justice court.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Carl.

21 MR. HAMILTON: I have a problem with a 22 contempt for that. I mean, if I'm a landlord and I have a 23 building and I don't want to repair it, why should there 24 be a court that can make me repair my property or put me 25 in jail if I don't?

1 MR. GILSTRAP: Because you leased it to a 2 tenant. 3 MR. HAMILTON: Well, then they can cancel the lease or give him his money back or --4 5 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: We already 6 crossed that bridge. The Legislature said you could order 7 it. The only question is whether you can enforce your 8 order by contempt. 9 MR. HAMILTON: That's what I'm saying. You 10 can enforce it by other ways, cancel the contract or something else. I just have a problem with somebody being 11 put in jail because they don't want to make a repair to 12 13 their property. 14 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, then you 15 wouldn't support the law that allows the court to order them to repair it. I just -- it makes no sense to me to 16 stay a court can order something but cannot then compel 17 18 that to happen. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Elaine. 20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Judge Lawrence, would 21 contempt be off the table, assuming it is otherwise 22 available, once the landlord appeals de novo? Am I 23 reading that statute --HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It would be off the 24 25 table in JP court.

PROFESSOR CARLSON: JP court. 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Right. 3 PROFESSOR CARLSON: So if a landlord appeals de novo to the county court, the statute says it 4 5 automatically stays the effect of the judgment. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, so long as he 7 timely appeals. 8 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Right. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But if he doesn't 9 10 timely appeal then he would be out of luck. 11 PROFESSOR CARLSON: So the question is whether the justice court would have contempt power once 12 there's a final judgment that's not appealable. 13 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, or contempt 15 power period would be a question that some on the task 16 force would raise, because we've got some things built into appeals to extend the time limits in some 17 18 circumstances, but, yeah, there would be a point at which 19 the remedy to appeal was exhausted, and it might be that the completion date of the repair is after that time to 20 appeal and then the issue would be do you hold them in 21 contempt or not, and the landlord wouldn't be able to 22 23 appeal possibly at that point if the date of completion 24 was far enough out. 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You could appeal the contempt. 1 2 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Habeas. 3 MR. WATSON: You can always appeal a 4 contempt order. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: That's what I'm saying. 6 Skip. 7 MR. WATSON: Tom, other than you, is there a 8 problem with the justice courts not knowing that they can 9 enforce the judgments or not knowing how? What happens 10 when somebody comes in and says, "Here's your order, they haven't done it, I need you to do something"? 11 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Most of contempt in 13 JP court relates to truancy cases. That's where contempt is used more than anything else, is in the enforcement of 14 15 truancy cases on parents, and it's done frequently. We also use contempt on writs of repair -- or writs of 16 re-entry rather. We're probably going to be using it on 17 writs of restoration of utility services coming up in 18 19 about five more weeks, but that's mostly --20 MR. WATSON: But the question is do they 21 know how to do it or not? 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. Yeah, we 23 have -- there is training on that. There are forms in the 24 JP desk book. If you talk to the general counsel of the 25 JP -- of the training center, they'll tell you that they get calls all the time from judges asking about that, but 1 2 so, I mean, it is generally known how to do that. The 3 education is there. They're exposed to it. Now, you know, whether every individual JP does it right every 4 5 time, I don't know. MR. WATSON: Well, that's not the question, 6 7 is if they know that they have the duty to enforce their 8 judgments and they know how to do it, I'm not sure why 9 we're putting it in a rule to say in this particular 10 instance you should do it. 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, in my 12 opinion, there's going to be controversy about this, 13 because the other statutes that are similar to this, the 14 writ of re-entry and the writ of restoration of utility 15 services, that provide -- that are similar to the order to 16 repair specifically provide for contempt, and this does 17 It's not in the bill, and it's not in the statute. not. 18 I'm concerned that JPs are going to look at that and say, 19 "Well, we don't think the Legislature intended to give us contempt powers for this because it's not here." 20 21 Now, if you think that that's not a problem 22 then I guess you can just not address it, but I believe 23 it's going to be a problem, if there's not something in 24 the rule one way or the other. 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Fair enough. Richard Orsinger. 1 2 Judge Lawrence, is there a MR. ORSINGER: 3 general statute about what the contempt powers of the justice courts are? 4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. Well, 21.001 6 and 21.002. 7 MR. ORSINGER: Well, the district courts, 8 for example, there's a statute that limits you to a 9 500-dollar fine and six months in jail maximum per violation. 10 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Isn't that 21.002? 12 MR. ORSINGER: Does that apply to justice 13 courts as well? HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. It's three 14 15 days in jail and a hundred dollars. 16 MR. ORSINGER: That's in another statute? 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, it's the same 18 statute, except that the writ of re-entry does not have 19 any limitations. It's contempt, jail until you fix it. 20 So there are some other contempt provisions other than 21 21.002 that the Legislature have provided for that are different than 001 and 002. 22 23 MR. ORSINGER: Is there a time limitation or a fine limit in those other statutes? 24 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No.

MR. ORSINGER: Okay. So, and another 1 2 question --3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: There's no fine. You just go to jail till you do it. 4 5 MR. ORSINGER: Okay, so it's coercive. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. 7 MR. ORSINGER: And for -- first of all, has 8 anybody ever been held in contempt for something? In the 9 whole history of the state of Texas has a justice court 10 put somebody in jail for something? 11 (Judge Lawrence raises hand) 12 MR. ORSINGER: Okay. Now, do they 13 generally --14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Let the record reflect 15 Judge Lawrence has raised his hand. 16 MR. ORSINGER: Do they generally get out of jail by appealing, or do they get out of jail by doing a 17 18 habeas corpus, or do they get out of jail by complying 19 with the order? 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Complying with the order. 21 22 MR. ORSINGER: Okay, thanks. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Get of out of jail, but 24 it's not free. Justice Gray. 25 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I'm assuming that we're going to come back to (a) and (b) because I've got some 1 2 problems in understanding how we're going to serve this 3 order and who we're going to serve it on. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Justice Grav, I 5 was going to suggest in a minute that we take a vote, 6 since we haven't voted all morning on anything, on 7 contempt or not --8 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okay. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: -- contempt. 10 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: With regard to the 11 contempt, we've mentioned -- and Judge Yelenosky mentioned 12 it I think first -- the concept of coercive contempt 13 versus punitive contempt, and what is in this statute is punitive contempt powers; whereas, what Judge Lawrence has 14 15 referred to in the other statutes, as best I understand, 16 is in the nature of coercive contempt. The distinction being without regard to whether or not the contempt is 17 18 ongoing under subsection (c) (4) as proposed, the justice 19 would still be able to impose it; whereas, the coercive 20 contempt is to put the person in jail or make the person 21 pay money until they purge themselves of the contempt. 22 To remedy the failure of the landlord to 23 comply with the order, which seems to be the objective 24 here, coercive contempt is much more effective than a 25 hundred dollars fine or three days in jail, because you can stay there essentially indefinitely under coercive 1 contempt, or the fine is so much per day until they purge 2 3 themselves of the contempt. So this would seem to me to, one, be different than the statutes -- the right of 4 5 re-entry and the other one that Justice Lawrence had 6 referred to, and I would tend more towards the use of 7 coercive contempt and making it clear that they can use 8 that in this rule like the other statutes rather than what 9 is punitive contempt.

10 Because I got into this issue with regard to 11 the chief's counsel on court reporters not giving us records timely and what we could do, and I know that at 12 13 some point you trigger the whole range of due process 14 rights of right to counsel and stuff if you are going to 15 potentially incarcerate in a punitive fashion the court 16 reporter for failure to deliver the record. In this 17 instance are we going to trigger that range of due process 18 protections by the possibility that the landlord could go 19 to jail for three days and lose his liberties as opposed 20 to coercive contempt where that's not necessarily a 21 problem. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Is your reading of 23 21.002(c) that it is criminal or coercive or both? 24 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: You have to 25 read (e) as well.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Can I get back to you 1 I'll take it under advisement. 2 on that? 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Justice Gaultney, and then Richard Orsinger. 4 5 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I think it's 6 It appears to track the 21.002 criminal criminal. 7 provision, and it -- one argument could be made that since 8 it only provides for criminal that the statute doesn't -or rule doesn't intend coercive. I think -- I think 9 10 the -- I think there is a question about whether under some circumstances you could be imprisoned for a debt, but 11 that it would seem to me to be a separate issue, and I 12 think it might be better off just leaving the Government 13 14 Code like it is. In other words, if the justice court has 15 the authority under the Government Code to either 16 coercively imprison or under appropriate circumstances criminally sanction, the Government Code is already in 17 18 place, already gives that authority. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Is your read that 20 21.002(c) is the extent of a JP's ability to find somebody in contempt criminally, but that (e) gives them broader 21 rights for coercive contempt? 22 23 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I think that's 24 That's the -- (e) says that despite anything correct. 25 else you can still use civil contempt.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. So under this 1 reading, if a judge wanted to -- if a JP wanted to assess 2 3 a criminal contempt, it would be limited to no more than three days in jail and a hundred bucks, but if he says 4 5 "fix that" -- "fix that leaky toilet" and the landlord 6 says, "I ain't going to do it" then under (h) -- (h) --7 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: (e). 8 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: (e). (e). 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: (e). 10 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: 21.002(e), until 11 such time as you can fix it or there's a limitation, actually, of no --12 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, (h) limits (e). 14 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Right. It's a 15 limit on coercive. 16 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: Right. It's 18 17 months. 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So that would be -- it 19 would be (h)(2) is what I was looking for. So that would 20 be coercive contempt of 18 months. 21 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I mean, that's 22 the way I read the Government Code 21.002 as far as the 23 current power is concerned. I think if you write in just 24 criminal contempt then one argument could be made that 25 that's the exclusive -- that's the exclusive contempt

2	Now, I think there is a question one of
3	the comments earlier is they question whether you should
4	be allowed to throw someone in jail on this type of order.
5	Well, I think that starts to talk about imprisonment for
6	debt, which, you know, you may have some constitutional
7	restrictions on.
8	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right.
9	HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I'm not sure we
10	can answer that.
11	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Here we can't. But,
12	Judge Lawrence, just so I can get straight in my mind, is
13	your reading of 21.002 the same as Justice Gaultney's,
14	that for that (c) limits your power of criminal
15	contempt to three days or a hundred bucks, and/or a
16	hundred bucks, but that under (e) you can toss somebody in
17	jail for up to 18 months for failure to obey an order?
18	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, that's not the
19	way that JPs typically understand contempt. We understand
20	contempt to be a maximum of three days or a hundred
21	dollars. Except for those other specific statutes.
22	That's the way we interpret it.
23	HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: If that's true
24	then a district court is limited by subsection (b), which
25	states our criminal contempt limits, and we know that's

I mean, 21.002, other than the Constitution, is 1 not true. the same place the district court gets its coercive civil 2 3 contempt powers, and they are absolutely parallel on coercive contempt between the JP court and the district 4 5 It's only with respect to punitive contempt that court. 6 they differ, and so the only question seems to me to be 7 what we say in this rule, and the argument for saying it 8 in this rule is the same argument you gave me earlier when 9 I asked why do we have to say in a rule that when a party 10 doesn't show up and they have the burden you can dismiss the case, and your answer was -- and I think your answer 11 is here because JPs need a road map, and some of them 12 13 aren't lawyers. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger and 15 then Orsinger. Richard the First and Richard the Second.

MR. MUNZINGER: If I understood the judge correctly, the same Legislature that enacted this statute regarding safety and health repairs enacted a statute relating to the provision of utilities, and that statute regarding the provision of utilities specifically includes the power of contempt.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: And also the writ of re-entry, the same thing, yes.

24 MR. MUNZINGER: So here we have the same 25 Legislature adopting two statutes giving JPs the power of contempt, but in a third statute not giving JPs the power 1 2 of contempt, and God forbid that the Legislature not do 3 something unintentional. That's contrary -- that's contrary to all of our law, so now we're sitting here and 4 5 we're asking ourselves the legal question did the Legislature intend to give JPs the power of contempt to 6 7 enforce their statute. I don't know. I don't think 8 anybody knows until that is litigated, and the 9 interpretation of the rule by the committee, if adopted by 10 the Court, arguably becomes an advisory opinion of the 11 Court because the Court didn't have a dispute of parties 12 in front of it when it did so. Now, they may have that power to do so under the rules. I've never briefed the 13 14 issue, but it's not quite so simple if two statutes in the 15 same Legislature give a power, a third statute doesn't, 16 what's the legal effect of that.

17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well, and there's a third 18 issue, too, and that is that this rule is drafted --19 apparently the task force believed that the JPs were 20 restricted to only contempt under subsection (c), which is 21 at odds with what Justice Gaultney thinks or Judge 22 Yelenosky. 23 MR. MUNZINGER: And I think Judge Yelenosky

24 is correct. I mean, how could you take such a position 25 when the statute doesn't distinguish between subsection

1 (c) and (e) and (h)? 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well, it's a mess. 3 Orsinger. 4 MR. ORSINGER: Well --5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Now it will get clear. 6 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. You know, I think that 7 if there is inherent authority for a justice court to put 8 somebody in jail for -- on a coercive basis, it would have 9 to be under 21.001(a), which talks about all courts having the power to enforce their lawful orders, but -- and I 10 11 haven't done a recent study of this, but in the world that 12 I travel in, almost every time that somebody is held in contempt for an action outside the courtroom that's not 13 14 disruption of the proceedings or disrespectful directly to 15 the court, it's based on a rule or a statute. I don't 16 know that that's always true, but that's certainly been the history in family law litigation, which is where 99 17 18 percent of contempts go on, and I'm a little troubled that 19 there's not a statute that explicitly gives justice courts 20 the power of coercive contempt. 21 And you look down here at (e), and it says, "This section does not affect the court's power to confine 22 23 to obey a court order," but then it doesn't grant that 24 power either. It just means that this statutory 25 provision, .002, doesn't impair it. So I'm still looking around for where the grant of authority is. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: How about 21.002(a)? 3 MR. ORSINGER: Well, punish for contempt. You see, a direct contempt is a contempt that occurs in 4 5 the court's presence, which I think is part of the 6 inherent power. An indirect contempt that occurs outside 7 the courtroom that the judge is not judicially a witness 8 of, I'm not sure whether this contempt is talking about 9 the inherent power to enforce the court proceedings or whether you're talking about an allegation that some 10 statute or rule was violated outside of court. 11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Buddy's got the answer. 13 MR. LOW: Judge -- no, I don't have the 14 I have more guestions. Did the committee answer. 15 consider contempt -- you say okay, "I'm ordering you to If you don't repair within two days or so, you're 16 repair. in contempt, and for contempt your rent is going to be 17 18 reduced to $2 a month." 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, that's not --20 you can't do that under the statute. The reduction of 21 rent is separate from the order to repair. You can do 22 either or both, but you have to have a separate order to 23 repair and a separate order reducing rent, if that's what 24 you're asking. 25 MR. LOW: Okay. Well, that's what I'm 1 asking.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Gray. ThenFrank.

4 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: With regard to the 5 advisory opinion or the taking the issue under advice 6 while ago, I now agree with Justice Gaultney on the 7 interpretation of the 21.002, but I disagree with Justice 8 Gaultney on whether or not we should or should not include 9 something in the rule regarding it, and this is in answer to Richard the First's comment. In the Legislature what's 10 11 different about this statute is the Legislature assigned the Supreme Court the responsibility to make the rules. 12 In the other two statutes where they included contempt 13 14 powers they did not assign that responsibility, and that's 15 what makes this one different than those and why we should include it. 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Frank and then 18 Judge Yelenosky and then Richard the First.

MR. GILSTRAP: When I read, you know, section 21.001 and 002, if that's correct, if that's the right numbers, you know, I come away from that and say JP has the inherent power and then -- but then when I read the statutes involving the justice court, it bothers me a little bit that the Legislature expressly gave them powers in certain situations, but then when I go on and read the

1 Rules of Civil Procedure and find they're just laced with 2 provisions that the Court has imposed allowing other 3 courts to hold people in contempt, I mean, I just don't 4 think there is any kind of inference we can draw from the 5 structure.

I think what happened was that a lot of these contempt provisions were in the old statutes and were just passed piecemeal and then put in the rules, and I wind up being real comfortable that we can put a provision in the rule allowing the JP courts to enforce it by contempt, and we probably need to because of what Judge Yelenosky said. It's a joke, if you don't have that.

13 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Here, here, I 14 agree with that. I mean, it just seems odd to me that we 15 would be debating whether a court could enforce the order 16 that the statute says it can issue. If all a JP court can do is say, "Fix the toilet or I'm going to start reducing 17 18 the rent," then the statute would say you can order them 19 to fix the toilet, and if he doesn't do so, reduce the 20 rent. What the statute says is the JP court may issue an 21 order to repair. It doesn't say you can fine him. Ιt 22 isn't an order to repair unless it can be enforced, and 23 all this concern about, well, we don't want to be putting 24 people in jail, that's always a concern with contempt, and 25 you can say on one extreme you're ordering somebody to jail because they don't have the money to fix a roof 1 that's going to cost them a hundred thousand dollars. 2 3 There's a defense to contempt based on inability. We hear that all the time in child support. Defense may be 4 5 appropriate, but if you're saying they don't have the 6 authority to enforce by contempt, including coercive 7 contempt and putting in jail, you're also saying when they 8 tell them to fix the blockage in the sewer and the 9 landlord says "no," all you can do is reduce the rent. 10 You can't put that person in jail for simply being 11 obstinate, and to me that just is not consistent with the 12 statutory authority to make the order. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger and 14 then Gene and then Roger. 15 MR. MUNZINGER: Here is a hypothetical, 16 which I think comes within the intent of the Legislature. 17 A tenant has a condition that threatens health or safety, 18 goes to the justice court, and the justice court says, 19 "Fix it." During the period of time that the health and

20 safety has existed the tenant has the right, if the judge 21 says so, to pay reduced rent and that power to pay -- or 22 right to pay reduced rent exists until the condition is 23 resolved, and the judge may include that in his judgment.

24 So far am I correct?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes, sir.

He may also issue these 1 MR. MUNZINGER: 2 penalties and what have you. Now, then there's an order 3 that says, "Fix this on or before June the 10th because that's when I've calculated your rent reduction." So far 4 5 am I still correct? HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the order to 6 7 repair would have a completion date. The order to reduce 8 rent is contingent upon the condition being repaired. 9 MR. MUNZINGER: On the condition. If I 10 don't do -- meet that completion date as a landlord and my 11 tenant remains in the same property, my tenant has a new cause of action on the day after the completion date. 12 Now, I'm a landlord, and I'm Carl Hamilton's friend, and I 13 14 think to myself, "My God, I'm going to spend $10,000 on a 15 roof for a piece of property that makes me when I net, net, net everything out $200 a month. The heck with this. 16 Move out and go to a different place. I'm going to shut 17 18 the dadgum thing down." 19 Here we are, we're giving a court the power 20 to make a fellow do something to his property, and in all 21 this circumstance the Legislature enacted two statutes 22 specifying the power of contempt, but didn't in this one. 23 I've got a problem with it. 24 Gene and then --CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 25 MR. STORIE: I think I have a similar problem because both the statute and the proposed judgment 1 2 that Judge Lawrence gave us talk about "reasonable action 3 to repair or remedy the condition," and when we're holding people in contempt we're supposed to tell them, I think, 4 5 exactly what they've got to do to comply with the order. 6 If you're going to turn on the electricity, by golly, turn 7 on the electricity, and we know what that means, but if 8 you get into a structural problem and you think it's going 9 to cost a certain amount or take a certain amount of time, 10 and your repair guy says, "Oh, no, baby, this is way worse than you thought," what are you going to do then? 11 I mean, and alternatively how can you set somebody up for 12 13 contempt --14 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: But that's 15 always an issue of contempt, whether the order was specific enough to be enforced by contempt. That is not 16 an argument against the authority to enforce by contempt. 17 18 It's an argument that the order needs to be specific and 19 may not be enforceable.

20 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Roger, and then Justice 21 Hecht.

22 MR. STORIE: If I may, just for a second, I 23 mean, I think the question is does the statute give you 24 that kind of authority to make that kind of order, because 25 it doesn't say fix the toilet presumably. It says, you

1	know, look at the toilet and see if you can fix it for
2	under $10,000 or for some reasonable amount.
3	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Roger.
4	MR. HUGHES: Well, I hate to say it, I
5	flipped ahead, and I looked at the appeal section, and if
6	I read the appeal section right, in order to appeal you
7	don't put up a bond at all under this section. You just
8	file the notice of appeal, and the notice of appeal is a
9	stay of any repair order, and I guess I'm kind of
10	wondering when are we going to have a landlord who is so
11	upset with the order to fix the toilet or rebuild the roof
12	that he will rather go to jail than plop down a piece of
13	paper and stay the order to repair?
14	I mean, I tend to agree on the question of
15	whether there is any specific contempt authority under the
16	new statute at all, so I tend to lean in that way, but I
17	guess the next thing of it is if we're going to say that
18	all you have to do is flop down a notice of appeal, you
19	get de novo review in the county court at law and all of
20	the repair orders are stayed. I'm wondering when contempt
21	is going to come up.
22	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it won't come
23	up in the justice court if you appeal. It's going to be
24	up to the county court then to enforce it.
25	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: It's going to come up when the landlord misses his notice of appeal deadline. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, that's when it's 3 going to come up. Justice Hecht. HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Well, I had that 4 5 question, and also, just to get a read from the task force, how likely is it to come up when the other penalty 6 7 is you don't get any money until you make the repair? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's the 9 alternative in this, is that you can just not issue an 10 order to repair and reduce the rent down so much that it becomes painful, and the landlord either fixes it or the 11 tenant is living there virtually rent free. 12 13 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: And is there an idea that that's not a strong enough incentive to obtain 14 15 the just result and, therefore, you need contempt? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think it is a strong incentive. Now, whether or not that's -- we 17 18 didn't look at it as an either/or because we were charged 19 with trying to write the rules for all of it --20 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: No, I'm just trying 21 to get a feel for the practicality of it. 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But I think I 23 commented one time in the task force meeting that if you don't hold somebody in contempt, if that's not an option, 24 25 then the real option here is reducing the rent, and the rent is reduced down to whatever level it's going to be 1 reduced consistent with the condition, and at some point 2 3 the landlord is going to fix it or let the lease run out and terminate the lease and move the tenant out when he 4 5 can do so under the law or under his agreement, and the tenant decides that, well, we'll suffer this condition for 6 7 a reduction in the rent of X number of dollars until our 8 lease runs out, and the tenant may be happy with that.

9 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: Just I'm, again, 10 trying to look at the policy here. Wouldn't it be better 11 from the tenant's perspective to have a reduction in rent 12 rather than having the recalcitrant landlord in jail? And 13 the sheriff generally do not like these kinds of people in 14 his jail, because he likes to save room for rapists and 15 murderers, but would there -- is it your experience from truancy and other situations that this would be likely to 16 happen or not so likely, or what's your anticipation? 17

18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think you 19 always have the possibility of getting a hard-headed 20 landlord that just refuses to do it and says, "Hold me in 21 contempt." It's easier from the tenant to have a 22 reduction in rent. If it's an order to repair and the 23 landlord doesn't do it, the tenant has got to file another 24 motion with the court, get a hearing, and prove the 25 landlord didn't fix it right or fix it at all. On an

1 order to reduce rent the burden is on the landlord to come 2 into court and to prove to the court it's been fixed so 3 the rent can go back up.

4 MR. DOGGETT: Your Honor, just to respond to 5 that from the tenant perspective, keep in mind that some 6 landlords feel like, hey, yeah, let them live there for 7 free without the blank, without the toilet working, 8 without the -- so judges very well may just say, "Look, we 9 can -- I've already done that. Now you're going to go to 10 jail." I used to bring these cases on behalf of the city. 11 The original version of the statute was a city could bring these cases against landlords, and it had injunction in 12 there, but there was never any question that the district 13 14 court was going to hold them in jail and warned them many 15 times, you know, "Bring your toothbrush to the next hearing," and I brought a lot of those cases, and not one 16 ever actually did go to jail after many times of asking, 17 18 but, you know, the judge looked over their glasses, looked 19 over their glasses, "Bring your toothbrush." No one ever 20 went to jail eventually. 21 But I will tell you judges in my experience

22 did like having that tool available to get their 23 attention, because sometimes landlords don't have any 24 problem. They paid for the property. Losing their rent 25 is not a big deal. You'll be gone soon anyway.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 1 2 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Well, I was 3 going to echo on that. We've all seen -- this is just anecdotal evidence, I'll have to admit. We've all seen 4 5 the stories on the news about the landlords who just won't fix things, and if you don't have the ability to put them 6 7 in jail because they just won't fix things then the 8 tenants are living in a horrible condition, and, remember, we're talking about health and safety issues here. 9 We're 10 not talking about not health and safety issues. So, you 11 know, and we're all well enough off that if we're in an apartment complex and the air-conditioning isn't working, 12 13 we leave. Okay. We break the lease. We pack up and move 14 someplace else. Well, a lot of these people, they don't 15 have the money for a new security deposit. It's been put 16 with this one landlord. Yeah, they can move out, maybe, if they have the money to move. That costs money. 17 Thev 18 don't have cars, you know, to pack up their stuff, move 19 someplace else, presuming they can find someplace else 20 that's, you know two, three hundred, you know, 500 a 21 month, whatever it is, the minimal amount of rent that 22 they're paying. 23 This is a health and safety issue. I mean,

25 don't have injunctive power, so they were never used to

JPs did not have the power -- it's my understanding you thinking to themselves "I have the power to hold somebody" 1 2 -- you know, to put them in jail until -- in coercive 3 contempt until they comply with my order. Well, now the Legislature has given them essentially injunctive power, 4 5 ordering the landlord to make these repairs. We have to give them the ability to put the landlord in jail, and if 6 7 the landlord doesn't like it, appeal to county court where 8 the county court has that ability.

9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Richard Munzinger, 10 and then Judge Lawrence.

11 That's a policy argument, MR. MUNZINGER: 12 and it's the correct argument if the decision is a policy 13 decision. The problem is courts are creatures of the 14 Constitution and to an extent the Legislature. Why didn't 15 the Legislature give the power of contempt in this statute when in two other statutes it did so? There must be a 16 17 reason. They're not stupid. Judicially speaking. 18 MR. DOGGETT: Richard, you're kind of 19 misstating the facts, is the problem. That's not exactly 20 correct. What you're saying is not actually true. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: What's wrong with what he 22 said? 23 The Legislature didn't look at MR. DOGGETT: 24 this statute and then give it to them in two others. 25 That's just -- what happened was, as Frank was talking about earlier, you're trying to make this argument that 1 it's not over here, so therefore, this -- they didn't 2 3 intend for it to be over here. That's a clever, good lawyer argument. What happened was the writ of re-entry 4 5 has been in place for a very, very long time. I think it predated the Property Code. I'm not sure which version, 6 7 but the writ of re-entry has been there a long, long time, 8 and it was a free-standing passage of that right. In 9 other words, when you've been locked out, a JP was given 10 the authority to order somebody to get them back in, and 11 the Legislature put something in there special. It was a free-standing statute. 12

13 Now, the right to repair, it's a much larger 14 It's subchapter (b) of the Property Code. statute. 15 There's lots and lots of sections in there, and there was 16 one section in there that says a justice of the peace doesn't have the ability to order repair. So that 17 18 particular provision was struck, so to suggest that sort 19 of the Legislature some many years ago had this writ of 20 re-entry, it's been there for a very long time, and then 21 here just last session decided, hey, let's get rid of that 22 line, those don't mix. It wasn't a comparison made. 23 These were free-standing things. In other words, the bill you see before you is a removing of language. 24 It's not a 25 new act that the -- giving the JPs this new power. It was a deletion of a line that's been there for a long, long 1 2 time. 3 MR. MUNZINGER: But it was an expression of legislative intent on the question under discussion, the 4 5 power of a justice of the peace. 6 That clearly was not before MR. DOGGETT: 7 the Legislature. The power of contempt was never 8 discussed. 9 MR. MUNZINGER: So it was not in this last 10 Legislature? 11 MR. DOGGETT: Absolutely never discussed, 12 and, frankly, as we all know, legislative intent is pretty 13 hard to get your hand around. I will tell you that --14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Some would say. 15 MR. DOGGETT: If there's ever any 16 legislative intent, I will tell you all the testimony was concerned about giving justices of the peace the power to 17 18 hold someone or the power -- injunctive power. Much 19 testimony was whether or not we should give the justice of 20 the peace this new power, and the Legislature said, yes, 21 ultimately yes. So if there was ever any discussion, if 22 you listen to any of the tapes, or watch them, actually, 23 you can see them online, the only discussion that was ever made about this law that passed was "We're concerned about 24 25 giving justice of the peace this new authority," and the

1 answer to that question was "Let's do it." I mean, bottom
2 line that's the intent. If you're going to take off
3 anything else, that's the only intent that's out there,
4 that they wanted to give them the new power.

5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Robert, what I think is animating Richard's comments, and I'm sure they're shared 6 7 with others, is that we have as a committee -- and I know 8 the Court as well has tried to be very careful about not 9 intruding on the Legislature's role, and if there is a 10 policy matter that is within the ambit of the Legislature, we try very carefully not to cross the line and by rule, 11 you know, make a policy. So I think that's what is 12 13 animating the concern, but I wonder, Richard Munzinger, 14 about the comment that was made earlier, which was here 15 the Legislature did expressly delegate to the Court the -not only the power, but the request to make rules by a 16 very -- by a very tight deadline, and even if your 17 18 argument has validity, maybe that would be some expression 19 of the Legislature that the Court within some parameters 20 has some leeway to deal with that issue. I don't know. 21 MR. MUNZINGER: My only response would be 22 that the Legislature said here is a discrete subject, make 23 rules concerning the discrete subject. The discrete The 24 subject does not include the power of contempt. 25 committee's proposal does include the power of contempt.

1 That's my point.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl.

3 MR. HAMILTON: I think there's a big difference in re-entry and turning on electricity. 4 Ι 5 assume that those orders don't go out until the bill has 6 been paid or the tenant's paid the rent and the landlord's 7 got to let him back in. So it doesn't cost the landlord 8 anything to turn on the power or unlock the door, but in 9 this case we're ordering the landlord to dig into his pocket and come up with $10,000 or whatever to fix the 10 roof, which he may or may not even have. So, you know, to 11 argue that they can defend that on a contempt charge, I 12 mean, why put the landlord through all of that grief of 13 14 being charged with contempt and having to hire a lawyer 15 and all of that. I just think it's improper to -- it's 16 kind of like a debt. It's kind of like putting somebody in jail because they can't pay their debt. 17 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Debtors prison, it's been 19 done. Judge Christopher. 20 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: The current 21 statute --22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Not in this country. 23 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: -- allows for this lawsuit in county and district court. 24 No one 25 disputes that county and district court would have coercive injunctive power. The Legislature says now you 1 2 can bring this case in JP court. Why is it different? 3 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: And you can 4 bring it up to this limit. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Lamont. MR. JEFFERSON: The original bill, if I'm 6 7 reading this right on page seven, where the original bill 8 did have a -- an option for injunction included the 9 sentence, "The justice court may only require the owner to repair or remedy the condition." I'm not sure if that --10 11 I mean, it seems like there was at least some discussion about the limits of the ability of the court to command a 12 13 response from the landlord. So, I mean, I don't know 14 where -- I'm not sure where to go with that. It's not in 15 the bill that was passed, which suggests to me that maybe the court has more power than only requiring the owner to 16 repair or remedy the condition. 17 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well, I feel like voting. 19 So everybody that is in favor of Option No. 1, which 20 includes language regarding contempt, raise your hand. 21 All those opposed, raise your hand. The 22 Option No. 1 passes by a vote of 16 to 12, the Chair not 23 voting, and let's have lunch. Chip, before you close, take 24 MR. MUNZINGER: 25 a look at that title, "Landlord's order." It's really a court order, order requiring landlord to repair. 1 The 2 title ought to be better. 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, I agree with that. We haven't voted on the whole rule. We're going to go 4 5 over the language after lunch. 6 (Recess from 12:42 p.m. to 1:37 p.m.) 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So, Judge, I think the --8 we have voted in favor of option one that has the contempt 9 feature in it, and now we'll take comments on .10, option 10 one, from the crowd. And, by the way, everybody has commented to me over the break how well you're taking the 11 abuse that is being heaped upon you by our members. So 12 13 comments on .10, option one. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right, (a), 15 we're on page 23, form and content of the order. "The 16 order must be directed to the landlord and state the names of the parties to the proceeding, address of the leased 17 18 premises where the conditions are to be repaired or 19 remedied, in reasonable detail the actions the landlord 20 must take to repair or remedy the conditions, and the date 21 by which the landlord must repair or remedy the conditions." 22 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any comments? 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: (b). 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You want to go through them all and then --1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Whatever you want 3 to do. 4 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: It's kind of a gnat, 5 but in (a) (2) why would you say "leased premises," because 6 a lot of folks think of it as rented premises. Can we 7 just say "premises"? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We're using the 9 language that they use in the Property Code. We're trying to make all the terminology consistent with the Property 10 11 Code. 12 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okay. 13 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It just makes it 14 easier for everybody to understand, we think. 15 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 16 on (a)? Yeah, Harvey. 17 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: Should it state the 18 dollar amount that has to be spent on repairs or "not to 19 exceed" or --HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's in 20 21 the -- that's in the judgment. Well, let me see where --22 well, you're going to -- you're going to state that it's 23 not going to go over $10,000. Let's see, I can't remember 24 if we put that in Rule 8. 25 MS. WILSON: Yes.

HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: 1 Is this going 2 to be a separate order or part of the judgment? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It could be either I mean, it could be done either way. There was --4 wav. 5 you know, we didn't talk about that on the task force as 6 to whether or not a court is going to have a separate 7 order in addition to the judgment or just put all of it in 8 the judgment. What I have drafted sort of puts all of it 9 in the judgment, but it could be done differently. 10 Harvey, to answer your question, we could put that in there. 11 12 HONORABLE HARVEY BROWN: I mean, it just seems that there might be some judges who aren't 13 experienced, since this is fairly new, and that might be 14 15 kind of helpful. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. And don't you think, Judge, going back to the comment that was made 17 18 before lunch that we ought to strike in the title 19 "Landlord's"? It should just be "order." It's not the 20 landlord's order. It's an order to the landlord, but it's not his order. 21 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, you mean the 23 title of .10. 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yes. 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, we can do

1 that.

2	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Just make it "order."
3	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah.
4	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.
5	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. (b),
6	issuance, service, and return of order. "The justice
7	shall prepare and issue the order. The order may be
8	served on the landlord in open court or by any means
9	provided under Rule 21a at an address listed in the
10	petition, the addressed listed on any answer, or such
11	other address the landlord furnishes to the court in
12	writing. Unless the justice serves the landlord in open
13	court or by other means provided in Rule 21a, the person
14	serving the order on the landlord shall file a certificate
15	of service of the order."
16	I anticipate that most of these the judge is
17	going to write out the order and hand it to the landlord
18	in open court, but you're also going to have defaults
19	where the landlord didn't appear, so you have to have some
20	mechanism to deliver it to the landlord then, so this is
21	what that's all about, how the landlord gets the actual
22	order.
23	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.
24	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: But if the landlord is
25	represented by an agent, it won't be adequate to serve the order on the landlord's agent for service of process or 1 representative if that representative is not the landlord. 2 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think maybe you could argue that under Rule 6 it would be. If the 4 5 agent is representing the landlord then I think you could give the order to the agent, who is essentially standing 6 7 in the shoes representing the landlord there, but that is 8 a question. But I think that's what the task force 9 intended, that under the representation rule that since 10 the person is there representing the landlord, that that would be sufficient to give the order to him or her. 11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Elaine. PROFESSOR CARLSON: What is meant in the 13 14 last sentence, "the person serving the order"? Who is 15 that? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it may be that this might be given to a sheriff or constable 17 18 conceivably. I would anticipate that often the clerk of 19 the court is probably just going to mail it out, but it 20 could be done another way. We didn't want to preclude 21 other possibilities. 22 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Since you've got 23 "landlord" defined in the Property Code and that's what 24 you've been dealing with, I would suggest that you expand 25 (b) to be the landlord or his agent, because under 92.002,

1 2 -- 01, too, it expressly excludes the agent of the 2 landlord unless it's the manager, agent, purports to be 3 the owner, lessor, or sublessor, and I'm just concerned 4 that the handing of it to the property manager is not 5 going to be deemed ultimately adequate if you have to 6 serve the landlord, given that the landlord is the defined 7 term.

8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But we're saying 9 that a representative may represent the landlord or the 10 tenant for that matter in court, and we allow evictions to occur where the tenant doesn't show up but a 11 representative of the tenant shows up, and they're not 12 13 even given an order in open court. It's just a judgment that they've -- where the eviction occurs later, so I 14 think it's consistent with that. 15 16 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I'm just pointing out a potential land mine. 17 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, if you have 19 to actually give it to the landlord then that's not going 20 to occur on that day. That's something you're going to 21 have to mail later under Rule 21a, and if the -- if you're

22 trying to expedite the process, which is what the 23 Legislature seems to infer by this, it would be faste

23 Legislature seems to infer by this, it would be faster.

24 The landlord has authorized this person to represent them,

25 I would think that would be suitable or adequate to --

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: And don't get me wrong. 1 2 I'm not going to argue with you that that's suitable or 3 I would just expand the language of who the adequate. order can be served on so that it is clear --4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, I see, okay. 6 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: -- that you are 7 including the landlord or his agent who appeared in court. 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. That's fine. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, you would just put in the second sentence, "The order may be served on the 10 11 landlord or his agent." 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: And then in the last 13 14 sentence "Unless the justice serves the landlord or his 15 agent in open court." 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. I agree. 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 18 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I don't think 19 we should have a separate order from the judgment because 20 then that will confuse the appellate timetable and, you know, which order you're appealing. I just think that it 21 22 needs to be in the judgment, and so I just think we need 23 to rewrite it, because you've got it here as part of the 24 judgment, but then you have it as a separate order or it 25 could be a separate order. I don't see the advantage of 1 that separate order.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: What if you just changed 2 3 (a) to say "form and content of the judgment"? 4 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Well, we 5 already have -- .8 is already judgment. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, this section 6 7 doesn't deal with the entire judgment. It just deals with 8 the order to repair only. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, that's 10 right. 11 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: But, see, I don't think you should have -- I mean, why would we want a 12 13 separate order? I mean, we've got this expedited procedure. Everything should be in one judgment that then 14 15 is appealable within a certain period of time. And so, 16 you know, to the extent you need to put this information 17 about what needs to be in the order to repair then it 18 should be put into the judgment, in my opinion. And then 19 put No. 10, just "landlord's failure to comply with the 20 judgment that includes an order to repair" and then move on from there. I mean, you have to serve a judgment on 21 22 them, too, don't you? 23 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we would --24 they would get the judgment in the same way they get any 25 judgment.

HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: 1 Right. They would be 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 3 mailed a copy of it. 4 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Or if they're 5 in court, you hand it to them. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah. 7 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Same thing. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Richard. 9 MR. MUNZINGER: The order to repair is part 10 of the final judgment. It's not a preliminary or interim order; is that correct? 11 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It's part of the 13 final judgment, that's correct, but you may not -- the 14 judgment may not -- you may not find that an order of 15 repair is granted. It may not be granted or pled for, so you could have a judgment without an order to repair, but 16 if you have an order to repair, yes, that's part of the 17 18 final judgment disposing of all the issues. 19 MR. MUNZINGER: It would have to be part of 20 the final judgment. 21 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: (Nods head.) Now, 22 whether it's a separate form or included in the final 23 judgment, the task force didn't have any position on that. 24 Whatever the Court or the committee prefers. I drafted 25 the -- the draft judgment I drafted with it in there because it think it makes more sense to have everything in 1 2 one piece of paper personally, but we didn't contemplate 3 having the rule address that, but we can. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Carl. 5 MR. HAMILTON: I don't understand. How do 6 you get an order to repair if that's not part of the 7 judgment? 8 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I'm saying it 9 is part of the judgment, but you could have a judgment 10 without an order to repair. 11 MR. HAMILTON: Then it isn't part of the judgment. 12 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Could you have an order to repair without a judgment? 14 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. 16 MR. MUNZINGER: It may be a semantic problem. "Judgment requiring a repair." I think that's 17 18 part of the problem. The use of the word "order" as 19 distinct from the word "judgment," which includes an order 20 to repair, is what may be causing the problem under 21 discussion here. People are reading the order -- I mean, 22 the rule as if there are two separate documents or two 23 separate orders, when, in fact, a judgment requiring repair must be a final judgment, otherwise, I've got no 24 25 right to appeal. I can't appeal to the county court from an interim order, I guess, unless I do it by mandamus or 1 2 contempt or something else, and I don't think that's what 3 the Legislature envisions, and I don't think that's what the group envisioned when they voted to say that we could 4 5 have justices of the peace hold people in contempt. It's a definitional problem. 6 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Yeah, Elaine. 8 PROFESSOR CARLSON: So if you wanted to 9 exercise as a JP jurisdiction over the repair, would you 10 order the repair in so many days and maintain authority 11 over the case? 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. 13 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Or is this set up that 14 you order the repair and then you sign the final judgment, 15 and you've got a short period of time in which the party If they want. 16 will appeal? 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, you're 18 jumping ahead again, aren't you, because that gets to the 19 question of how long the courts are going to have plenary 20 jurisdiction over this order to reduce rent and order to 21 repair, and we're proposing that we follow -- what was it, 22 Elaine, TRAP rule -- you're the one that gave it to me. 23 Help me remember. The TRAP rule that says that you have 24 some continuing jurisdiction over certain issues after the 25 plenary jurisdiction. So what we're going to propose is that the JP court will retain plenary jurisdiction over 1 the order to repair and the order reducing rent after the 2 3 normal plenary jurisdiction of the court would have expired, just in order to keep control over this, because 4 5 otherwise you would have to do everything within the 6 court's plenary jurisdiction or you lose it, and you can't 7 do anything about it, which, you know, doesn't seem to be 8 the best way to handle this. We want to get this 9 adjudicated and done, so but we're going to talk about that in a rule a little bit later. 10 PROFESSOR CARLSON: So it could be a 11 judgment and then you have this enforcement ability down 12 13 the road over your --14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes, over the order 15 to repair and the order reducing rent. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard Munzinger. 17 MR. MUNZINGER: Well, it seems to me what I 18 just heard is that a property owner can go -- can be 19 called into justice court. The justice of the peace hears 20 of the problem affecting health and safety, tells the 21 property owner, "Fix it." It's not a final judgment. The property owner says, "That's unreasonable." 22 23 "Fix it." And I can't appeal because it's 24 not a final judgment, so I can't appeal to the county 25 court. The justice court has maintained jurisdiction of this issue and can now tell me that I go to jail if I 1 2 don't fix it while the case is pending before the justice 3 court. 4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. No, not at 5 all. There is an appeal. 6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And the appeal stays the 7 judgment. 8 MR. MUNZINGER: Pardon me? 9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: There is an appeal for 10 the landlord, and it stays the judgment. 11 MR. MUNZINGER: But that's not a judgment. It's an interim order. There is no judgment. 12 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard is saying it's 14 interlocutory. 15 MR. MUNZINGER: Sure. It's an interlocutory order. I've got jurisdiction of the case. "Yes, Judge, 16 and I want you to lower the rent, and I want you to enter 17 18 the civil penalty, and I want you to do this, that, and so 19 forth." And the judge says, "Fine. We're going to sit 20 here until this is done. You've got six days to fix the roof." 21 22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: There is a final 23 judgment, and there is a time to appeal, but it is 24 contemplated that the repairs may take longer. The 25 repairs may take 30 days for whatever reason, or the -- or the order reducing rent may last for 30 days because the 1 2 condition is not going to be repaired. The landlord is 3 going to know what is ordered on the day of the trial. The judge is going to say, "Fix this, and the rent is 4 5 reduced this much," and if you don't like it then you appeal on that day. If you don't appeal, then it's -- we 6 7 presume the landlord says, "Okay, I think that's fair, I'm 8 not going to appeal," and then the court is going to 9 retain jurisdiction over the issue of repair and the reduction of the rent until that's disposed of. 10 11 MR. MUNZINGER: And the problem that I am bothered with is that the rule uses the word "order," not 12 "final judgment," and Elaine just asked the question of 13 14 whether the court would have continuing jurisdiction; and 15 your answer is, yes, to enforce the judgment during its -the plenary power would be extended to enforce the 16 judgment, but the rule contemplates the entry of an order, 17 18 as distinct from a final judgment which orders repair, and 19 the rules should not be that ambiguous if you're going to put people in jail for violating it.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the term "order" comes from the statute because the statute gives us the jurisdiction to order a repair, so that's why the term "order" is --

MR. MUNZINGER: And I agree with you. I looked at the statute, and the statute does, in fact, use 1 "order" and then two sections later uses the word 2 3 "judgment." And that's bothersome. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Hugh Rice Kelly. 5 MR. KELLY: I think it's somewhat analogous 6 to what you're talking about, but in administrative law 7 cases, especially decades ago, one way to test an order 8 was to refuse to comply, be found in contempt, and then 9 you would -- you would seek a writ of habeas corpus, and 10 they appealed Railroad Commission cases that way. So the JP ordered you to jail, you get a writ of habeas corpus, 11 12 post a 200-dollar bond, and you're gone. 13 MR. MUNZINGER: And I understand that, but 14 is that what the Legislature intended, and is that what 15 the rule that the Supreme Court of Texas wants to adopt in this circumstance? 16 17 MR. KELLY: I'm just offering that as a 18 piece of history, Richard, not suggesting it. 19 MR. MUNZINGER: No, I understand. Ι 20 understand. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Yelenosky, then 22 Skip. 23 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, why 24 shouldn't it -- Judge Lawrence, why shouldn't it just be 25 judgment? A court always -- as we're discussing down here

-- always has power to enforce the order beyond its 1 plenary jurisdiction, doesn't it? I mean, so you issue 2 3 the judgment --4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I'm not sure 5 about that. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: It's like a 6 7 permanent injunction. 8 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah. 9 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: You have the 10 ability if they're no longer complying with the permanent 11 injunction years after the case is over with to take that 12 matter up. 13 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: So you don't 14 have to retain any jurisdiction explicitly over 15 enforcement. I mean, the way it would happen in district court is you'd do a temporary injunction, which of course 16 you can appeal. There is an interlocutory appeal to that, 17 18 so we don't want to create something that would be 19 unappealable, and here it seems like it ought to be a 20 judgment. You don't lose the power to enforce it. 21 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't think the 22 task force cares if we call it an order or a judgment. We 23 tried to use terminology consistent with the underlying statute, but the task force believes that there is a 24 25 potential jurisdiction problem with the court taking action after the plenary jurisdiction. 1 2 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, let's 3 resolve that. I mean, is that a concern? What do people think? 4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it was to the 6 task force, which is why we drafted the rules a little bit 7 later to give us continuing jurisdiction over these two 8 areas. 9 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Well, it's a 10 concern, but if we can discuss it and people don't think 11 that it's a realistic concern then there's no real reason not to make it a judgment, and it becomes appealable, and 12 13 Richard Munzinger's concern goes away. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Skip. 15 MR. WATSON: I think we're assuming, and I 16 think correctly so, that the Legislature is just loosely using terms, judgment, order. We get over to section 13, 17 18 and it's the decision that's appealable. I think that 19 rather than being bound to the statutory wording, we just 20 need to start saying "judgment," and if we're talking 21 about a particular order within the judgment, we say so. 22 I would just suggest changing it to "the judgment 23 containing the order." 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Gaultney. 25 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I was just going

1 to say the same comment, but I think Judge Christopher had 2 the solution, and that is to -- assuming it is the 3 judgment that's going to be entered, is simply if you've 4 got the context problem in terms of the order, just move 5 it to 737.8(a) where you refer to the order to repair and 6 just describe it at -- in the judgment rule what that 7 order should look like.

8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 9 about this? Okay. Why don't we get to subsection (c), 10 which is the fun part?

11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. "Landlord's failure to comply with the order. If the 12 13 landlord fails to comply with the order, the failure is 14 grounds for contempt of court against the landlord under 15 Section 21.002 of the Government Code. If the landlord 16 fails to comply with an order, the tenant may file in the justice court where the case is pending an affidavit 17 18 stating that the order has been disobeyed and describing 19 the acts or omissions constituting the disobeyance. On 20 receipt of the affidavit, the justice shall issue a show 21 cause order directing the landlord to appear on a 22 designated date and time and show cause why the landlord 23 should not be adjudged in contempt of court. The order to show cause should be delivered to the sheriff or constable 24 25 in the county and must be personally served on the

1 landlord no later than three days prior to the hearing on 2 order to show cause.

3 "If the justice finds after considering the evidence at the hearing that the landlord violated an 4 5 order, the justice may assess a fine of not more than a 6 hundred dollars or confinement in the county jail for not 7 more than three days or both such fine and confinement in 8 jail. If the landlord violates an order before receiving the show cause order, but has complied with the order 9 10 after receiving the show cause order, the justice may 11 still find the landlord in contempt and assess punishment 12 as provided for in this rule." 13 A lot of that comes from the writ of 14 re-entry statute, which we've been working with for a 15 number of years. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Comments about 17 this? Judge Yelenosky. 18 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah, it 19 references the Government Code provision, but then it only

20 incorporates the criminal punitive contempt and not the 21 coercive contempt. So I would prefer we either just

22 reference the Government Code and be silent, or if we're

23 going to reference the punitive contempt, we also 24 reference the coercive contempt.

25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think most

JPs feel that the JP has the power for three days and/or a 1 hundred dollars and no more. 2 3 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: But we 4 disagree. 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, then I guess 6 that's up to the Court then, isn't it, to resolve that. 7 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah, but, I 8 mean, I think the vote -- wasn't the vote on coercive 9 contempt existing? 10 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think the vote was whether you can hold them in contempt or not. 11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, I don't think we 13 voted on whether coercive versus criminal, but maybe Munzinger thinks differently. 14 15 MR. MUNZINGER: No, Judge Yelenosky is, in my opinion, correct in his interpretation of Section 16 17 21.002. The coercive powers afforded a justice of the 18 peace in the ordinary reading of that statute are twofold, 19 one, hundred-dollar fine, three days in jail; two, go to 20 jail and don't pass go until you obey me. You've got both 21 If Judge Yelenosky's interpretation of the of them. 22 statute is correct, the Supreme Court is now amending --23 is denying that power to a justice of the peace by not 24 referencing subsection (h) in its rule relating to this 25 problem, and obviously the Court has the authority to do that, I suppose, but do they want to. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Why don't we -- as a 3 possible alternative to this language, why wouldn't you just say that the justice may hold the landlord in 4 5 contempt according to law or according to Section 21.002 6 without making a judgment about whether Judge Lawrence and 7 all the other JPs are right or whether Yelenosky and 8 Munzinger are right? HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: 9 Because they need guidance, I guess. Well, that's what we're told. 10 Т 11 mean, I'm not being facetious. 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: T know. 13 MR. MUNZINGER: Chip, when you do come to a vote I do think we should vote on the question of whether 14 or not the rules should use the word "judgment" and 15 16 "order" to make it clear that the -- if that's what the 17 committee wants, that the -- an order of contempt may only be included and enforced in a final judgment and not in a 18 19 temporary judgment. I think that's a very important issue 20 for the freedom of property owners, and then the second 21 issue is what -- this issue we're discussing, whether 22 subsection (h) is part of their -- of the justice's 23 coercive powers, but I think there are two votes that are 24 necessary. 25 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: I think you mean

   subsection (e).
                 MR. MUNZINGER: Sir?
 3
                 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: I think you mean
   subsection (e).
 5
                 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Subsection (e) as limited 6
   by subsection (h).
7
                 MR. MUNZINGER: Yeah, (e) refers to (h). I 8 apologize. It is (e) and (h).
 9
                 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher.
10
                 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I agree.
                                                         Ι
11 think we need to move 737.10(a), 737.8(a). Then we need 12 to move issuance, service, and return --
                 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Hey, Judge Christopher, I
14 don't think we got that last part. What are you proposing 15 again?
                 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Move 737.10(a) 17 to .8(a).
18
                 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.
19 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Move
20
   737.10(b), call it "Issuance, service, and return of 21 judgment," not "order," and move it also under the 22 judgment section of 737.8.
23
                 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.
24
                 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Turn 737.10 25
  into just "contempt." Put subsection (c) as "Landlord's failure to comply with the judgment," and make that the 1 2 beginning of the provision. Then the (d), modification, 3 needs to be combined somehow with 737.11. So it would be a motion to modify the judgment, which would include 4 5 either the reduction in rent or the repair order, and 6 combine those two somehow. 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. 8 MR. DOGGETT: Chip? 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yes. 10 MR. DOGGETT: You've got to be careful. The 11 reason why "order" was used and not just because of the Property Code, but somebody doesn't comply with the 12 13 judgment, the judgment may say, "You shall pay the tenant 14 $500." So I don't want a landlord to be guilty or 15 possibly guilty of contempt for not paying some money. 16 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Why not? 17 MR. DOGGETT: Well --18 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: That portion 19 of the judgment requiring him to repair. I mean, I 20 understand -- I agree with you, you can't hold him in 21 contempt for not paying. 22 MR. DOGGETT: Because I'm not prepared as a 23 tenant advocate even to hold a landlord in contempt for 24 not paying money. 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We tried to keep 10 and 11 separate because 10 we wanted to relate only to the 1 2 order to repair and 11 only to the order to reduce rent. 3 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Yes, but you include in 11 more about order to repair and remedy. 4 5 So --6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, only to the 7 extent that it would govern when the order to reduce rent 8 is terminated. 9 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: But, again, 10 you have to modify the judgment. Everything needs to be in a judgment to begin with, and everything needs to be --11 the judgment needs to be modified, I think. You know, 12 13 miscellaneous orders floating out there is a problem. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Lawrence, you don't 15 see it as a problem? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, she raised a lot of different points there. I think that we need to 17 18 keep 10 only for the orders to repair and 11 only for the 19 orders to reduce rent. I don't think we should mix and match those. 20 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. But what about her other -- Judge Christopher's other organizational, like 22 23 (a) and (b)? 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, moving (a) to 25 8, Rule 8 on judgment, is that what you said?

1 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think that 2 3 could work, I think. We just have to be careful that we restrict it only to the order to repair, but I think that 4 5 could be done. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We can do that. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: And what about the issue 8 9 of (c), subpart (4), where you have restricted it to that 10 one part of the statute and ignored the other part, (e) as modified by (h)? 11 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I wish I 13 could give you the cite for why I believe that, but that's 14 what is taught in the JP schools, I believe, and I believe 15 that there is some case law on that, but I'm not positive, but that's always been the understanding of the limits of 16 our contempt. 17 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Jennings knows 19 the answer. 20 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: No, but I did 21 want to point out under 92.0563, you know, they -- you 22 know, I guess everybody has recognized they do use the 23 word "order" in regard to (a)(1) and (a)(2), and they do 24 use the word "judgment" in regard to (3) and (4). 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah.

HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Is it possible 1 under the statutory scheme for an order to be entered and 2 3 for the landlord to comply with that order before you get to a point where you would want to enter a judgment for 4 5 the additional penalties? 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, that's what Richard 7 was asking a minute ago. 8 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Well, and it just 9 seems to me that you might want to give the landlord a 10 chance to comply with the order, minimize what they're going to end up having to pay out in a judgment to 11 minimize the tenant's damages, and I mean, there's got to 12 13 be a reason why the Legislature used "order" in (1) and 14 (2) and "judgment" in (3) and (4). I don't think they 15 just mixed the terms up. 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well --17 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Maybe they did, 18 but within the same subsection? 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It would be nice if 20 you could address the issue of the repair and have that 21 all finished before you render the rest of the judgment 22 because you don't know what the actual damages are going 23 to be, for example, if somebody has moved out, and they're 24 still going to be out until it's fixed, but that's not 25 what the bill says. The bill says you try this 6 to 10 days. 1 2 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: The whole thing. 3 The whole thing? 4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It would have been 5 nice if we had that luxury, but that's not what the 6 Legislature gave us, and we're trying to make these rules 7 fit in what the statute and the bill says. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Lawrence, isn't 9 that an argument for Judge Christopher's proposal that you 10 just have a judgment, you don't have an -- I mean, if it's 11 all a 6- to 10-day thing. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't care if we 13 have everything in one judgment. I think that's fine. 14 That's the way I drafted the sample judgment I have. 15 That's the way I would personally want to do it, but the 16 task force didn't really address that, but I don't think there's any objection to that. 17 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Elaine. 19 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Once the final judgment 20 is signed, and assuming there is no timely appeal, you 21 have enforcement powers, contempt and otherwise, right, 22 just by virtue of --23 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: For -- if everyone buys this continuing jurisdiction concept then, yes, we 24 25 would have enforcement powers over the order to repair and order to reduce rent. If you don't buy that then arguably 1 2 we would lose jurisdiction at some point, and if the 3 repair wasn't done then, you know, we're done with it. Ι don't know what happens. 4 5 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Well, wait a minute. Let me --6 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: If I'm answering 8 your question. 9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Let me restate it 10 because it was not a very well-stated question. Is there a need to change the judgment after it's final because 11 with the expiration of plenary power you have the ability, 12 13 the obligation to enforce the judgment if there's no Judgment hasn't been stayed. Are you envisioning 14 appeal. 15 this continuing jurisdiction where you're changing the underlying judgment? 16 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. 18 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Adding to it? 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, the only thing 20 that would be changed would be the completion date and 21 maybe the scope of the order to repair and changing the 22 termination of the order reducing the rent. 23 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And that would have to 24 be done by a motion to modify within a very short period 25 of time after the judgment is signed?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, the motion to 1 2 modify the order to repair would have to be filed within 3 five days --4 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okav. 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: -- after the 6 judgment is signed. The order to reduce the rent, that 7 would be taken up at such point as the condition was 8 remedied or repaired. 9 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Uh-huh. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: You know, this -- I 10 11 know it seems illogical, but this 6 to 10 days is a real That's why we're having to do this, to comply 12 problem. with that 6 to 10 days, and also, the issue of us losing 13 14 jurisdiction over the case. I guess if we kept 15 jurisdiction over everything until everything is finished 16 and there would be no final judgment until the end, I guess that would solve it, but that didn't -- the task 17 force didn't even really consider that, if I recall. 18 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 20 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: If the idea is 21 you have your final judgment, the judgment says, you know, 22 "Repair the toilet by X date, and during that time period 23 rent is reduced." Okay. So if the landlord finishes the 24 repair earlier then he wants the rent bumped back up. 25 Well, I don't think we should have to have a motion to modify. I think we could include that kind of language in 1 2 the judgment. If the repair is finished earlier, the rent 3 goes back up. You wouldn't have to modify it. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: And how would one 4 5 determine that it was done early? HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Well, that's 6 7 -- you know, you always have your ancillary dispute about 8 that if people disagree, but I don't think you would have 9 to go back in and actually move to modify the judgment. Ι 10 think that's unnecessarily complicated. The more tricky thing is you say, okay, repair by the end of the month, 11 rent is reduced for that month, but it takes him two 12 months to do the repairs, and then what do you do at that 13 point? And the question should be is it a new cause of 14 15 action for the reduction in rent for that month, or do you somehow keep jurisdiction over the case during that extra 16 month time period? If it's just a month, we're good. 17 18 Okay. Got 30 days, but -- right? You have 30 days for 19 your judgments? 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, 10. 21 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: 10 days for 22 your judgment. Oh, okay. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: All those hungry 24 contractors out there are ready to work on 10 days notice. 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's the problem.

1	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: But you have
2	continuing jurisdiction over an order, so like if we're
3	correct, you do. If it's an injunction, if you're ordered
4	to do something, normally my plenary power is 30 days, but
5	if no one has appealed, but I can still hold someone in
6	contempt if they haven't followed the order, what I have
7	told them to do in my judgment.
8	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But you
9	recognize
10	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: And I couldn't
11	modify the rent at that point.
12	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But you recognize
13	this is not an injunction. This is just a simple
14	judgment.
15	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: It's the same
16	thing.
17	HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: It's the same
18	thing.
19	PROFESSOR CARLSON: A quasi-injunction, I
20	think you said.
21	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Jennings.
22	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: You order
23	somebody to do something that's an affirmative injunction.
24	HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: I just had a
25	question. On the six days, are you getting that from the act, line (d)? 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, whatever 1448 3 -- that's what it says. 4 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Well, it says, 5 "If a suit is filed in a justice court requesting relief under subsection (a), the justice court shall conduct a 6 7 hearing on the request not earlier than the 6th day." Is 8 that what you're talking about? 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: 10 It doesn't say 11 you have to enter a judgment or anything like that. Ιt just says you have to have a hearing, and it occurs to me 12 13 that, well, you can have a hearing and then the judge can 14 enter an order for repair, but I don't see anything in 15 here that says, well, the court has to enter a judgment at that time. 16 17 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it was the 18 opinion of --19 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Then we have 20 this interlocutory order that you can't appeal that you ought to be able to appeal that is a problem. 21 22 MR. WATSON: Or he could take it under advisement. 23 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It was the opinion 25 of the task force that you need to try to dispose of this

1 within the 6 to 10 days, and that's what the rule -- what 2 it's based on, and that was a unanimous opinion of the 3 tack force. Now, it's certainly possible to craft some 4 type of rules that would allow us to not do anything 5 finally until after it's repaired.

6 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Because, yeah, 7 I'm wondering if that's the legislative intent, because if 8 you read the sentence it clearly says you have to conduct 9 a hearing. Well, you could have your hearing, then the 10 court could enter a repair order. There could be some time involved there to allow the landlord some time to 11 make the repairs and minimize their damages to the tenant, 12 13 and then after the repairs are made you could have a 14 subsequent hearing, an evidentiary hearing on the damages, 15 and then enter a judgment. So I'm wondering if you could 16 read this and come to the conclusion that the Legislature 17 meant this to be an order with its subsequent -- with its 18 separate remedy of contempt, and then after that's been 19 taken care of then go on and figure out the damages and 20 then enter a separate judgment. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Sorry about that. 22 May I respond? MR. DOGGETT: 23 Yeah, go ahead. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 24 MR. DOGGETT: Remember, this is supposed to 25 be essentially modeled originally on the eviction rules, a little bit anyway. In other words the 6 to 10 days was no 1 2 accident. That's the current time line for getting into 3 court if you want to evict somebody. The eviction process is supposed to be a short, quick way to get rid of a 4 5 tenant that shouldn't be there. The rules there are 6 similar. Your tenant's not paying you, for example, so 7 you're entitled to join a request for rent inside that 8 eviction case and enter a judgment quickly. One hearing. 9 Judge Lawrence has 2,500 of them. This is supposed to be 10 something simple and easy to do and not have multiple hearings requiring the parties and the judges and the 11 12 courts to have to continue to review something like this. 13 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: I could 14 understand it being simple, but I don't think it's 15 analogous, because, well, what if you have pipes bursting and it's going to take the landlord three weeks to, you 16 know, get somebody in there to fix it? 17 18 MR. DOGGETT: Well, and the idea is, though 19 -- it is somewhat analogous. How long is a tenant going 20 to be there after the eviction occurs? The judge orders 21 them out, but they may appeal, who knows. 22 HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: But there may be 23 repairs that take three weeks or months to -- for the landlord, and to penalize the landlord for something 24 25 beyond their control, I mean, I can see the analogy, yes, you want to move quickly, but maybe they recognized when they drafted this legislation that it's not quite the same situation and that maybe there's some flexibility here as far as you enter the order, give them a reasonable time to make the repairs, and then if they don't then hold them in contempt. Because it doesn't seem to be completely analogous.

8 MR. DOGGETT: I would just say that we were 9 confident that the justices of the peace are used to 10 dealing with this scenario between these litigants and how much rent is owed, et cetera. The tenant may be there 11 12 longer or shorter and may not owe the rent necessarily 13 given future events. Similarly here, we don't know what 14 the future will hold. The court is trying to figure out 15 what has happened and enter a reasonable order to address the problem and give the parties an opportunity to come 16 back to court if necessary to modify the order. 17

18 These are difficult problems, by the way. 19 This was discussed at length, but I want to try to at least defend what we discussed and how we came about sort 20 21 of our decision on the matter, and that is that we have a 22 procedure to allow an amendment in case of a problem, but 23 if there is no problem then we reduce all the parties' time in court and the court's time as well. That's sort 24 25 of how we -- we juggled the interests, you understand.

It's not a perfect solution, but it's how we got there. 1 Ι 2 think that's fair to say, Judge. 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Exactly. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 5 Let me go back to (c)(4). It seems to me on that? 6 somebody has got to figure out whether or not the -- what 7 apparently they're teaching the JPs and what the JPs 8 believe, which is the extent of their contempt power is 9 three days or a hundred dollars or both, contrary to what 10 Judge Yelenosky and Justice Gaultney think is the reading of the statute, which, frankly, is how I read it, that you 11 have more expansive authority. So somebody is going to 12 have to look at that. 13 14 HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: That would be me. 15 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: That would be Justice 16 So just like any first year associate at my firm, Hecht. 17 look into that and get back to me. So Justice Hecht has 18 got that one covered, and so let's talk about (d) real 19 quickly, and then just so everybody knows, Judge Herman is 20 here to talk about our agenda Item 4, and I don't want to 21 keep him, and there's been some representatives of DPS 22 here patiently waiting for longer than that, so when we 23 finish this subsection (d) of .10 we'll take a little break from this exercise and go to Judge Evans and the 24 25 NICS disability de novo issue, so let's finish up this as quickly as we can and then we'll go from there. 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. (d) is the 3 modification of the order to repair or remedy. "Either party may move the justice to modify the order to repair 4 5 or remedy by filing a written motion requesting a hearing with the court within five days from the date the justice 6 7 signs the judgment. " It's anticipated that you're having 8 this hearing on short notice. The landlord may come in. 9 The landlord may not have had time to get a contractor in 10 to really look at it to figure out what is going to be 11 required. The order may be entered to repair something 12 and the contractor gets out there and tells the landlord, 13 "No, this is a big deal. This is going to take a lot more 14 time" or "it's going to take a lot more money," so there needs to be some mechanism for the landlord to be able to 15 16 come back into court to change the -- change the date of the completion or some other aspect of the order. 17 18 "If the justice does not grant the motion 19 requesting hearing within 10 days from the date the 20 justice signs the judgment then the motion is overruled by 21 operation of law." And this is just the motion for a 22 hearing or to modify the order to repair. 23 "If the justice grants the motion requesting 24 a hearing, the justice must set the hearing no later than 25 10 days from the date the justice grants the request for a hearing, unless the parties agree to an extension. 1 If the justice does not grant a party's written motion for a 2 3 hearing, that party may appeal the judgment within 15 days from the date the justice signs the judgment. A motion 4 5 for hearing that was not in writing does not extend the time in which a party may appeal. A motion for a hearing 6 7 under this rule that is not filed within five days from 8 the date the justice signs the judgment is not timely filed and does not extend the time for a party to appeal. 9 10 "The motion requesting hearing must show 11 good cause for modification and why hearing is justified. The justice may modify the order to repair or remedy by 12 changing the date by which the repairs or remediation must 13 be completed, changing the actions the landlord must take 14 15 to repair or remedy the condition at the leased premises, and changing any other conditions the court may find 16 17 appropriate within the scope of the order. If an order is 18 modified, corrected, or reformed in any respect, any party 19 may appeal within 10 days from the date the justice signs 20 the amended order. The appeal must be filed in accordance with Rule 737.13." 21 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any comments about 23 that? Yeah, Justice Gray.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I'm sure you know 25 exactly why in each instance the word "judgment" or

"order" was used, but in going through that and listening 1 to you read it and looking at the times that it uses the 2 3 term "motion" or "order" -- I'm sorry, "judgment" or "order," that is very hard for me to get my mind around, 4 5 and I can't imagine that pro se litigants are going to be able to draw that kind of distinction. That's why I go 6 7 back to Justice Christopher or Judge Christopher's argument about getting these together. That's very 8 9 difficult for me if they're not in the same document and 10 with reference to the same at least piece of paper. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 11 12 MR. HAMILTON: I've already discussed this 13

with Judge Lawrence, but there's a problem with the timing 14 Theoretically one could ask for a hearing and the there. 15 judge grants it on the 9th day and sets the hearing for 10 days later, which would be 19 days out, which would be 16 past the time for appeal, if he denies the motion. 17 The 18 other -- so that has to be fixed, but the other question 19 that I had was why would the judge deny a hearing on 20 somebody's motion to modify?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, if he felt there was no cause -- good cause shown for a hearing, if it was just a delaying tactic, if the issue might not have been with the order but was something else that was more properly appealable. Those are three examples that come to mind. If they're asking you to do something that 1 doesn't even apply to the order to repair. 2 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: And, Carl, on your first point, does (d) (6) fix that? 4 5 MR. HAMILTON: No. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, I think Carl's 7 right. He's pointing out -- and I don't know, I guess we 8 overlooked this or something, but if someone files a 9 motion to reconsider -- or, I'm sorry, to modify the order --10 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: -- and the court 13 grants the motion for the hearing but ultimately decides not to modify the order, then the time to appeal would be 14 15 So we need to allow a time to appeal after that, passed. so I think he's right, but we can fix that. 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Good. Any other 18 comments? All right. Well, that will take us through 19 737.10, and let's take a little break from these rules now 20 and go to the NICS, disability de novo rules, and Judge 21 Evans has been working on this, and I think has been 22 talking to Judge Herman and to DPS, and there is a fair 23 amount of funding -- Federal funding at issue for our 24 state regarding this rule. So, Judge Evans, tell us about 25 it.

1	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: All right. Judge
2	Lawrence, thank you for wearing them down. Maybe I'll get
3	a pass on this, I don't know. Judge Peeples has told me I
4	shouldn't speak longer than five minutes and promised to
5	put a red light out. Judge Peeples and Justice Gaultney
6	and I were appointed to a subcommittee to work on this
7	problem, and I'll just outline what I'm going to do. I'm
8	going to lay out the background as to how we got here and
9	then point you toward the rule, but before I do I want to
10	introduce Judge Guy Herman, our presiding judge in
11	statutory probate courts; Mike Lesko with the DPS, and,
12	Mike, why don't you tell them your position?
13	MR. LESKO: I'm the Deputy Assistant
14	Director for the Law Enforcement Support Services at DPS.
15	I have all the crime records stuff, criminal history,
16	AFIS, sex offender registration, UCR, interfaces with the
17	Federal systems.
18	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: And he is
19	accompanied by Louis Beaty, who is an attorney with the
20	department. And this concerns the National Instant
21	Criminal Background Check System known as the Brady Act
22	and an amendment to that act in 2007 known as the
23	Improvement Act of 2007, and the Improvement Act followed
24	the Virginia Tech shootings and seeks to increase the
25	information available on background checks by allowing people who are selling firearms to determine whether or 1 not someone is prohibited from buying a firearm because of 2 3 a prior mental health adjudication or commitment, and it's designed to keep the firearms out of the hands of those 4 5 persons prohibited by state or Federal law from receiving 6 or buying a firearm or having one transferred to them, and 7 a person who is under one of these commitments is 8 considered to be a person who has a firearm disability. 9 Now, when they passed this law they required 10 the states to come into conformity with it, and, of 11 course, they tied -- they have a carrot to it, and a 12 If you don't come into conformity with it you are stick. not eligible for grant money, and so it's very important 13 14 to the department and to the state that we be eligible for 15 that grant money, and it is significant money, and Mike is 16 available to answer questions on that. So the Improvement Act required some changes by all states, and one of 17 18 those -- and that was laid out in a memo that Carl 19 Reynolds presented to us at the last meeting, and it's 20 posted on the website as a 9-23 entry if you want to go 21 back and look at that memo so you can understand how we 22 arrived at this point. 23 House Bill 3822 was introduced during the last session. It became section 574.088 in the Mental 24

25 Health Code and was designed to meet the requirements of

1 the Improvement Act, and it was thought that it did a real 2 good job of it. They had coordinated with the ATF, and 3 they felt like that they had provided for due process, and 4 I put together a very short memo with an attachment to it, 5 and 574 of the Mental Health Code is attached to there, 6 and you can see what the Legislature passed in order to 7 meet the requirements of the Improvement Act.

Working with the ATF, it was felt that it 8 was unnecessary in Texas for us to have a de novo trial 9 10 proceeding, one of the items outlined in the congressional act, because we were sending the petitioners, people who 11 are trying to eliminate this firearm disability, back to 12 13 the committing court where they get full due process, 14 right to trial by jury, full appellate right. After the 15 bill was passed and after the session was over, then 16 everyone started applying to ATF, and they began to 17 receive forms from the ATF which indicated a greater 18 emphasis on de novo trial review than had been perceived 19 by those persons who are going to have to implement it. 20 So the Court was approached in what Carl called a 21 rule-making exercise, and it certainly has been a little 22 bit of an exercise, to come up with a rule to bridge this 23 gap so that the state might be entitled to funds or apply for funds. 24

So first we thought we met the requirements.

Then we began to question whether we had met the 1 2 requirements, and now I will throw one small matter in. 3 We've got a little history out there. Nevada has made an They don't have what we consider to be de 4 application. 5 novo -- what we would consider to be de novo review, and they were approved. So we're going to proceed on parallel 6 7 tracks. The department will go ahead -- is considering 8 and is likely to make an application without a rule. Ιt 9 may take six months to have that approved, but the department and the OCA would still like for us to proceed 10 11 as we can to come up with a de novo review.

12 The committee met three times by telephone and had several e-mail exchanges in the process. 13 We 14 considered several options for a de novo review, review by 15 the appellate courts. We discussed that. Review by 16 masters, even transferring the cases to Austin, and finally we settled on the one that -- one of the other 17 18 options that we discussed, and that was the assignment of 19 a judge for de novo review.

It's pretty hard to do this within the confines of the rule-making power of the Court, and that's my five minutes, Judge Peeples, so I think I'm right there on time. And at this point, in the interest of time, what I'm going to do is turn over to the proposed rule, but -and I'm going to ask for comments, anything you want to

1 throw into it at this point. Judge Herman, is there
2 anything you'd like to add as a resource witness at this 3 point?

HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: No, other than, you 4 5 know, we've followed what we thought the ATF wanted us to 6 do in the legislative process. They took two different 7 statutes and put them together in this next Improvement 8 Act, and what we didn't realize was they were also expecting an administrative hearing of some form, and it 9 can be as little as a petition being filed with the court 10 and the court denying it in administrative capacity and 11 12 then a trial de novo. We did not realize that. We thought the trial de novo, that you would come back to 13 14 either the criminal court or a probate court and ask to 15 have a rehabilitation hearing, that would be sufficient for them. 16

17 We then find out that it isn't, and we start 18 hearing from them -- and it's hard to pin them down --19 that they sort of expected our appellate courts to have a trial de novo, and we said, "That's not going to happen," 20 21 and they said, "Well, you're going to have to come up with something," and then we find out a little bit later that 22 23 maybe Nevada is going to do it similarly to what we had 24 envisioned, and they approved it, yet we've been told that 25 we have to have this administrative process. And then I

1 contacted Mr. Reynolds and said, "This is a problem,"
2 because Carl had world worked on this the whole way
3 through, and we both had misunderstood what the Feds were 4 asking or we had never been informed what they were 5 asking, so we're trying to come up with a process of an 6 administrative hearing and then some appeal from that to a 7 trial court for trial de novo.

8 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: What we have come up 9 with as a committee I think I can outline. I think the 10 rule as -- may be read and will give you just as much 11 information. A committing court means the court which originally entered the order that led to the firearm 12 13 disability. In many -- most of our procedures that's 14 going to be a court exercising probate jurisdiction, and 15 what we envision is a bench trial when the petitioner 16 comes in for relief. If the relief is granted -- and the parties to the proceeding will be the state and the 17 18 petitioner, because the state would have been involved in 19 the commitment, and following the bench trial a petition 20 for de novo review would be filed, and at the point that a 21 petition for de novo review would be filed the presiding 22 judge of the statutory probate courts would appoint --23 assign a judge to hear the matter de novo if the original 24 committing court was a court exercising probate 25 jurisdiction, and we track the language in the Government

1 2 3	Code, and in all other situations it would be the presiding judge of the administrative region.
	presiding judge of the administrative region.
	So the right to jury trial will come at the
4	de novo trial. Both parties have a right to appeal it,
5	and then the final judgment, from a standpoint of
6	appellate review, if the initial proceeding bench trial is
7	not appealed, that's the final judgment. On the other
8	hand, if it is appealed by de novo review then the final
9	judgment in the de novo proceeding will be the appealable
10	order to the appellate courts. And I open it up for
11	questions, comments, corrections, grammatical or
12	otherwise.
13	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You say you want to make
14	this Rule 737, huh?
15	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: That was one we
16	picked.
17	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: .17, de novo reviews for
18	guns if they don't fix the leaky faucet. Any other
19	yeah, Frank.
20	MR. GILSTRAP: Well, I guess we all have a
21	problem with the idea that by rule we could come in and
22	create a tribunal that would review the order of a
22 23	create a tribunal that would review the order of a statutory court? I mean, I think that's what we're
17 18 19 20	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: .17, de novo reviews for guns if they don't fix the leaky faucet. Any other yeah, Frank. MR. GILSTRAP: Well, I guess we all have a problem with the idea that by rule we could come in and malpractice cases we're going to create a -- we're going 1 to have these submitted for de novo review to a judge, 2 3 another judge, and in a separate proceeding. 4 I guess -- I don't know, but that seems to 5 me like it might have problems. What if you, however, 6 instead of saying that, you said, well, in this type of 7 case we're going to keep it in the trial court, but we're 8 going to have another judge come in and be appointed to review the trial court's ruling in that same proceeding. 9 10 Would that maybe -- would that maybe remove some of the problems that this procedure would seem to have? 11 12 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: How the cause number 13 might work, Frank, is unknown to me at this matter, which 14 is a clerk function, but there will be -- when a judge is 15 assigned to a case, it doesn't create a new case. 16 MR. GILSTRAP: It does not? 17 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: It does not create a 18 Now, it could, because we're going to keep the new case. 19 original judge for all other matters, and there's, of 20 course, a concept in probate law that's pretty common, and 21 that's a final appealable order, and you know, you don't end up with this end all judgment in probate matters all 22 23 the time. You have to determine whether it's a final appealable order, and we decided not to recuse the trial 24 25 judge, remove the judge from whatever else is in the court, but only have the petition for relief and the 1 2 petition for de novo relief, have a judge assigned to it, 3 so we're not -- we are assigning a judge to it so --4 MR. GILSTRAP: You're envisioning it as the 5 same proceeding. HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: All of us in this 6 7 group have tried to figure out how to stay within the 8 confines of the Court's rule-making authority. We're not 9 positive we've done it, and I couldn't argue that we have. 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. 11 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: But we have assigned a judge to the case as opposed to sending it to another 12 13 court. 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah, Roger. 15 Well, I'm not sure whether MR. HUGHES: these are wordsmithing or maybe substitute, but I would 16 17 suggest first that subsection (h) state that the 18 affirmative findings have to make those findings that the 19 clear and convincing evidence shows that. 20 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Okay. 21 MR. HUGHES: It's best to have that in the 22 judgment, I believe, in question. Second, section (e) 23 says, "The initial proceeding will be a nonjury trial," and then you provide for de novo review by an assigned 24 25 judge, and you don't really say that that judge's review will be a bench trial as well. 1 2 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: It would be a right 3 to trial by jury there. MR. HUGHES: It would be? 4 5 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Yes. That's what we 6 were trying to infer. Didn't do a good job of it. 7 MR. HUGHES: Well, I guess I'm not sure whether it should be a jury trial at all, and I guess 8 9 that's my first question. HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I don't think we can 10 11 deprive a right to trial by jury. 12 MR. HUGHES: Well, but we're talking about a removing of a disability imposed by a Federal law. 13 I kind of think we're talking about a proceeding that didn't 14 exist in common law to begin with, but that's to be 15 16 discussed. Well, then the next question is whether the de 17 novo review is under clear and convincing standard or 18 whether it's just wide open, and who has the burden of 19 proof in that proceeding? I mean, if it's de novo, you're 20 back to square zero, and I don't know, you know, who has 21 the burden of proof. Is it -- are we to conduct it like the earlier ones? It seems to me if it's de novo then 22 23 basically once again the petitioner should have the burden of proof to show by clear and convincing evidence. That's 24 25 just my suggestion.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 1 Okay. Any other 2 comments? Yeah, Richard. 3 Well, I hate to speak out of MR. MUNZINGER: character, but I have a real problem with the Supreme 4 5 Court of Texas creating a right of de novo review because 6 the Legislature stepped on a banana and missed the boat. 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Are you mixing your 8 metaphors? 9 MR. MUNZINGER: Well --10 MR. ORSINGER: It was a banana boat. 11 MR. MUNZINGER: Any time you've got a tough 12 problem, just close your eyes to what the law is and let 13 the Court act. I'm going to be a person, let's pretend, who is harmed by this, and I've been denied my weapon, and 14 15 I come now to the de novo appeal, and I make the argument 16 that the Supreme Court of Texas does not have the right to create a right of de novo appeal because the right of de 17 18 novo appeal was not included in the statute. You know, my 19 goodness gracious, is the Court a court of law? Is it 20 restricted by the Constitution and by the Legislature, or 21 is it an agency to be used when there is a problem that 22 came about because the Legislature failed in its task? 23 And I -- to me it is a very, very dangerous 24 precedent for the Court to say because we have a problem 25 that may cost us a great deal of money in Federal grants we will create a right out of whole cloth. I can't 1 2 imagine such a thing. You've got a Constitution, you've 3 got laws, or you don't, and if hard cases make bad laws then to hell with it. It doesn't make sense to me. 4 Ι 5 understand the problem. It's a problem of government, but 6 it is -- it's a real bad precedent to say, well, we'll 7 just create a right of appeal here whole cloth because we'll lose some Federal money, the heck with that. 8 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So whatever Frank had is 10 catching, huh? 11 MR. MUNZINGER: You know, Frank's a good 12 guy. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Orsinger, you had a 14 comment, so walk back to you're seat and make it. 15 MR. ORSINGER: Yeah. I would say an 16 argument could be made that de novo appeal is really just the appellate standard of review of what the previous 17 18 trial court did. I mean, maybe that's a weak argument. 19 The other thing is who is the adversary that's going to 20 raise the argument that Richard just said? I mean, is the 21 county attorney is in there opposing these things, or who 22 is the opposing lawyer? 23 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: We looked at it, and 24 you'll notice in (b) we stated that the attorney 25 representing the state in the proceeding -- commitment proceeding was a party who had to be served, and that 1 2 would either be a district or county attorney, depending 3 on the locale that this occurred in. 4 MR. ORSINGER: And you're envisioning that 5 they will come and oppose, just like to be the loyal 6 opposition, they'll come in and oppose this and try to 7 make them prove their case and carry the fact-finder? 8 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I can't say --9 MR. ORSINGER: I mean, I think there's a 10 significant chance there isn't going to be anybody on the 11 other side. I don't know if that's a realistic assumption 12 or not. 13 The other issue is HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: the standard of review of de novo appeal occurred to me, 14 15 Richard, but the Federal law requires that additional evidence may be presented, and that was the hang-up we got 16 into, a right to additional evidence. 17 18 MR. ORSINGER: That's a very weak argument. 19 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I would like to have 20 done it the way you said. 21 MR. ORSINGER: Is this really going to be an 22 adversary proceeding at all or ever or most of the time or 23 just some of the time? Because it may be that there's 24 nobody on the other side. 25 MR. GILSTRAP: You could see a controversial

You could see a controversial case where a guy 1 case. 2 could have committed some crime. 3 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I think our 4 witnesses may be able to help us on that. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Herman. 6 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: I think a prosecutor 7 would be remiss not to look at any application for 8 rehabilitation. They're the ones that prosecuted the 9 person. They're the ones that found that this person was 10 likely to cause serious harm to self or others. They're very aware of what happens with guns and people with 11 mental illnesses. Of course, it happens with people 12 13 without mental illnesses, but I think many prosecutors are 14 certainly going to peruse the application, and I would 15 think in most cases would just make sure that the required proof was put before the court before the court made its 16 17 own decision. 18 MR. ORSINGER: Okay. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Carl. 20 MR. HAMILTON: What does (a) mean when it says "a person is furloughed from a court-ordered mental 21 health sentence"? 22 23 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: It means that I had 24 a lack of imagination and only tracked the Legislature. 25 That's their language, and so I just went with that.

That's what we -- that sentence right there is the way in 1 which 574.088 of the Mental Health Code identifies the 2 3 persons who may petition, and so I --4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Grav. 5 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Maybe Judge Herman 6 could tell you what furlough means on that. 7 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: In a civil 8 commitment, which can be done by a probate court or by a 9 criminal court when a person comes back from a state 10 hospital or an outpatient facility on a -- they've been sent there on an incompetency to stand trial. They have 11 been not -- they've been found by the hospital that they 12 13 are still incompetent, will never regain capacity or 14 competency, and they're shipped back, and there's a 15 finding that they also have a mental illness, and so the 16 criminal court if the charges aren't dropped, or the civil court, the probate court, if the charges are dropped, will 17 18 conduct a hearing to see if they are committed. Once 19 you're committed it's either for 90 days or for one year. During that 90-day period or during the one-year period 20 you could be furloughed; that is, let out before the 90 21 22 Or you could be discharged before the 90 days. days. As 23 a matter of law at 90 days or one year you're going to be discharged, wouldn't be considered a furlough at that 24 25 point, unless they bring new proceedings to keep you there longer, and that's the use of the word "furlough." 1 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: I think Justice Gray had 2 3 his hand up first, then Judge Christopher, and then whoever is hiding behind Jeff. 4 5 HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Roger. 6 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: With regard to de novo 7 review, to me that seems to be a misnomer. I know it's a 8 common term, but what you're really talking about is a de 9 novo determination, a new determination, which seems to be inconsistent with what is in (m) when an -- what Judge 10 11 Evans was referring to that the reviewing judge or the judge that's going to make the new determination has to 12 13 consider it. It appears to give the assigned judge discretion to receive additional evidence, when it was my 14 15 understanding under the Federal statute that the new judge 16 or the assigned judge has to receive additional evidence 17 if tendered, and the ability to give deference to the 18 decision of the committing court also seems inconsistent 19 with a new determination, not -- I agree that if it's a 20 review, a true review, that's okay, but typically de novo, 21 as I understood it to mean, is that that is a decision 22 That is a new determination based upon either the anew. 23 record or, in this case under the Federal statute, additional evidence that may be received. 24 25 And so essentially what I thought we were talking about was essentially a motion for rehearing, and 1 2 you get a new judge and you start all over, and you can 3 start with the record that's there, but anything that's properly admitted has to be admitted and has to be 4 5 considered and that there is no deference. So I would have thought (m) would have to be reworked to eliminate 6 7 the discretion. It will be "receive evidence as in any 8 other case," and no deference would be given to the 9 decision of the committing court.

10 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Justice Gray, I 11 would agree with you. That's my understanding de novo, but when -- it's in Carl's memo. When you look at the 12 13 requirements of the Improvement Act, the language is "the 14 reviewing court may but is not required to give deference 15 to the decision of lawful authority that denied the application," so that's where we parroted that language, 16 17 and then it states reviewing court also has the right to 18 review, receive additional evidence. Now, as far as --19 that's why we tracked it.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okay.

HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: But as a vote, if the committee said, no, wide open, can consider all new evidence and do a real de novo trial, I don't think our committee members necessarily have any problem -- well, I'd want to discuss it with them. I agree with you on the definition of what I consider to be de novo, but we just 1 tracked that Federal law. 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. 3 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: Could I ask 4 5 where "clear and convincing evidence" came from? 6 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Same thing. 7 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: The statute, Federal statute. 8 9 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Federal statute. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: And then --10 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Do we have 11 12 that? 13 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: It was in Carl's 14 memo and it was in 9-23. I believe -- well, I'll ask 15 Justice Gaultney. Did we pull "clear and convincing 16 evidence" from there, or is that another standard? 17 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: I believe it comes 18 from the Probate Code -- I mean, the Mental Health Code 19 which uses -- the proceedings under the Mental Health Code 20 are by clear and convincing evidence. 21 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I'll need to find 22 that out, Tracy. 23 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: And my second question, on the de novo review, is that designed to 24 25 protect the state or to protect the person trying to get relief from the disability? 1 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: It's a one size fits 2 3 all Federal statute where they believe it was going to be an administrative proceeding. 4 5 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: But I thought 6 you said that -- what you quoted to me talked about 7 someone where the relief had been denied. That would only 8 be the person, not the state. 9 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: That's true. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: So it seems to 10 me that Richard's idea that, you know, people are going to 11 be unhappy that we've included this new provision would be 12 13 unhappy if we gave the state the right of de novo appeal, but probably wouldn't be unhappy if it's the disabled 14 15 person whose petition was denied who gets the de novo appeal. Although I certainly understand your point about 16 how we're stepping outside the bounds of our power, but I 17 18 mean, you know, in terms of who's going to complain, if 19 I'm the person under a disability and I get a second bite 20 at the apple --21 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Right. 22 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: -- as long as 23 the state doesn't get the second bite. 24 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: The state may 25 have -- I think that that solution was only framed because we didn't want to have two jury trials, and we wanted to 1 2 have one hearing without a jury trial, and so the state 3 wouldn't have had a jury trial right on the first bite, and so we granted the state a right of de novo review in 4 5 the event that it was granted, and so, you know, if the first trial is a jury trial and the state is -- loses then 6 7 that would give some symmetry to it. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Roger, did you have a 9 comment? 10 MR. HUGHES: Yeah. 11 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: That was the thought process behind it. 12 13 MR. HUGHES: Basically they actually were The first one was, talking about losing 14 questions. 15 Federal money, the Federal monies for what? 16 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Mike, can you help 17 us on that? 18 MR. HUGHES: What would be -- what would the 19 Federal funds be used for that we might lose? 20 MR. LESKO: Essentially the NICS Improvement 21 Act is looking to improve reporting for dispositions to 22 the courts to enrich the database that that's using currently to not deny people access to a weapon. 23 24 MR. HUGHES: Okay. And the statute --25 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: Hold on a second, if

1 I may interrupt.

MR. HUGHES: Go ahead.

HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: There's also the component that they're going to take money from the criminal justice division of the Governor's office if we're not in compliance with the reporting requirements and having this procedure in there as a part of that by --and that's over a six-year period. They'll check you every two years.

10 MR. HUGHES: The next thing they talk about 11 is relief from a firearms disability. Is that disability 12 imposed by state law, Federal law, or both?

13 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: Federal law. And it 14 is there right now. The problem is we don't in Texas 15 other than in felonies and in family violence and --16 that's it. We don't report people that are committed to the state hospitals. We don't report that information up 17 18 to the DPS, which then gets up to the NICS computer. We 19 don't do guardianship to the DPS and up to the NICS 20 computer. So anybody that's ever been committed to a state hospital can purchase guns. There's been articles. 21 22 There's a person down in Harris County who recently had 23 been in a hospital, bought a gun, shot somebody with that. 24 Police officers shot throughout the country. We've had 25 people -- we get reports. There's no way to check without having this information. 1 2 MR. LESKO: Currently in the NICS index from 3 Texas --4 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Mike, the court 5 reporter, it may help her if you could stand. Just as a frame of reference, 6 MR. LESKO: 7 from Texas there are only seven individuals in the NICS 8 denied person's file for mental health reasons. 9 MR. HUGHES: Well, all I can say is, you know, I've seen a lot of commitments from people who have 10 11 severe drug/alcohol substance abuse dependency problems, and they may be able to clean themselves up enough to get 12 out of immediate commitment, but I'm not sure I would want 13 their firearms disabilities relieved just because they 14 15 managed to get out of a treatment facility into an 16 outpatient program, and the same thing goes for a lot of 17 people who are convicted for drug and alcohol offenses or offenses related to drug and alcohol. They may not need 18 19 to be in inpatient treatment, but I'm not sure I trust 20 them with a weapon, I would want weapons in their hands; 21 and the other thing here, I mean, I'm still not in favor of de novo review being a jury trial. Maybe that's 22 23 mandated by the statute, I don't know, but I still think a full blown evidentiary hearing in front of an assigned 24 25 judge who is probably going to be a judge from outside that county, that satisfies my notions of due process. 1 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I don't believe the 2 3 statute does require -- I don't believe the Improvement Act requires a jury trial. We only assumed that state law 4 5 required a jury trial. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Patterson, you 7 want to --8 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: Well, I have some 9 thoughts on that, but initially on (m), since you are 10 going to be receiving additional evidence, I think what you want is to be able to consider the original evidence 11 and decision by the committing court, and so instead of 12 giving deference, I think it's sufficient that you "may 13 14 consider the original decision and evidence considered by 15 the committing court," and that's consistent with de novo 16 review. 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Justice Gray. 18 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: If the rehearing court 19 has to make the same findings to grant relief as the 20 original court and we've specified in there the findings 21 that are required in subsection (h), do we need to specify 22 that in connection with the judgment of the assigned judge 23 in subsection (n)? They've got -- I assume they've got to 24 make the same findings to grant relief in the de novo 25 court.

1	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: We tried to do that
2	with the modifying award proceeding in (g) by saying, "In
3	determining whether to grant relief in any proceeding
4	under this rule, the finder of fact must hear evidence
5	about," and then "any judgment granting relief in any
6	proceeding" tried to encompass both the initial trial,
7	Justice Gray, and the de novo review.
8	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: That was a subtlety
9	that I missed, but if you think it's covered there.
10	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: No, I'm as you
11	notice, I didn't say a word all morning because the last
12	time I talked I got this assignment.
13	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: That will teach you.
14	Lonny.
15	PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: What was the answer to
16	Richard's concern that this is ultra sorry, that this
17	is outside the bounds of what the rules can do?
18	HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Silence was
19	the answer.
20	HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Can someone make
21	the argument again why it is outside? This is you go
22	back to the original judge who imposed the disability and
23	in effect get another shot at it.
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Get a new trial in
25	effect.

HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Yeah. And then 1 there's a right to de novo review of that before a second 2 3 Tell me why that's ultra vires. judge. What Richard wants to 4 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: 5 know is where is the source of legislative authority that So, I mean, take 6 gives the -- that creates that right. 7 the example from what we've been talking about before, 8 although I haven't been able to find it, I assume there is 9 some statutory provision by which county and district courts have de novo review of JP court decisions. 10 I don't 11 know where that is, but I assume it exists somewhere, and so the rules when they talk about in 749 and 750 they talk 12 about de novo review, that it's derived from the statutory 13 14 Richard says but where's the statutory basis authority. 15 on which we're allowing a de novo review here. The 16 statute actually specifically only says that a person who 17 has been furloughed can go to the commitment court and ask 18 them to remove the disability, and then Richard says --19 Richard the Second says, well, maybe we could treat this 20 as some sort of an appeal from that, but that does feel like a remarkable stretch. 21 22 MR. MUNZINGER: Well, the Texas Legislature 23 did not create a right of appeal from the first judgment 24 of the committing court of the original court and did not

Supreme Court of Texas get the authority to create the 1 right of a de novo appeal and, moreover, as this is 2 3 drafted, set the substantive legal standards to be considered, and especially that one criticized giving 4 5 deference, which denies the concept of a de novo appeal, but the bottom line is the Court is a creature of the 6 7 Constitution. It doesn't make law. It doesn't create the 8 right of de novo appeal, and the origins of this proposal 9 to us come about because the Legislature -- and it was 10 stated specifically. The Legislature didn't do its job, 11 so we're going to lose money from the United States of America, and it's a lot of money. Maybe we can get the 12 13 Supreme Court of Texas to cure the money problem.

Does the Supreme Court of Texas want to be in the position and does this committee want to say, "We advise you, Supreme Court of Texas, to be in the position the next time that someone argues to you or you are asked from the bench, are we a court that creates law or interprets law?"

"Well, you created law in rules 574.998, your Honor. What's the difference between doing that? That was just for money. This is for reputation. After all a man's sacred honor is much more important than his property." What are you going to do? What are you going to say, and how are you going to look people in the face and say, "We are a Court bound by a Constitution?" 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: It's not about money, 3 it's about guns. Judge Patterson. 4 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: Well, Guy, correct 5 me if I'm wrong, but I assume that when someone is convicted of one of these offenses there is a -- an 6 7 automatic disability in Federal law or it's included 8 within the judgment so that -- but by Federal statute 9 there is a disability, so-called disability, a restriction 10 imposed, and that this is simply a mechanism by which 11 someone can go back to the original court that imposed 12 that restriction to alter it? 13 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: Right. The -- this 14 rehabilitation provision only applies to the people who have been committed to a mental institution. It doesn't 15 16 apply to felons, drug addicts, or anyone else who has a 17 disqualifier. Family violence, doesn't apply to them. 18 There actually is one in Federal law. They can go up to 19 the ATF and see if they could get a rehabilitation. That 20 usually is not very successful, but in order to have the 21 Improvement Act certain groups demanded that all states 22 have to have a rehabilitation for the mentally ill, and 23 the idea behind it was there was a whole bunch of vets that were going to be committed because of PSTD, and they 24

2 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: But is there 3 something in that original judgment --HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: No. 4 5 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: -- restricting? 6 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: The felony conviction 7 automatically gives you the disqualification, the 8 commitment to the mental hospital. We've had the --9 HONORABLE JAN PATTERSON: Automatically. 10 HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: Automatically. The 11 disqualification has been there. The problem is we don't give the information. So now we've been forced to give 12 13 the information, and the Federal government has said we're going to force you to give it, but you also have to have 14 15 in place this rehabilitation for these mentally ill 16 people. 17 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: And how does 18 that respond to Richard's point? 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Bland. 20 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: I understand 21 Richard's concern about stepping out there, but we have 22 done it before when it involves procedure. Like, for 23 example, with the guardian ad litem rules we have a section where we talk about review by right of appeal in 24 25 Rule 174, and we have other rules where we say this is

1 reviewable by mandamus, and so if we're doing this
2 procedure as a gap filler because we're trying to 3 effectuate the Legislature's intent, I don't see it as -4 I don't see it as doing violence to the substantive law,
5 because I don't think that the intent of the committee's 6 proposal is to affect anybody's substantive rights other
7 than to maybe give them more due process rather than less.

8 And there are a number of things that the 9 statute is silent on, like, for example, the court where 10 such a suit ought to be brought, and so the committee has drafted a proposal that says let's bring it back to the 11 committing court, the judge that's to hear it, the time 12 for appeal, and all of those things, and those are all 13 14 basically procedural things that the Texas Supreme Court 15 has from time to time stepped in to fill a gap where there was one -- one in the statute when it was -- when 16 everybody had a pretty good idea of what the Legislature 17 18 meant to do in passing a law. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Carl had his hand 20 up first and then Richard. 21 MR. HAMILTON: Could we -- could we have the language in the Federal act that tells us it has to be de 22 23 novo? Could we have the language? HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: David, do you 24

25 have the Federal language for de novo?

1 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I have the Federal language for de novo both in the certification for form --2 3 if anybody has internet access, it is online on our website, and "The state must provide" -- it does say "de 4 5 novo judicial review of the denial," Tracy, and it says "State must provide for de novo judicial review of relief 6 7 application denials. De novo judicial review includes the 8 following principles: (a), if relief is denied, the 9 applicant may petition the court of appropriate 10 jurisdiction to review the denial including the record of 11 the denying court, board, commission, or other lawful 12 authority; (b), judicial review is de novo in that the reviewing court may, but is not required, to give 13 deference to the decision of the lawful authority that 14 denied the application for relief; and (c), the reviewing 15 state court must have discretion to receive additional 16 17 evidence necessary to conduct an adequate review." 18 You know, if the right to new trial didn't 19 have to depend upon newly discovered evidence it would 20 come as close to this except for the need for a new -- a 21 new adjudication -- a new judge on it, and that's -- you know, we could -- if we could modify the right to new 22 23 trial in this area, it would be all right, but it would be 24 pretty tough to do it.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice -- wait a minute,

1 I was out of order here. Somebody else had their -- Roger 2 did, Richard did. Roger, why don't you go and then we'll 3 go to Richard and then to Frank.

4 MR. HUGHES: Well, in terms of the de novo 5 review, the comment I heard earlier was that we may be 6 getting hung up on how the proposed rule is conducting de 7 novo review. What I see here is this that after the 8 initial judge makes the decision the person can file a 9 petition for review, which might sound like a motion for 10 new trial, in 15 days, which then turns around and suspends the judgment. The rule then makes the next 11 12 judge's judgment the final judgment. I don't see this as 13 much different than saying, look, the first -- if somebody 14 timely files a petition or what might effectively be a 15 motion for new trial, it effectively vacates the judgment 16 and now we do it over again in front of the new judge using slightly different procedures, which -- so that we 17 18 don't have a final judgment that's appealable until A, 19 nobody files a petition for review or motion for hearing from the first judge's order, or if somebody does that, we 20 21 don't have a final and appealable judgment until after the 22 assigned judge makes a judgment. I think that gets rid of 23 the problem that we're creating some new form of appellate review. 24 a very poor and a loose analogy, a bill of review, which 1 we don't have a lot of problems with. We know how that 2 3 works, so consider it a kind of mini-bill of review that before this -- the assigned judge's becomes final the 4 5 person files a motion, the original ruling is vacated, and he gets to try it all over again. You know, I don't see a 6 7 procedural problem that we're creating some kind of new 8 animal. You may have to play with the terminology some, 9 but I think we're going to have to do something.

I mean, it's sort of like a -- you might use

10 CHAIRMAN

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard.

11 MR. MUNZINGER: My response, in all due respect to Justice Bland, is we're enforcing the intent of 12 13 the Legislature, but the Legislature didn't speak to two 14 hearings, didn't speak to a de novo appeal. It just was 15 absolutely silent about the problem. It was their 16 mistake, and I'm sorry they made the mistake, but to cure 17 the mistake involves a basic philosophical judicial 18 constitutional law issue, who in the heck can create the 19 mistakes the Legislature -- can the Court do it, and are 20 you willing to blink your eyes at the truth? The truth is the statute is silent, so we're going to call it a bill of 21 Where did you get the bill of review? 22 review. Next time 23 I argue a case in front of the Supreme Court of Texas I'm going to say, "Yes, your Honors, and it wasn't in the 24 25 statute, but look here, you did this in rule so-and-so.

Y'all created that out of that. That's precedent." 1 We're 2 arguing precedence, and that's a precedent. The Supreme 3 Court of Texas wrote a rule with no authority to do so. Justice Bland. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: 5 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: On another topic, David, I was wondering why the -- why 15 days. 6 Is that 7 consistent with other kinds of time to file an appeal, 8 like a recommendation from the associate judge or a ruling 9 of associate judge, or I just don't -- we had this issue 10 with notices of appeal generally, how many days to file, 11 and if we can keep the days as consistent as possible then 12 there's less confusion among the Bar about how much time they have. 13 14 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Well, there's an 15 area of confusion we haven't gone into, and that is we 16 were trying to shorten that deadline so that because of we -- many of these people will be pro se. They could 17 18 file all at the same time a motion for new trial, motion 19 to modify and vacate, and a petition for review. Only the 20 petition for review gets an assigned judge, but the 21 problem is, is that many of these people have ongoing 22 problems in the probate court that are more involved than 23 just this issue, and so to take away the trial judge

24 completely that's been dealing with them, we tried to

25 segregate. This is so much of a work in progress, I cannot tell you how much the committee members have a 1 2 reservation, but we tried to shorten it for that reason, 3 but we have real questions about the way we're doing that, too. David --4 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Frank, then Judge 6 Christopher, then Judge Yelenosky, then Richard. 7 MR. GILSTRAP: Let's push this new trial 8 analogy. I mean, the right to new trial, while it 9 probably came from statute, is in the rules. That's where it came from. It's a rule. It's a Rule of Procedure, so 10 11 why couldn't you create another Rule of Procedure that gave a right to new trial in this case, except that if the 12 13 person asked for it he automatically got it and it was 14 simply reviewed with deference to the old trial, and he 15 could bring it -- to the first decision. He could bring 16 in new evidence. Let's push it further. Is there anything in the Federal statute that says it has to be 17 18 before a new judge? 19 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: We only imply that from this language that "the reviewing state court" and that seems to indicate an administrative -- a review of administrative decision. "Must have the discretion to receive additional evidence," that was part of it, and then it's the part about give deference to the decision of the other court. I have to find that in here.

1	MR. GILSTRAP: Does it say "other court"?
2	Because if I'm a judge I could sure review it and give
3	deference to my earlier decision.
4	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: "Give deference to
5	the decision of the lawful authority that denied the
6	application for relief." Now, we did point out to
7	ourselves in discussing it that on a motion for rehearing
8	we think the judges give deference to their own prior
9	decision, but we didn't think we could quite get away with 10	that argument before you, but
11	MR. GILSTRAP: Works for me.
12	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: In the new trial
13	analogy the court may I would think we would be on
14	better ground, but and it would certainly be easier
15	than assigning a new judge, but that's the real problem,
16	is whether we have to assign a new judge.
17	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher.
18	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: That's the real guts
19	of the problem if we have to replace the judicial, and
20	these people are going to file claims that are going to
21	have everything in the world joined with them. These are
22	not going to be simple petitions, just petition for
23	relief. There will be all types of things that could come
24	with them.
25	HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I think since the disability is imposed by Federal law then we are okay 1 in imputing the Federal procedures into our state 2 3 procedures in terms of removing the disability, so I would be against giving essentially the state the right to 4 5 appeal by a petition de novo. So the way I would phrase 6 it is if the -- what do you call it? If the petition is 7 granted then the state can appeal at that point, just like 8 a regular order. If the petition is denied, the Federal 9 statute says there is a de novo review. But only when 10 it's denied. So at that point you don't have to worry about who's got the burden and is it a shifting burden, 11 because it's the same person who had the original burden 12 having the same burden in the new de novo case, because 13 14 otherwise, if it's suddenly the state appealing, you've 15 got sort of this reverse burden, and it would be putting the petitioner to, you know, his paces twice, which 16 doesn't strike me as right under the Federal statute, so 17 18 that's how I would rework it. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Yelenosky. 20 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Yeah, I

21 actually got to the same point a different way. I was 22 thinking about -- and I don't remember it well, but I'm 23 sure Justice Hecht does, the opinion, the recent opinion 24 on motions for new trial, the discretion of the trial 25 court in that regard; and without some support somewhere

1 it would seem to me that if the state had the right of 2 appeal, somebody could make a pretty good argument that 3 without -- with no state law and no Federal law supporting 4 a de novo appeal for the state, where does that come from, 5 and doesn't that violate my rights?

HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: And all that would 6 7 mean is we would need -- we have to address the one -- one 8 of the issues we might want to address then is whether or 9 not you think there's a right to jury trial for the state. 10 And if that's fine then we can conduct two jury trials. Now, we may have become focused on the jury trial -- two 11 jury trial issues unnecessarily, but that would be -- and 12 13 that's certainly doable. We can get a jury in there and try that, but the state would probably be entitled to a 14 15 jury trial.

16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Richard the 17 Second.

18 MR. ORSINGER: Okay, I think maybe the 19 conceptual problem that Richard Munzinger is having is 20 because we're just assuming that this is an appellate 21 process, and really it's a new trial process, because 22 we're going to have new evidence. We may have old 23 evidence. That's kind of irregular, but at least there's 24 new evidence, so this is really a new trial, and we 25 probably -- maybe we shouldn't call it de novo review, but we should call it trial de novo, and if we call it trial 1 de novo then we're not going outside a constitutional 2 3 grounds because we know what trial court jurisdiction is and we know that trial judges can grant new trials and all 4 5 we're saying is, is this is kind of like an automatic new trial, if you lose the first hearing, and then if we do 6 7 that and just keep everything in the trial court then we 8 don't really have this issue about constitutional 9 jurisdiction. HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: But we can 10 only grant new trials on a limited basis. 11 12 MR. ORSINGER: Well, we're making up a 13 special rule. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: And we have to 14 15 explain our reasons. 16 MR. ORSINGER: We're making up a special 17 rule for this new trial. Now then, you've got to -- it 18 seems to me if we're going to treat it like a new trial 19 you should have a provision that you can introduce the 20 record from the old trial, kind of like you do in 21 administrative appeal to the district court. It's 22 optional, it's not required. And then we have to give 23 deference to the first ruling, so you can do that in two ways. You can either say give deference or you could, for 24 25 example, say whoever requests the new trial, in the new

1 trial it's their burden of proof to overcome the previous 2 finding.

3 So if the state appeals -- pardon me, in the first case, the burden is on the petitioner for clear and 4 5 convincing evidence to prove that they're entitled to have If they win and the state wants a de novo 6 a firearm. 7 trial, you could just reverse the presumption and say that 8 whoever requests the new trial has the burden. That means 9 that the previous judgment fixes the burden of proof, 10 which is giving deference to it, and it's not really very 11 This is the kind of thing we do all the time. irregular. So I think that if we could get away from the appellate 12 13 paradigm in the language and more to a new trial paradigm 14 then maybe a lot of these complaints go away.

And I'm not at all sure that I -- that the state shouldn't have the right to a de novo trial. I see that the statute, the effect of the mental health provision is suspended during this process, and I don't know if that means can somebody go out and buy a gun during the suspension period?

HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: No, the idea or the concept we discussed was come up with language that if the initial decision is appealed, new trial, we need to -- we would want -- we want to look at the ability of the trial court to suspend its judgment until all appeals have run, new trials have run, because if someone goes and buys a 1 2 gun that may be an issue. We haven't dealt with that. 3 That's one of those things we're still trying to deal with, but we did suspend the judgment so that -- the 4 5 initial judgment granting relief so that they could not 6 buy a gun. 7 MR. ORSINGER: So, David, under your thing, 8 if there is a request for a new trial or de novo appeal --HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I like new trial. 9 10 MR. ORSINGER: -- then automatically -- even 11 if the finding is favorable to the petitioner it's 12 automatically stayed, or is the trial court 13 discretionary -- have discretion to stay it or not stay 14 it? 15 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: If it's granted? 16 MR. ORSINGER: If it's granted and the state is the one that's requesting the new trial. 17 18 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Well, I -- there's 19 no guidance from the Federal law, and there's no guidance 20 from the state Legislature, and that may be a decision --MR. ORSINGER: Well, you see, if you don't 21 suspend the effect of the first ruling then you're really 22 23 not getting a de novo new trial upon request. 24 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Oh, I know. 25 MR. ORSINGER: You're really giving, if you will, adjudicatory weight to the first finding, even 1 2 though we're wiping it out for purposes of the second 3 So it seems to me that if either side requests a trial. new trial then there ought to be automatic nullification 4 5 of any favorable ruling that would allow someone to go get a firearm, and furthermore, how complicated is it if they 6 7 have the firearm, then the ruling goes the other way? 8 Then who goes and gets the gun, under what order, and I 9 feel sorry for the deputy sheriff that's got to go knock on the door at the house that looks like the Addams 10 11 Family, you know, and get back the gun that they shouldn't 12 have ever gotten.

13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: How did the Addams Family
14 get in this?

15 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: We were talking 16 about suspending judgment, and I'm not sure "suspend" the 17 judgment is the best wording, but "stay," "vacate the 18 judgment" may be a better word, because, you know, when 19 you look at the case law on de novo appeals from JP courts 20 to county courts or from those rare instances where there 21 is a de novo right of appeal from a county court at law to a district court in liquor licensing, that judgment is not 22 23 enforceable once that petition for de novo review is filed in those courts, and so "suspension" is not a good word, 24 25 is not the best word, and it needs some craftsmanship.

1	The question I might have for the committee,
2	and I'll just phrase it this way, and, Richard, the only
3	thing I'd say is it's not "must give deference" but "may
4	give deference" and I don't know if that's going to shape
5	the answer on this question. Do we have to assign a new
6	judge for de novo for a new trial?
7	MR. ORSINGER: If I lost the first one, I
8	would say yes.
9	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: What's that?
10	MR. ORSINGER: It's not really new if you've
11	already given it your best shot and you lost and you go
12	back in front of the same
13	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Peeples, then you.
14	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I'm just asking, I
15	want to make sure
16	MR. ORSINGER: It's not novo.
17	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Whoa, whoa, hang on.
18	Justice Hecht and then Judge Peeples and then Justice
19	Gaultney.
20	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: What do we think
21	the Feds think about that, Judge Herman? Do we have any
22	idea, or do they think we need
23	HONORABLE GUY HERMAN: Under their system
24	they go from an administrative hearing over to ATF to a
25	Federal judge, and it's de novo, so it would be a different judge, and that's what we came up with, was to 1 2 come up with a system of assigning, and the statute says 3 it has to be in the court that caused the disqualification, which in the civil commitments would be 4 5 the probate court, but if it's incompetency to stand trial 6 it would be the criminal courts, so it would go there, and 7 that's how we decided about the new judge and who did the 8 appointment. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Peeples. HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Since this 10 11 subcommittee has to do some redrafting I want to be sure we've got some clarity on a few issues. I've gone back 12 13 through the draft, and I'm glad that Richard Orsinger focused us on the term "trial de novo," instead of "de 14 15 novo review." That's what the Feds said, was "de novo review," and we just kind of went that way. I see we use 16 "trial de novo" in (j), but "de novo review" elsewhere, 17 18 but "trial de novo" is what is meant here, and I think 19 that needs to be very clear, trial de novo, not review, not de novo review. 20 21 Now, can we agree that -- I'm talking about 22 focusing on the Court's rule-making authority. This is 23 not creation of a new court, and it's not substantive law, 24 so we don't run afoul of rule-making excesses on that.

25 What we've got is a second judge taking another shot at what the first judge did. I frankly don't find that to be 1 For 29 2 extraordinary. We do it in Rule 18a basically. 3 years we've had 18a on the books where a judge number one can be replaced by rule by judge number two, and the 4 5 Legislature, as I understand it, didn't do that. That's the Court did that, and I've not heard the argument that 6 7 that violated the Court's rule-making authority, and I 8 respectfully disagree with what seems to be assumed here 9 by some of the remarks that this violates the rule --10 exceeds the rule-making authority. I don't accept that premise. 11

12 If you agree with me, we're not creating a 13 new court, not an appeal of some kind to some new body. 14 It's not substantive law. It's just a procedural thing 15 that's basically mandated by Federal law, and I think it's 16 within the Court's rule-making authority, and it's trial de novo by a second judge. Admittedly that's not a 17 18 widespread thing in our system, but I don't find it to be 19 outside of the Court's rule-making authority at all. 20 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Gaultney. You've 21 been very patient, although these other people were all in 22 line ahead of you, believe it or not. 23 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: I appreciate it. 24 No, I just wanted to jump in a little bit. The -- we trial, and we looked at some of the restrictions in terms 1 of what we needed, a new judge it looks like, and maybe 2 3 there needs to be a de novo, and it's not just new evidence that comes along. So then we thought in terms of 4 5 an analogy to a recusal process because the statute sends the decision to the committing court. Okay. 6 Now, this is 7 the court that may be and likely is, in my view, in the 8 best position to decide whether the disability should be 9 released. However, the Federal statute talked about a de novo review of that initial decision. 10

11 So the way we thought of it was in terms 12 of -- is an automatic recusal. Okay. The concept being that someone different from the person who is intimately 13 14 involved in the process, maybe the Federal statute meant a 15 different judge ought to take a second look at it. So if 16 you think of it in terms of a motion for new trial with an 17 automatic recusal and an assignment of the judge by your 18 regional presiding judge or your presiding probate judge, 19 that is kind of the analogy or the structure that was 20 intended. Now, the rule does adopt the language of the 21 certification, and so instead of using "motion for new trial" it uses "review de novo." Maybe the language 22 23 doesn't need to do that, and maybe that does create 24 conceptual problems when -- but to understand, that was 25 kind of the thought process that went forward.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Wait a second. 1 Richard the First is in queue and then Richard the Second. 2 3 MR. MUNZINGER: If you use the word "de novo" and pervert its meaning in this context why not 4 5 pervert it twice or three times or four times. If the 6 Federal standard says a different forum must pass upon the 7 petition to get this disability removed and now we are all 8 pretending and doing word games that we're going to have a 9 new trial but the new trial has to be in front of a 10 different judge than the first judge, it just seems 11 obvious to me that all these machinations are designed to 12 cover a problem that the Legislature caused that is magnified by our Constitution, and you can call it 13 14 whatever you want, but the truth of the matter is you're 15 perverting what de novo means. Your statute itself that 16 you're called upon to write a rule on makes absolutely no 17 reference whatsoever to two bites at the apple, makes 18 absolutely no reference whatsoever to an appeal, makes 19 absolutely no reference to de novo, doesn't do any of 20 those things. 21 It says the person can go to the court or 22 who has a firearm disability can go to court, get an 23 order, and can appeal it. What is the effect on the Rules of Procedure or the statutes governing appeals of a final 24

25 judgment under this when you have the de novo rule and this rule. I don't know, I haven't briefed it. 1 Is there an effect on the Rules of Appellate Procedure. Don't know 2 3 that either, but it does seem to be apparent that what you're doing is engaging in word games to avoid a problem 4 5 caused by the Legislature in the state Constitution. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well I'm personally going 7 to call it "Lawyers, guns, and money." Richard. 8 MR. ORSINGER: It seems to me that the 9 appealable order is the one that occurs after the second 10 trial, and that's where you have all of your appellate 11 jurisdiction. It also seems to me that this really isn't appellate review, because appellate review by its nature 12 It's a review of -is not a fact acquisition process. 13 14 get ready, Jane -- nisi prius tribunal that heard the 15 original trial, and you review what they did, and you 16 review the facts that they got, and you don't call witnesses yourself. All the things that are inherent in 17 18 the appellate process are to review the facts and rulings 19 from the first proceeding. In a sense we're kind of 20 wiping them out, maybe allowing them to put up the same 21 evidence, maybe they don't have to. To me it really isn't 22 appellate, and I don't know if the feds thought it was 23 appellate, but you know, we have a kind of a de novo 24 review if you have a special master that's appointed under 25 the Rules of Procedure and you get some kind of finding,

1 if either side appeals on that one you get de novo -- a
2 trial de novo in front of the district judge, so there's a
3 kind of a procedural precedent for it.

4 As long as we're rewriting this, I'm 5 thinking maybe we ought to discuss what the effect of a 6 final appealable judgment under (m), (n), (o), and (p) is, 7 because if you try to interface these with the supersedeas 8 rules they don't fit very well. I haven't checked the 9 language, but when you have a judgment that's other from 10 money or the possession of property, recovery of property, 11 you're off into a kind of a peculiar place when you're trying to decide who can supersede a judgment and how, and 12 it seems to me like we perhaps should just automatically 13 14 say or just say that automatically the ruling granting the 15 license or the ability to apply for the license is 16 suspended during the appeal to the appellate court, or if we don't do that, then how's the state going to post a 17 18 bond? I mean, who has the right to suspend the judgment 19 pending appeal and do you go to the trial court first and 20 do you review that denial in the appellate court or do you 21 file a motion. Maybe we ought to discuss that because the 22 supersedeas rule is not going to work very good on this 23 topic.

24HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: That's true.25CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Lonny and then Carl.

PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: And we talked about 1 2 that, but targeting back to the source of authority, can 3 the Federal Legislature give authority on which the Supreme Court can enact a rule? I'm thinking about 4 5 actually a couple of years there was a controversy about a 6 statute that didn't pass the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act 7 that would have effectively directed that we tighten and 8 make more mandatory and nastier our civil sanctions rule. 9 MR. ORSINGER: Let me respond to that. The 10 Texas Supreme Court addressed that issue in Eichelberger 11 vs. Eichelberger where at the time the Supreme Court of 12 Texas had only conflict jurisdiction in divorce cases or a dissent in the court of appeals. They just didn't have 13 14 general jurisdiction, and what happened was the 15 Eichelberger case was decided by a court of appeals, and 16 it conflicted with a U.S. Supreme Court decision, but it 17 didn't conflict with another court of appeals, and it 18 didn't conflict with the Texas Supreme Court, and there 19 was no dissent. So the question in Eichelberger was 20 whether the Texas Supreme Court had appellate jurisdiction 21 when the Constitution said they have jurisdiction only with a conflict between the Texas courts or a dissent, and 22 23 they -- justice --24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: One of those justices.

25 MR. ORSINGER: Oh, gosh, well, I'll tell you in a minute. It will come to me. Wrote this long opinion 1 2 about implied jurisdiction and inherent jurisdiction on 3 the Supreme Court, and they concluded that there was implied jurisdiction under the Texas Constitution and the 4 5 U.S. Constitution, which is the supreme law of the land, which gave them the power to review it. So, by the way, 6 7 that came up in the Court of Criminal Appeals, too, where 8 the U.S. Supreme Court -- the Court of Criminal Appeals 9 have ruled against the state on an appeal of a criminal 10 prosecution, and the state appealed to the United States 11 Supreme Court. Does anybody remember that? And the United States Supreme Court reversed the Court of Criminal 12 13 Appeals, but the state doesn't have the authority to 14 appeal a -- a reversal under the state constitution. 15 So, as I recall and I was in law school at 16 the time in Austin, almost half of the Court of Criminal Appeals was ready to vote that they were going to ignore 17 18 the Supreme Court ruling because the state had no power to 19 appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. That's a long way of 20 saying the answer is, yes, I think that the Texas courts 21 have jurisdiction inherently if Federal law requires them 22 to do something.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So, Lonny, that would bea yes. Carl

25

HONORABLE JANE BLAND: And a day is gone.

1	MR. HAMILTON: To answer what Richard was
2	saying, not aware that there's a statute either that
3	authorizes motions for new trial. They're Court-made
4	rules, so the Court I think could make a rule fashioning a
5	motion for new trial to fit this particular situation, and
6	I agree with Richard, that like injunctions, the trial
7	court can issue an order maintaining the injunction
8	pending an appeal, so we could also have an order
9	maintaining the denial of the removal of the disability
10	pending the appeal also.
11	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: The courts also decide
12	evidentiary standards.
13	Okay. Judge Evans, you and your
14	subcommittee are going to redraft this in light of these
15	comments?
16	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: Oh, yes. I think we
17	can draw them all together and make everybody happy.
18	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You think you can have a
19	little more enthusiasm?
20	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: I'm waiting for
21	Richard to make a motion that I could second and take a
22	way out, but that's fine. We'll work on it. We may wait
23	for the transcript, just hopefully.
24	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: That would be fine.
25	HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: In realtime.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Seriously, thank you and 1 2 the subcommittee and our honored guests for their input. 3 Great discussion, and I hope you don't think we're nuts, 4 by the way. 5 HONORABLE DAVID EVANS: As long as I did my 6 best. 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Let's take our afternoon 8 break. 9 (Recess from 3:34 p.m. to 3:55 p.m.) 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. We are on 737.11, 11 landlord's motion to modify the reduction in rent. So, Judge Lawrence, let's see if we can knock all of this out 12 in the next hour or less. 13 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. "The 15 landlord may file a written motion seeking to modify the order reducing the tenant's rent within the time provided 16 by Rule 737.10," and that is, of course, where you've got 17 18 an order to repair as well as an order reducing the rent. 19 "If the landlord does not file a motion with 20 the justice court to modify the order reducing the 21 tenant's rent, the rent will be restored to the amount in 22 the lease on the completion date of the order to repair or 23 remedy if one is entered by the court." So it's going to 24 be automatic, no requirement for another hearing. You set 25 an order to repair with a completion date, an order

1 reducing rent. Until it's completed you don't hear from 2 anybody, you assume everything is done, and on the date of 3 the completion, after that it reverts back to the market
4 rent.

5 "If the justice does not order a repair or 6 remedy of a condition then the landlord must request the 7 court to modify the reduction of the tenant's rent. (a), 8 if the landlord has been ordered to repair" -- (a) and 9 (b), (a) is where there's an order to repair, (b) is where 10 there is not an order to repair that goes along with the order reducing rent. So (a), "If the landlord has been 11 ordered to repair or remedy a condition and the landlord 12 repairs or remedies the condition before the completion 13 14 date of the order to repair or remedy, the landlord may 15 request that the order to reduce the tenant's rent be 16 modified." And what's happening here is that completion 17 date is December 1st, the landlord finishes it by November 18 15th, and he wants the rent to go back up to the market 19 rent, so he's going to file a motion to have the rent 20 revert back to the market rent, and he has to do that 21 because it's presumed by the court and everyone else that 22 the rent is going to be reduced until the completion date 23 on the order to repair.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge, why don't we just talk first about when the landlord has been ordered to

1	repair or modify and then get to and then talk about
2	(b) separately?
3	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes.
4	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Does that work for you?
5	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Sure.
6	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Anybody have comments on
7	.11(a)?
8	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Chip, would it be too
9	much to ask to revisit the first sentence of 10(b)? Only
10	because it says, "The justice shall prepare and issue the
11	order," and I meant to comment on that earlier. I had it
12	flagged and starred that if we don't change that, at the
13	appellate level when a lawyer is involved and prepares the
14	order and the justice signs it, the pro se party will be
15	complaining, because I get it even now in appeals, that
16	that order was not prepared by the judge, that was the
17	order that the opponent prepared and the judge just put
18	his name on it, and I would suggest you don't even need
19	that first sentence in that paragraph, but
20	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.
21	HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I apologize for going
22	backwards.
23	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Not at all. Your comment
24	is noted. In fact, I saw Justice Hecht just make a note
25	on your comment.

HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Yeah, but what did it 1 2 say? 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: "The stupidest thing I've 4 ever heard." 5 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: That's what I'm afraid 6 of. 7 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No, not at all, not at 8 all. 9 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Starred and flagged. 10 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Back to if the 11 landlord has been ordered to repair or remedy a condition. Comments on that provision? No backsliding. Everybody 12 13 was so engaged this morning. Is this perfect? We don't need to talk about it anymore? Judge Christopher. 14 I knew 15 we could count on you. 16 HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: I don't think we should have it in here at all. I think we should just 17 18 be silent on this point, and, you know, if the landlord 19 somehow manages to get the repair done a week early, let 20 them figure out what to do rather than through some 21 Draconian procedure and notice in 12-point type, and et 22 I just can't imagine that it's going to happen cetera. 23 that often that they're going to get done early enough 24 that they're going to come back in and file a motion to 25 change, you know, the rent for a week. Maybe I'm wrong, but I just say don't worry about it. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Anybody else feel 3 that way? HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: 4 Yeah. 5 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Gray. 6 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Well, I just agree with 7 her. You asked if anybody else agreed with her, I raised 8 my hand. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. And Lonny agrees. 10 HONORABLE STEPHEN YELENOSKY: Me, too. 11 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Bland agrees, Judge Yelenosky agrees, Bobby Meadows agrees, Jeff Boyd 12 13 agrees, Justice Gaultney. There's a tidal wave here. 14 Lamont Jefferson and Skip Watson. So, Judge Lawrence, why 15 do we need this? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, because you -- you know, there's more than that part to part (a). 17 18 Part of it is if the landlord finishes early and wants to 19 get the rent restored. You may not think it's important, 20 but I would suggest to you that landlords may think that 21 particular provision is important, and they may want the 22 opportunity to come back in and get the rent restored if 23 they've done something well in advance of the completion date. 24 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: There's also 1 2 provisions in there that on the hearing that, you know, 3 there be a hearing and there be proof. The tenant can contest the landlord's provision. It was just kind of a 4 5 due process concern that if you're going to set this order 6 that there be the opportunity for it to be modified --7 that both parties have the right to try to correct 8 something if circumstances change. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Christopher. HONORABLE TRACY CHRISTOPHER: We do a lot of 10 11 orders. We do a lot of like future damages that may or 12 may not occur, and nobody gets to come back and say, 13 "Well, they didn't really, you know, have $50,000 worth of 14 future medical, so I want a refund." Let's just keep it 15 simple. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 17 MR. HAMILTON: Well, I was looking at this, 18 it says if an order was entered, the last line it says, 19 "order to repair or remedy, if one is entered by the 20 court." So I guess that means that there can be an order 21 reducing the rent even if you don't order repair. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 22 That's correct. 23 MR. HAMILTON: And so I went back to look at 24 that, and it does say that, but it doesn't say when that 25 rent terminates.

1	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it does in
2	part (b). You have to have a hearing in that case,
3	because otherwise you're not going to know when the
4	landlord repairs something, so there's going to be a
5	requirement for a hearing to figure that out.
6	MR. HAMILTON: But we're not talking about
7	repairs. We're talking about you don't order repairs, you
8	just order a reduction of the rent.
9	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah, but the
10	reduction in the rent is based on the condition that needs
11	to be repaired or remedied, and even if there is no order
12	to repair, the rent is going to stay reduced until that
13	condition is fixed. With or without an order to repair.
14	MS. PETERSON: And that comes from
15	92.0563
16	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yeah.
17	MS. PETERSON: (a)(2), which I think is
18	in the report.
19	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: This is all part of
20	this Property Code stuff.
21	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any more comments
22	on subpart (a)? Okay. How about subpart (b), if the
23	landlord has not been ordered to repair or remedy a
24	condition?
25	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, then the only way that the court is going to know that something's been 1 2 fixed and the rent should go up is if the landlord tells 3 the court and files a motion and there's a hearing on it to determine that, yes, it has been fixed, the rent should 4 5 go up. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 7 on that? Yeah, Elaine. 8 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I don't understand 9 what's happening in (b). I'm not ordered to repair. You 10 reduce the rent because something isn't safe or healthy and then the landlord repairs something voluntarily they 11 weren't supposed to or weren't ordered to, or what's going 12 on here? 13 14 Well, that's HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 15 exactly right. Remember, there are five different things that you can file a suit for under this rule, order to 16 repair, order reducing rent, actual damages, civil 17 18 penalty, attorney's fees, and court costs. You don't have 19 to sue for all of those. So you can file a suit to reduce 20 the rent and get civil penalties, let's say, but not file 21 for an order to repair, for whatever reason, but you can do it. 22 23 PROFESSOR CARLSON: Okay. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But the order 24 25 reducing rent is premised on the fact that whatever this condition is, is unhealthy or unsafe; therefore, the rent 1 2 should be reduced in accordance with that, and you're 3 going to order the rent reduced until that's fixed basically, if there's no order to repair. So there's got 4 5 to be some mechanism to have the landlord come in and say The rent needs to go back up to the market 6 "I fixed it. 7 rent now." So that's what this is about. Hopefully there 8 will always be an order to repair with the order reducing 9 rent so you don't have to worry about this part (b), but 10 there's no guarantee that there will always be an order to repair, so you have to have some provision to have the 11 rent restored when it's finally fixed. And, no, the 12 13 landlord is not going to -- he's not ordered by the court 14 to fix it, but his motivation is that the rent is not 15 going back up until he fixes it, so presumably he's going to want to get that fixed, notify the court, so the rent 16 17 can go up. 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Got it. Carl.

19 MR. HAMILTON: Well, under what 20 circumstances would you -- under one circumstance you can 21 order it repaired and then when it's repaired you put the 22 rent back. The other situation is you don't order it 23 repaired, and it just -- the rent stays down until the 24 landlord fixes it. So why even enter an order of repair? 25 Why not just let it -- the rent stay down until the landlord fixes it? Under what circumstances would you 1 2 enter an order and when would you not enter an order? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, first of all, the tenant's got to ask for both of those. The tenant has 4 5 to ask that there be an order to repair and has to ask that there be an order reducing the rent, so assuming that 6 7 they ask for both of those and there is a condition that 8 must be fixed under the Property Code, then presumably the 9 judge is going to order both of those, but who knows what 10 a tenant is going to ask for. They may ask for only one of those or neither of those possibly. They may just ask 11 for damages and not for any of these, but they may just 12 ask for an order reducing rent, for whatever reason. 13 Ι 14 can't tell you why they would want to do that, but it's 15 possible under the statute that they would. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments about this (b)? You okay, Carl? 17 18 MR. HAMILTON: I'm okay, but I don't know 19 that I understand it all. 20 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: Here, here. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You're not board 21 22 certified in rent repair reductions. Okay. Well, let's 23 go to 12 then. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Motion to set aside 24 25 default judgment or dismissal. "A motion to set aside default judgment or dismissal must be in writing and filed 1 within five days from the date the justice signs the 2 3 judgment or order. A party may file only one motion to set aside a default judgment or dismissal for want of 4 5 prosecution. An order setting aside a default judgment order of dismissal for want of prosecution must be signed 6 7 within 10 days after the date the justice signs the 8 default judgment or order of dismissal for want of 9 prosecution.

10 "If a written motion to set aside a default 11 judgment or dismissal for want of prosecution is timely 12 filed but is not granted by written order within 10 days after the justice signs the default judgment or order of 13 14 dismissal for want of prosecution, then in order to 15 perfect an appeal the party filing the motion must file a 16 written notice of appeal within 15 days from the date the justice signs the judgment." Now, the 15 days is to cure 17 18 a trap that currently exists in the motion for new trial 19 and motions to appeal in the justice court rules. You 20 have five days in the justice court rules to file a motion 21 for new trial, and that motion must be granted or denied 22 and within 10 days, and you have to appeal within 10 days. 23 The lack of action on the motion for new trial or the denial of the motion for new trial does not 24 25 extend the appellate timetable. So you're reduced to having to call the court, "Did he sign the motion for new 1 trial," and if you don't call and it's never signed then 2 3 on the 10th day you should have appealed or you have lost your right to appeal because it's not extended under the 4 5 current rules. Also, since the five days is subject to Rule 4, which excludes Saturdays, Sundays, and legal 6 7 holidays, and the 10 days is not -- a good example is next 8 week. If I sign a judgment next Tuesday, five days to sign a motion for new trial. You start doing the 9 10 calculations, and the fifth day is the following Thursday because Wednesday is day one; Thursday, Friday, Saturday, 11 12 Sunday don't count; Monday is day two; Thursday is day three; Wednesday is day four; and Thursday is day five. 13 14 So the fifth day to file the motion for new trial is the 15 next -- is the following Thursday. 16 The 10th day to file the appeal is the next day or Friday, so this is fixing that problem that 17 18 currently exists in the justice court rules so you don't 19 have that trap. So that's why you've got the 15 days there, and then (c) is when both the tenant and landlord 20 21 appear for trial, no motion for new trial may be filed. That is consistent with the eviction rules. 22

HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Tom, if we have a problem in the -- with the other justice court rule, why 1 don't we fix that rule instead of creating a whole other 2 3 rule for appeals of this special kind of case, or is that because we have to -- because of the statute? 4 5 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, it's not --6 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Because now we're 7 going to have multiple appellate tracks in the justice 8 courts, and that doesn't seem to make a lot of sense. 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, now, whether 10 it makes sense or not, I don't know what to say about that, but all I can tell you is that --11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You're moot on that 13 topic. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All I can tell you 15 is that we want these rules to be as good as possible, and that should be fixed, so that's why these rules are like 16 this. Now, yeah, I think the other rules should be fixed, 17 18 and we can take that up at a later date, but we're trying 19 to make these rules as good as we can, so we want to 20 remove that potential trap. 21 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Why are these rules 22 self-contained with respect to motions for new trial and 23 appeal instead of just referring to the existing rules for 24 that out of the justice courts? 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The task force felt with a great degree of unanimity that these rules are superior to the existing rules, that these are clearer and better.

HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Except now we'll have two sets of rules for appealing justice court judgments, depending on what the underlying claim is.

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We already have a great diversity in justice court rules now with small claims and justice court. There are already differences that exist. There are more differences that exist on evictions, so we have those conflicts now already, and, yes, this will be a little bit different, but this is better.

14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. And then Justice 15 Gray.

16 MR. HAMILTON: I think paragraph (b) needs to be fixed a little bit. We say that "if the motion is 17 18 not granted by written order within 10 days." Usually we 19 say something like it's overruled by operation of law, but 20 then we skip from no order to the time for appeal without saying what happens to the motion. Shouldn't we need to 21 22 say it's overruled by operation of law and then the time 23 for appeal?

HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think wecould do that. Yeah, that might make sense.

MR. HAMILTON: Because there's no connection 1 2 really between the failure to do the order and the time 3 for an appeal. 4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. I think 5 that's a good idea. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Justice Gray. 7 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I feel relatively 8 certain that if Professor Dorsaneo were here at this point 9 he would say this would be a good time to make that 7 10 days, 14 days, and 21 days, because of the multiples of seven and not having to incur the problem of the falling 11 on a holiday or weekend. Would there be -- would that be 12 13 too long for those periods to not fall on 7, 14, and 21? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't know if it 15 would be too long or not. It's the -- you know, it's the 16 tenants that have the interest in moving this along as quickly as possible. We tried to keep it as consistent as 17 18 we could with the existing JP rules. We changed it where 19 we thought it needed to be changed, but the 5 and 10 days is consistent with what the JPs are used to. That was 20 21 really why those time limits were selected, just 22 consistency. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Frank. 24 MR. GILSTRAP: Why do we only allow the 25 court to set aside a default judgment or a DWOP? I mean,

I mean, is there -- there's no general right to a new 1 I mean, why these two? 2 trial? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we took this from the eviction rules in the interest of this being 4 5 Since there is no appeal bond to appeal, if speedy. 6 you're unhappy you can appeal, but if it's a DWOP or 7 dismissal, and there's some -- you know, some reason for 8 that, it seems like somebody ought to get a bite at the 9 apple and have their day in court without just having to 10 appeal. I guess the alternative would be no setting aside, just appeal everything, but you don't want to send 11 all of this stuff up to county court on appeal if you can 12 handle it at the JP court level. That's where it ought to 13 14 be --15 MR. GILSTRAP: I'm just wondering why there might not be another grounds for setting it aside. 16 Ι mean, setting it aside if there's -- once you've had a 17 18 hearing as opposed to a default or a DWOP. Well, we didn't 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 20 think that was needed because of the ability to appeal, at least by the landlord, without posting an appeal bond. 21 22 MR. GILSTRAP: One more thing. Can you 23 direct me to the analogous provision in the eviction 24 rules? 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: For the no new

1 trial? 2 MR. GILSTRAP: Yeah. Yeah. For this 3 particular 737.12. 4 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. Well, some 5 of this is going to be found in 567, 566, 570, and some of the other part is going to be found -- well, let's see. 6 7 MR. GILSTRAP: That's fine. I don't want to 8 take up any more time. Thank you. 9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, somewhere in the eviction rules it says "no new trial," but I can't put 10 11 my finger on it. 12 Okay. MR. GILSTRAP: Thanks. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Bland. 14 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: I appreciate that 15 these rules are better, but if they are better, we ought 16 to just have one set of rules and fix the ones that we have or get rid of the ones that we have that are bad. 17 We 18 shouldn't have two sets of rules for appeals out of 19 justice courts depending on what the nature of the claim 20 is. Or we shouldn't have multiple sets. It sounds like 21 we have more than two. We should be going toward simpler 22 and fewer appellate tracks and deadlines rather than more, 23 and if these -- and I'm sure these are better, and if these are better, we ought to just get rid of the ones 24 25 that are bad.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Munzinger, you're not 1 2 going to be mad about these, are you? 3 MR. MUNZINGER: No, no. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okav. 5 MR. MUNZINGER: I just want to point out 6 that you use the phrase "dismissal for want of 7 prosecution" twice in 737.12 but do not use "for want of 8 prosecution" in 737.7(f), which I assume is what you --9 they're the same order, and you ought to be consistent, I 10 think. 11 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okav. 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: All right. Anything else 13 on this .12? Let's go to .13. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Okay. This is 15 going to be almost as much fun as the contempt issue. Appeal. Here's the way -- the statute says that an owner 16 of real property who files a notice of appeal of a 17 18 judgment of a justice court to the county court perfects 19 the owner's appeal and stays the effect of the judgment 20 without the necessity of posting an appeal bond. So the 21 owner of real property, the landlord, gets a free appeal. 22 It doesn't say that the tenant gets to appeal without 23 posting an appeal bond. Statute doesn't say that. 24 The task force was of the opinion, although 25 it was a divided vote, that -- that it would be fairer to allow the tenant the same rights to appeal, you know, 1 2 meaning without posting an appeal bond. If you don't 3 think that that's the way to go, there are two alternatives. Alternative one is that the -- you can't 4 5 change the landlord. That's in the statute. So he's going to get an appeal by filing a notice of appeal. 6 That 7 really can't be changed, but you can require the tenant to 8 post an appeal bond if you think that that's proper, and 9 there are really two ways to do it.

One way is to track Rule 571, which is the 10 11 justice court's civil rule, and that basically is they would have do pay twice the amount of the cost, would be 12 13 the appeal bond. That's what a plaintiff has to pay who 14 does not prevail. They have to pay twice the amount of 15 Normally a defendant who has a judgment the costs. written up against them pays twice the amount of the 16 judgment to appeal in a justice civil, but the tenant, who 17 would be like the plaintiff, under Rule 571 would only pay 18 19 twice the amount of the costs.

The alternative would be to base it on Rule The alternative would be to base it on Rule 749, which is the eviction appeal where the justice sets the appeal bond as he sees fit. So those would be two alternatives to the way the task force has it written. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Frank. MR. GILSTRAP: The first alternative gets us right back into the problem we dealt with when we first 1 2 reworked the eviction rules, which was the problem that 3 you -- under the Constitution you couldn't require the posting of rent as a condition for appeal. I mean, I 4 5 think, Elaine, we were -- wasn't that what triggered all 6 of that? 7 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I hate to admit this, 8 Frank, but I was reading another rule. I'm sorry. 9 MR. GILSTRAP: Well, all right, but we 10 had --CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Well, pay attention. 11 12 MR. GILSTRAP: You know, I think that was what sent us down the road, was the determination that if 13 you're going to require people to put up money to appeal, 14 15 that that violates the Constitution, and I suspect that might have been one reason the Court didn't act on it, 16 because I think it was a very unpopular provision with 17 landlords. 18 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Other comments about 20 this? 21 MR. HAMILTON: About 13? 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Yeah, Justice Gray. Then Carl. 23 24 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: There's the usual 25 problem of 10 days within the date the justice signs the

1 judgment, if it's the -- the parties don't know when that 2 happens. I know this normally occurs at the end of the 3 hearing in these, but as I recall there was some recent 4 round of discussion in this committee about the justice's 5 ability to take issues under advisement and in effect 6 issue an opinion -- or a judgment at a later date, so you 7 have the how do we know when that 10 days starts.

8 The Supreme Court has -- and with regard to 9 the next sentence, "The perfection of the appeal will be considered perfected with the filing of the notice of 10 appeal." The conjunction, "and the payment of a 11 transcript fee in the justice court." I mean, understand 12 that that is a dual requirement to invoke the appellate 13 14 jurisdiction of the next court, both of which must happen, and I think that's the almost identical language that had 15 16 to do with filing -- and the filing of a affidavit of indigency, which I think it's Higgins and another case 17 18 that we -- it's the filing of the notice of appeal that 19 invokes the jurisdiction of the court and that the payment 20 of a fee, in that case the filing fee, isn't 21 jurisdictional. In effect, the filing of the affidavit is 22 not jurisdictional, so basically I'm asking can we really 23 tie the perfection of the notice of appeal to both of those -- I'm sorry, perfection of the appeal to both the 24 25 filing and the payment of the transcript fee, or should we only tie it to the notice of appeal filing? 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, we put that 3 in there to tip-off the tenant or the landlord that they've got to pay this, because the local Government Code 4 5 says that until I get my 10-dollar transcript fee that 6 nothing gets sent up or that they do the affidavit of 7 inability, the indigency. So that's there just as a 8 tip-off to let them know that's got to be paid, because 9 that's a condition precedent to me processing that appeal, 10 local Government Code. So, no, it -- that transcript fee doesn't have to be in there. We're just doing that to 11 help out the litigants. 12 13 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: And is it only the 14 landlord that has to pay that fee? Did I understand that 15 correctly? 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, all the statute -- no. Anybody that appeals has to pay that fee. 17 18 All the statute did is say the landlord doesn't have to 19 post an appeal bond. It didn't except the landlord from 20 paying the transcript fee. It didn't change the local 21 Government Code that requires that. HONORABLE TOM GRAY: So can the landlord not 22 23 pay a -- I'm sorry, can the landlord not use an affidavit 24 of indigency? 25

an affidavit of indigency for the 10-dollar transcript fee 1 if he wanted to. 2 Sure. 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. MR. HAMILTON: I think my question has been 4 5 answered, but --6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other -- yeah, 7 Justice Gaultney. 8 HONORABLE DAVID GAULTNEY: The Government 9 Code doesn't -- you're saying it just requires the payment 10 of the transcript fee, so you can separate that out, right, and just if you wanted to inform them you could 11 say, "The appellant must pay the payment of the transcript 12 13 fee," and then it's perfected upon the filing of the notice of appeal? 14 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, yeah, we can take that out, but then that sort of sets up a trap where 16 17 somebody doesn't know that they have to pay the transcript 18 fee, but it can come out. It just may cause some 19 confusion for the litigants. It's just there to help the 20 litigants, to tip them off that they're going to have to 21 pay that fee to get it processed. 22 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I guess what I'm trying 23 to focus on is, is that jurisdictional to the appeal? Is 24 that necessary to perfect the appeal, or is it only the 25 notice of appeal, and sooner or later you're either going to have to pay the transcript fee or file an affidavit of 1 indigency? 2 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I didn't bring the section of the local Government Code, but I 4 5 think the way it's worded is you have to get in the $10 before you send the paperwork up to the county court, 6 7 before you process that appeal, I think is the way it's 8 worded. I don't remember exactly. But that's the fee to 9 prepare the transcript to send it up to county court, so 10 until you get the fee it doesn't go up to county court. 11 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Okay. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Now, I don't 13 know -- I understand what you mean by perfecting the 14 We're going to talk more about that a little bit appeal. later in this rule. I don't know that -- I don't remember 15 if there's any case law that talks about the transcript 16 fee for protecting. There is case law that the payment of 17 18 the filing fee in county court, which is why we've got a 19 rule drafted a little bit later that's going to cover 20 that. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Why did -- why did the 22 task force prefer this version of subparagraph (a) as 23 opposed to the alternatives in Footnote 5? 24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, and Wendy and 25 Kennon, correct me if I'm wrong, but I think they felt it

1 was -- if it was going to be a no appeal bond for the 2 landlord, it was fair to have that same provision for the 3 tenant. I think, Wendy, was that pretty much the only 4 concern?

5 And I think, though, the reason MS. WILSON: we came to that determination is there had been -- I think 6 7 Mr. Fuchs had said in our task force meeting that there 8 was some equal protection case law out there that you couldn't have -- that if you had no bond posted for the 9 10 landlord, that it would have to be the same for the 11 tenant; and I think based on, you know, that supposition we decided that, you know, it should be the same for both. 12 13 You know, I know that from being involved in 14 the drafting of it that it was intended that the --15 certainly the landlords should not have to post a bond, and Mr. Doggett is not here, but, you know, I think that 16 17 the idea was that the tenants would post a bond, but that 18 the bond in this case would typically be much greater for 19 a landlord, who is presumably going to have some judgment 20 or order of repair that's significant in nature. But, 21 again, we did decide as, you know, based on that possible 22 line of cases dealing with equal protection that what's 23 good for one is possibly good for the other. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 24 This was not a

25 unanimous vote on the task force --

MS. WILSON: 1 Right. 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: -- to allow the 3 tenants the free appeal. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. All right. 5 Anything else on (a)? Yeah, Elaine. 6 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I just want to say 7 normally outside of the JP arena, you know, plaintiff 8 doesn't have to put up any type of appellate security to 9 secure a take-nothing judgment. There's nothing to 10 secure. But Judge Lawrence reminds me that that is not 11 the rule in justice court, that plaintiff who suffers a take-nothing judgment, if I understood this correctly, is 12 13 normally required to put up double the amount of the 14 costs. 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Costs. Rule 571. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. That was 17 alternative one, based on 571. 18 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: And then 19 alternative two is based on Rule 749, which would let the 20 justice set the appellate bond at whatever he thought was 21 proper. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: A majority of the task 23 force, however, was in favor of what we have here in 24 the --25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: A narrow majority.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: So was it like 11 to 10 1 2 or --3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We were a congenial group. We didn't take a lot of votes. We just --4 5 MS. PETERSON: Got a sense for it. 6 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. All right. Gene, 7 sorry. 8 MR. STORIE: Yeah, I just want to observe 9 that if there's an equal protection issue on this then 10 wouldn't it will also be true of Rule 571? 11 (Sotto voce by Justice Duncan) 12 THE REPORTER: I didn't hear what you said, 13 I'm sorry. 14 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: That's why Elaine 15 and I think 571 is unconstitutional. 16 MR. STORIE: Yeah, that's the one in the 17 footnote. 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: She and Elaine, speaking 19 for Elaine, think that 571 is unconstitutional. 20 PROFESSOR CARLSON: That is what we talk about. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Huh? 22 23 PROFESSOR CARLSON: This is our world. We talk about this kind of stuff. 24 25 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Judge Bland is down there studying a case so that she can tell us about it. 1 Sarah. 2 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: It's 5:00 o'clock 3 somewhere, Chip. 4 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: She is thirsting for the 5 Four Seasons, I can tell. Sarah. 6 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: Judge Lawrence, 7 where is the provision in the Senate bill that a notice of 8 appeal stays the effect of the judgment? HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, it's not, but 9 10 that's -- typically in any JP court appeal when the appeal 11 is perfected, that's it. It's -- the case law calls the judgment a nullity, and it goes up to county court on a de 12 novo, trial de novo. 13 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. 15 MR. ORSINGER: Is that de novo review or a trial de novo? 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Stop it. All right. 18 Let's go to subparagraph (b). Any comments on (b)? 19 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. 20 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: But they're all 21 stayed, is what you're saying. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. Any comments on 23 (b)? 24 MS. PETERSON: Just a side note, the 25 statute --

MS. WILSON: The statute does say that it stays the effect of the judgment. HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: Right, but the rule Oh, okay, that was your point. HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: But what Judge Lawrence is saying, and I don't know what rule this is, is 8 that there's somewhere else it says that every judgment 9 from JP court is suspended -- enforcement is suspended 10 pending appeal. I don't know that to be true. I'm qoing 11 off of what he says.

12 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I think --CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Elaine. 13

MS. WILSON:

14 PROFESSOR CARLSON: I think Justice Duncan 15 makes a good point. I think that should be in the rule, 16 because that's how the statute -- that the taking of an appeal -- when any party timely files a notice of appeal 17 18 of the judgment of a justice court to the county court the 19 underlying judgment is stayed without the necessity of 20 posting an appeal bond. Don't you think the parties should know that? 21 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: What does subparagraph 23 (b) say?

doesn't.

24 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's why we put 25 (b) in there.

PROFESSOR CARLSON: Oh, okay, I'm sorry, I 1 2 didn't see it. I thought it was not in there. Never 3 mind. CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Richard. 4 5 MR. MUNZINGER: (b) still -- I'm not trying 6 to beat a dead horse, but remember we've discussed the 7 problem of the use of "order" in one context and 8 "judgment" in another --9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Right. 10 MR. MUNZINGER: -- and this persists 11 throughout the rule, which I'm assuming somebody is 12 addressing, because we're going to have all kinds of trouble with whether an order is the same as a judgment 13 14 and whether appeal suspends an order and not a judgment, 15 et cetera, if we're not careful with that phraseology. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Kennon has been taking copious notes whenever that issue has arisen. 17 18 MS. PETERSON: Yes. 19 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: She's all over it. 20 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: That assumes there's a difference. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 22 23 MR. HAMILTON: If we're going to appeal a 24 judgment, why don't we just say that instead of saying 25 "repair or remedy as well as any other actions," whatever

Why don't we just say it stays the judgment? 1 that means? 2 That's what you're CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. 3 trying to get at, isn't it? No? 4 No, I was thinking maybe you, Judge 5 Weren't you trying to get at the concept that Lawrence. 6 you're trying to stay the judgment, whatever it may be? 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: You have the 8 judgment that's signed on the day of trial that sets the 9 statutory penalty, the civil penalty, attorney's fees, and 10 court costs. That part of the judgment is a money 11 judgment for the tenant that the tenant can levy and Then you also have these orders to repair and 12 execute on. orders reducing rent. You -- it is known with finality on 13 14 the day that the judgment is rendered in court how much 15 the money judgment is going to be for the civil penalty 16 and the statutory damages. What you don't know at that 17 point is exactly what it's going to cost to repair or how 18 much the order reducing rent is going to be. So you 19 need -- if you modify the order to repair, reducing rent, 20 you need to give the landlord the opportunity to appeal 21 that, and that timetable is not going to be the same as 22 the date that the judgment was originally rendered on the 23 trial date. That's what I was trying to get at. 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Gotcha. Thanks. 25 Richard.

1	MR. MUNZINGER: But I thought that was the
2	problem that we had discussed at least to some extent. If
3	the justice enters two orders, one for the 500-dollar
4	civil penalty and what have you and the other, but then he
5	doesn't know how much it's going to cost to repair the
6	building, the landlord has no way of appealing an order to
7	repair the building and doesn't know what he's appealing
8	at all, and he but he can be held in contempt for it,
9	be put in jail for it, and no one can review the order and
10	authority of a justice of the peace in doing this.
11	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I believe
12	that he can appeal it. I believe that there are
13	provisions in the rules that he can appeal that.
14	MR. MUNZINGER: Well
15	HONORABLE TERRY JENNINGS: Even if it's
16	treated as a separate order and he's held in contempt, he
17	would have habeas corpus rights.
18	MR. MUNZINGER: Well, he would have habeas
19	corpus for contempt, but let's forget for the moment just
20	contempt. "Munzinger, put a new roof on your apartment
21	building, cost you $72,000." I can't appeal it.
22	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I wouldn't be able
23	to enter a judgment if that's what it cost because you're
24	outside of my jurisdictional limit.
25	MR. MUNZINGER: Okay, 9,999, same point.

It's my money, my property, I'm told I must do something, 1 2 and I've got no appeal for it. 3 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Now, you're getting mad 4 again. 5 No, I'm not. I'm not mad. MR. MUNZINGER: 6 I'm just emotionally labile. 7 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: But I believe that 8 you can appeal. The landlord can appeal the order. He 9 can appeal it when it's rendered on the day of trial. He 10 can appeal it if he finds out later that it's going to cost more than he thought. He can file a motion to have 11 that modified and then we're going to put in there that he 12 13 can appeal that, so he's got at least two bites at the 14 appellate apple. 15 MR. MUNZINGER: But I thought this was the problem that we have where the judgment is one document 16 17 and the order is another, and do we have the right to 18 appeal from these because one is final and the other 19 isn't. That's the problem I'm having. It may be my 20 fault. I may be stupid. I'm certainly not mad, but I may 21 be stupid. 22 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: You're not stupid. 23 MR. MUNZINGER: But I don't understand this, 24 that a justice of the peace has the authority to hold this 25 within his court and deprive me of the right to appeal.

It doesn't make sense to me. 1 2 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 3 MR. MUNZINGER: It may be the way the Legislature wrote the bill causes the problem with the 4 5 6-day and 10-day trial thing, but in essence what it ought to be saying to the litigants is come to court and know 6 7 within 6 days or 10, whatever the time limit is, what the 8 cost is going to be. 9 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Carl. 10 MR. HAMILTON: I think what I understood you 11 to say, Tom, was that the judgment really is not complete because you don't know some things, so isn't that really 12 13 just an interlocutory judgment? 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: This is a 15 difficulty with this statute and trying to make this all 16 work. The elements of the judgment that are money damages are going to be known and entered on the day of the trial, 17 18 and presumably it may well work out that if you have an 19 order to repair and an order reducing rent and a 20 completion date, that those are going to be finite numbers 21 that aren't going to change because it's going to be 22 fixed, you know, on that date, and you're going to know 23 exactly how much it's going to cost. But we also had to build in provisions that if the landlord figures out that, 24 25 oh, this is going to cost me a lot more, that they be able

1 to come in, and there's a mechanism to appeal if the judge 2 doesn't grant him an order modifying the rent -- the order 3 to repair, then he can appeal the whole thing, even though 4 it may be separate and apart from the judgment based on 5 the money damages.

You know, I recognize after all the comments 6 7 that everybody is having great difficulty. I have to tell 8 you the task force was able to separate these things out, 9 and it didn't really cause us any concern, but obviously if it's causing this much difficulty, it's confusing, but 10 we believe that the due process is built in. We believe 11 that everybody has got more than sufficient ability to 12 appeal both the initial judgments and modifications to the 13 14 judgment all the way down the line.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Sarah.

16 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: Well, I'm looking at -- now that I've read (b), where I see that the notice 17 18 of appeal stays enforcement, then I drop down to (e). "If 19 the appellant fails to pay the costs on appeal in accordance with 143a," and I go back to 143a. The problem 20 21 has always been -- at least what I understand from the case law -- is the failure to differentiate between an 22 appeal bond, which is to secure the costs of the appeal, 23 24 and a supersedeas bond, which is to secure payment of the 25 judgment; and what has gotten the Texas rules in trouble

1 before, and I think gets the JP rules in trouble, is that 2 they merge the two, and they basically say that to appeal 3 you have to supersede; and that's the reason for the 4 double the amount of the judgment or whatever.

5 But there's nothing that I can find in 143a 6 that says "pay the costs on appeal" means the costs of the 7 appeal, and then I look -- and this may not make any 8 sense, but then I look at 749, which says, yeah, you can 9 appeal, but the justice sets the amount of the bond in 10 eviction proceeding, and I go over to 752, and it says on 11 the trial of the cause in the county court you can recover What does 143a mean? Does it mean the costs of 12 damages. 13 appeal or --

14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. 143a No. 15 is -- this is a tricky little part of JP world where a party can post their appeal bond, pay their transcript 16 fee, it gets sent up to the court, but they still must pay 17 18 the court costs at county court under Rule 143a, and if 19 they don't pay the court costs then that appeal gets sent 20 back, and it's deemed to be no longer perfected, and the 21 original judgment of the JP court is reinstated, so to 22 So that's the purpose of putting this here, is speak. 23 that it is a -- it is a trap, and, you know, it's crazy, but the judgment, the final judgment of the JP court, then 24 25 it's appealed, and that judgment becomes what's called a

1 nullity. That's what the case law calls it. It's a
2 nullity, and it's perfected in county court, but if you
3 don't pay the court costs in county court then it's 4 unperfected. It gets sent back to JP court, and it's 5 reinstated.

6 So part (e) is to take that into 7 consideration, and that's why (e) is there. This is the 8 law now, and you can find this if you go to 143a and then 9 go to case law, but it's not clear from reading the JP 10 rules, so we're just trying to put this in the rule so 11 everybody understands what the law is.

HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: But what are the costs of appeal? What are those considered to be? Is it filing fees?

15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, in JP court 16 it's the filing fee and service fees and various other If you're asking under Rule 571, double the costs 17 things. 18 would be the cost in JP court, but we don't collect the 19 county court filing fee. We collect the JP court costs. 20 HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: I understand that. 21 But 143a talks about -- first of all, 143 says that you 22 can be required to give security for costs in any case, 23 but what that rule has been interpreted to mean is court costs, right, and that's -- that's because the clerk feels 24 25 insecure about the ability to collect court costs, but

1	143a just says, "the costs on appeal," not "of appeal."
2	So I'm not sure that is just filing fees, and the bonds
3	that the JP courts have required, like under the 751 type
4	rule for double the amount of what the damages are, I
5	mean, that's Dillingham vs. Putnam, and that's I don't
6	understand (e). I understand (b), and I understand (a),
7	but I don't understand (e) because it says "the costs on
8	appeal," not "the costs of appeal."
9	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: (e) represents the
10	current status of the law. That's what
11	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Did you say (e)?
12	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: (e).
13	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: (e).
14	HONORABLE NATHAN HECHT: You just copied
15	143a.
16	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: 143a, and in
17	essence some case law that explains what happens if you
18	don't pay the county court fee.
19	HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: But that's what I'm
20	asking, is what fees are we talking about?
21	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The court costs in
22	county court.
23	HONORABLE SARAH DUNCAN: The filing fees?
24	HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes.
25	CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay.

1 PROFESSOR CARLSON: But even then you can be 2 an indigent, right? 3 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, yeah. 4 PROFESSOR CARLSON: And be excused from 5 paying. 6 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Oh, yeah. Yeah. 7 You can file an affidavit of inability and then you don't 8 have to pay it, and you can file an affidavit of inability 9 at JP court and be exempt from all of those. Well, 10 actually, I think once it's approved at JP court it goes all the way up, but --11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Let's talk about 13 14 real quick. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. 15 "Discovery in trial. Reasonable discovery shall be 16 permitted." You can't have full blown discovery with a 6to 10-day limit here, so we are tracking the small claims 17 18 court rules, which I think is a very workable set of rules 19 for this. "Reasonable discovery shall be permitted. 20 Discovery is limited to that considered appropriate and 21 permitted by the justice and must be expedited. In the 22 case of a bench trial the justice may develop the facts of 23 the case in order to ensure justice." 24 Now, in small claims court the justice can 25 develop the facts of the case. The justice can summon witnesses in small claims court if he wants to. 1 So since 2 we're going to have a lot of pro ses, we thought that it 3 would be a good idea to allow the court to develop the facts in a bench trial to get at what's really happening. 4 5 "The failure of any party to respond to an 6 order of the court for discovery may be punished in 7 accordance with Rule 215.2," which is contempt, and then 8 that gets us to this little handout, the issue of a jury 9 charge. Rule 554 says you can't charge the jury in civil 10 cases. Now, we charge the jury in criminal cases, but we can't do it in civil cases under 554, so I started 11 thinking about this, and think about how the jury is going 12 13 to render a judgment on this type of case without some 14 information from the court, some charge, and I think it 15 would be a good idea to allow the court to charge the jury 16 in these particular cases. So that's -- that's Rule 14. 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Comments about 14? 18 Justice Gray. 19 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I'm -- oh, wait, 20 Richard did have his hand up, so I'm going to defer to him 21 because he's probably going to talk about the Spanish Inquisition. 22 23 No, but the second sentence MR. MUNZINGER: 24 I think is surplus. I think the common law says that any 25 judge, jury trial or bench trial, can participate in the proceeding to ensure justice. I'm not so sure in cases 1 2 where a jury is requested and the parties are pro se that 3 you wouldn't want the same rule to apply so that justice is done, and my suggestion would be that we either say, 4 5 "The justice may participate to develop the facts of the case in order to ensure justice," period, regardless of 6 7 whether it's a bench trial or not. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Good point. Justice 9 Gray. 10 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: I was actually going --I assumed he would be really contrary to that, which I am. 11 I would prefer that the justice not become the advocate 12 13 for anybody, or both sides, got no business participating in the development of the case. 14 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I would only point out the Legislature has said for small claims court 16 that that is permissible. 17 18 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Small claims, I just 19 kind of -- that's a group over there kind of by itself. Ι just have a problem with the justice of the peace or any 20 21 judge becoming a person that's going to go out and gather up facts, even if it's just by inquisition of the parties. 22 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Bland. HONORABLE JANE BLAND: I don't think we 24 25 should have 737.14 about discovery in trial, and if there's rules about discovery in small claims court then 1 let's just use those but not make some special discovery 2 3 rules for this kind of claim. If we do make special discovery rules for this kind of claim, I don't think we 4 5 should say, "Reasonable discovery shall be permitted," but we might say "may be permitted." For a case that's 6 7 supposed to be concluded with as rapidly as these are, 8 with amounts in controversy as low as these are, the idea 9 that discovery shall be permitted to me seems burdensome. 10 I think it ought to be the exception where discovery is permitted instead of the rule. 11 12 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Anything else --13 yeah, Gene. 14 MR. STORIE: I thought it was a little 15 ambiguous as to whether the justice can send out discovery 16 if the justice gets to develop the facts. I mean, I don't 17 think we mean that. 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Yeah. Not intended for 19 the judge to send out --20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No. No. 21 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: -- discovery? Okay. 22 HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Does "develop the 23 facts" mean anything other than may ask questions during trial? 24 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, that's what we intend, may ask questions, try to understand what the 1 2 case is about. I think probably a lot of you that are 3 used to trials with lawyers on both sides may not appreciate how difficult it is to understand what's going 4 5 on with two pro ses before you and it's --6 HONORABLE TOM GRAY: Been there. Municipal 7 judge. 8 HONORABLE DAVID PEEPLES: Well, that happens 9 in district court all the time for the judges to ask 10 questions. I'm just wondering if this gives power beyond 11 that. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: We tried to track 13 the existing language in the Small Claims Court Act that 14 the Legislature has already promulgated that the JPs are 15 familiar with, and that's why it's written like that, just to track that language. 16 17 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Okey-dokey. 18 Anything else? Yeah. 19 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: But, again, following on 20 David's point, you do that in other cases, in other issues 21 already, right, without a corresponding rule? Why do you need it here? 22 23 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I'm not sure 24 that -- I'm not sure it's always done universally in all 25 cases in JP court. I know that it's done in small claims court because the rule permits it, but if you look at the 1 justice court rules, there's nothing there that would seem 2 3 to specifically provide for this, so I'm not sure that that's universally done across the state by all courts. 4 5 PROFESSOR HOFFMAN: So would the 6 promulgation of this rule and this specific kind of action 7 then send the message to JPs in other actions that they 8 lack such a power?

9 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I don't know. Ι 10 mean, there's a big inference there. I don't know that it 11 I don't think that I would get that inference would. necessarily. We're only working with these rules. We're 12 not amending the others. If we were amending the 500 13 14 series today, I would put this rule in the 500 series 15 because I think this would be advantageous to have it in the existing civil rules, but, you know, for these set of 16 17 rules I think this improves the rules and makes it more 18 workable. It's to ensure justice, ensure that you get the 19 story of what's going on, is the whole point.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Justice Bland. HONORABLE JANE BLAND: Well, I don't think that a justice of the peace that wanted to find out what was going on would need this rule to do that, and to me it's going to start encouraging lawyers to ask for discovery in justice courts, which I think is a bad idea.

And this is a nonrecord court, right? 1 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Yes. 2 3 HONORABLE JANE BLAND: So we don't have any record to review or transcript of proceedings. 4 The check 5 that is built in is the appeal to the county court trial de novo, and I just think that we ought not micromanage 6 7 these sorts of proceedings, and let them proceed ahead, 8 and if there's a problem then that will have to be handled 9 with an appeal to county court, but when we're talking 10 about $10,000 or less at issue, cost becomes a giant factor, and it's just not fair to burden these parties 11 with additional costs to get this relatively small dispute 12 resolved. 13 14 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Let's have some 15 comments about .15, effective writ of possession. 16 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. "If the judgment for the landlord for a possession of the leased 17 18 premises becomes final, any order to repair or remedy is 19 vacated and unenforceable." 20 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Seems uncontroversial to 21 me, but --22 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: All right. 23 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: No, no, no, but go ahead. 24 Any comments about it? Yeah, Frank. 25 MR. GILSTRAP: Well, we all know what final judgment means, but do the litigants? 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: The task force 3 wrote this rule several different ways. One way we said it, "if it is not appealed." I don't remember. 4 There 5 were several ramifications. This was considered to be --"becomes final" was considered to be the best way to do it 6 7 because you didn't want to put a burden on the landlord to 8 actually request and pay for the writ of possession. You 9 just want the tenant's rights to appeal have been 10 terminated, or I'm not saying that right. You want his right to appeal to have expired. At that point the tenant 11 is going to be evicted, so the order to repair is kind of 12 pointless at that point. So that's the point of the rule, 13 14 but you don't want that to happen until the tenant's 15 appeal has been exhausted, because if it goes to county 16 court on appeal then obviously this separate judgment of the JP court is going to remain in effect while the appeal 17 18 is -- of the eviction is working its way up. 19 MR. GILSTRAP: But it's not final. 20 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Tenant still has right to possession. 21 22 MR. GILSTRAP: But it's not final. 23 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: What's not final? 24 MR. GILSTRAP: That separate judgment. 25 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: No, the judgment under these rules is going to be final. The appeal of the 1 2 eviction rules, once that becomes final and the tenant is 3 going to be evicted, then that stays the enforcement of the order to repair or remedy. But if the tenant perfects 4 5 his appeal on the eviction -- and the eviction is going to be a part of what's going on here. 6 7 MR. GILSTRAP: That's what I'm saying. When 8 the tenant perfects his appeal on the eviction, the order 9 for possession is not final. HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: That's correct. 10 11 MR. GILSTRAP: Okay. 12 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: It's vacated. 13 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: All right. Comments 14 on .16? 15 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: This is just for county court. This is part of the statute, or part of the 16 17 bill. "The suit shall be tried de novo in the county or 18 district court. Judgment shall be rendered. An appeal of 19 a judgment after justice court under these rules takes 20 precedence in county court and may be held at any time 21 after the 8th day after the date the transcript is filed in county or district court." That's not really a JP 22 23 issue, but it's in the statute, so we put it in. 24 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Any comments on that? 25 MR. MUNZINGER: Why do you say "a judgment shall be rendered"? I mean, that's what courts do. 1 2 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: Well, I think 3 that's what the statute says. I think that we took that from either the 700 rules or the 500 rules. That's the 4 5 same language. Let me see if I can find that. It must be 6 in the 500 rules. 550 or something like that probably. 7 591. We took it from 591. So that's why it's like that. 8 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Okay. Any other comments 9 about that? 10 Judge Lawrence, thank you and the task 11 force; and, Wendy Wilson, thanks for sitting here today. Really terrific job under trying circumstances, and you're 12 13 probably ready for a drink right now. 14 HONORABLE TOM LAWRENCE: I'm ready for an 15 adult beverage, yes. 16 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: Thank you. 17 (Applause) 18 CHAIRMAN BABCOCK: We are going to be 19 meeting tomorrow. We have a lot of really important 20 things to talk about tomorrow. I mean, everything is 21 important, but so make every effort to get here if you 22 can; and one of the things that we're going to talk about, 23 and if y'all have a chance tonight to read, it's the Institute for the Advancement of the American Legal System 24 25 and the American College of Trial Lawyers have come up with some proposed rules and some case flow management 1 2 guidelines, and the purpose of our discussing it is 3 twofold. One, the Court is -- you may recall, about a year ago we had sort of an initiative with Jeff Boyd's 4 5 subcommittee that we're trying to think of ways to improve 6 our system, and my read of these rules is there are some 7 ideas in here that are worthy of our consideration; and 8 secondly, the institute and the college would like our 9 feedback to them as they go about trying to talk about 10 these -- this project and these proposals. The institute 11 is chaired by Becky Kourlis, who is a former justice at 12 the Colorado Supreme Court, and the American College devoted a lot of resources to this project. So that's one 13 14 of the things we're going to go over tomorrow, and we're 15 not going to have a lot of time to spend on it, but I'll try to highlight some things that I think we should talk 16 17 about, and then next, our next meeting we can come back 18 and talk about it in more depth, and then we have the 19 recusal rule that we have to talk about. We've got the 20 civil cover sheets, and we've got the juror -- juror 21 questions during deliberations, so a lot of really 22 important things. And we'll see you tomorrow morning at 23 9:00 o'clock. We're in recess. Thank you. 24 (Meeting recessed at 4:58 p.m.) 25
